PRESIDENT PUTS OFF DECISION ON CONGRESS CALL

Cabinet Parley Fails to Settle Question.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—An extraordinary council of cabinet members and government department heads, presided over by President Roosevelt, failed late today to produce a decision by the President on the calling of a special session of congress to consider repeal of the embargo on arms shipments to belligerent nations.

An official White House announcement disclosed that the President had been in telephonic communication with congressional leaders on the question but that his mind was still open. He mentioned Sept. 18 as a possible date for convening congress in a conversation with Senate Republican Leader Charles L. McNary, it was revealed. McNary's statement to this effect at Salem, Ore., was confirmed by Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early.

Early Reveals Indecision.

"But the President," Early added, "not only has not decided the date of the call or the date of convening; he has not decided whether to call congress."

The President received a variety of advices from the congressional leaders he consulted and from his cabinet advisers and department heads. Some told him, it was reported, that public sentiment has yet to crystalize in favor of repeal of the arms embargo. The President wants the embargo removed so that this country may sell munitions, war planes, and other implements of war to Great Britain and France.

The President thereupon reserved his decision temporarily. Secretary Early said that Mr. Roosevelt in the meanwhile was studying existing law to see just what powers he had without action by congress.

McNary Promises Help.

McNary said he had told the President he would coöperate in bringing about prompt consideration of the neutrality question but that he would press for a quick adjournment after that question was disposed of.

Participating in the White House council today, in addition to the ten cabinet officers, were Lending Administrator Jesse Jones, Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, and Works Administrator John M Carmody. They were invited to attend to offer their views on the domestic problems which will arise as a result of the neutrality policy of the United States, it was announced They will attend all cabinet meetings for the duration of the emergency, it was said.

Debate Canada's Position.

The position which Canada may take as a possible avenue for the shipment of war materials to Great Britain also was debated at the meeting. Although an emergency session of the Canadian parliament was told today by Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general, that a state of war exists in the Dominion, the parliament has not yet declared war on Germany.

Although the neutrality act specifically prohibits the shipment of war supplies to a neutral country for transshipment to a belligerent the lack of a formal declaration of war by Canada may provide some means for such shipments, it has been noted.

Preparedness Steps Taken.

More steps to promote the preparedness of the nation were taken by the President today. Plans for beginning the training of 11,000 college students as air pilots were mapped out at a conference between Mr. Roosevelt, Robert H. Hinckley, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics authority, and Edward J. Noble, undersecretary of commerce. Congress appropriated $4,000,000 for this purpose at the last session.

The United States garrison in Porto Rico was ordered increased by approximately 1,500 officers and men Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring said the order followed a similar move by the army to strengthen defense facilities at the Panama Canal in view of the European war.

The President will leave tomorrow for Hyde Park, N. Y., for a two day visit at his mother's estate on the Hudson river.

BEFORE THE LIGHTNING STRIKES

An increase of one cent per quart in the price of delivered milk in Chicago and suburbs will go into effect today. Representatives of major dairies announced the increase last night and smaller dealers are expected to follow suit.

The new prices will be 12 cents for home delivered milk and 10 cents at store counters [an increase of 2 cents in the store price]. The increase is the first since 1937, when the price of delivered quarts went to 13 cents. Two subsequent decreases brought the prices to 11 and 8 cents for the two types of sales last May 13.

Blames Federal Control.

The increase, according to dairy representatives, was caused by rising costs of business in the last six months and by the recent increase in prices paid to dairy farmers under the new federal control plan in the Chicago area. The plan was instituted Sept. 1 on order from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

C. L. Dressel, president of the Borden-Wieland division of the Borden company, said the price rise is essential to reduce operating losses experienced by the company in the last few months.

"On July 16 the organized producers who supply us with milk increased the farm price 30 cents per hundred pounds for the grade A milk which goes into bottles," Dressel said. "Then on Sept. 1, federal milk price control was imposed on this market, resulting in a further increase in the price paid to farmers."

Bowman President Explains.

Dr. David B. Peck, president of the Bowman company, also attributed the increase to the combination of business losses and the rise in prices paid to farmers under Wallace's marketing agreement.

The federal control plan was put into effect after the farmers in the Chicago area voted 11,261 to 699 in favor of such an agreement. The 200 dealers involved ignored the voting.

ALONG WESTERN FRONT SOLDIERS SAY IT WITH FLOWERS, BERLIN TOLD

BERLIN [where no reports have been published of fighting on the western front], Sept. 7 (AP).—They're saying it with flowers, toy balloons, leaflets, and even personal visits along the Alsatian-German front, according to German reports reaching here tonight. According to these reports:

1. Both German and French soldiers have decorated their bunkers in the Siegfried and Maginot lines with flowers while awaiting orders to open fire.

2. Occasionally toy balloons are carried from one side of the "enemy" line to the other with friendly greetings.

3. Visits are exchanged at certain hours.

4. This morning French and German privates even bathed together in the Rhine river.

Nazi military experts said troops now stationed in the Maginot and Siegfried lines would have to be withdrawn if warlike operations really were begun. One prominent Nazi said, "You can't expect a Frenchman to shoot and kill the German opposite him when just an hour before the two played cards together."

CLINGS 5 HOURS TO OVERTURNED CANOE IN LAKE

Omar L. Banschbach, sales manager for the R. C. Allen Adding Machine company, was rescued by coast guards yesterday after he had clung to an overturned canoe far out in the lake for nearly five hours. His rescue was made possible by a woman companion who had been saved first.

Banschbach who is 66 years old and lives at 1237 Greenleaf avenue left the Lincoln Park Boat club, at the foot of Webster avenue at noon in an 18 foot canoe. With him was the young woman, a widow, known to him only as Mrs. Anderson. Less than a mile out the canoe capsized Mrs. Anderson swam to a buoy 300 feet away.

Banschbach meanwhile drifted out into the lake with the canoe. Two hours later a cruiser rescued Mrs Anderson, but could not find Banschbach. Ashore, she telephoned the Old Chicago coast guard. Ludwig Wedemeyer, officer in charge, and a crew started out in a cutter, and after a zigzagging cruise of fifty miles found Banschbach. He was out seven miles.

Polish 'Suicide Unit' Gives Up; 100 Troops Die

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP).—Germans said tonight 100 Poles lost their lives in the siege of the Westerplatte garrison in Danzig harbor and that the remaining 120 surrendered before an infantry and flame throwers' attack only because they had no food left.

The story of the gallant week-long stand of the Polish "Suicide Squad" under heavy aerial and naval bombardments began to trickle into Berlin tonight.

The Westerplatte is a well fortified promontory sticking into Danzig harbor and is difficult to approach from the land.

First Shot Fired Friday.

German military men admitted the fortification held out much longer than they had expected. The first shot was fired at 4:45 a. m. last Friday from the German warship Schleswig Holstein.

The Westerplatte was subjected to a heavy shelling and bombing from sea and air. Germans said even 28 centimeter shells from the Schleswig Holstein and aerial bombs did no damage because the fortification's bunkers were so well built.

Advance Behind Flame Throwers.

The Poles valiantly held their post until the Germans altered their strategy by burning off the heavy forest around the fortress and then, with obstructions removed, advanced their infantry behind flame throwers.

Germans said the Polish commander, after his surrender, delivered a short address of admiration for the bravery with which the German flame throwers advanced. The German commander responded with compliments of the Poles' courage.

SIX DIE AS NAVY BOMBER STRIKES RADIO ANTENNA

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 7 (AP).—Six navy flyers were killed tonight when their twin motored patrol bomber struck antenna wires at the Chollas Heights long range naval radio station and burst into flames.

Firemen and navy crews fought the fire more than two hours before the bodies of the victims were removed.

The dead, all listed as from Coronado or San Diego: Lieut. A. H. Irons, pilot; Ensign L. W. Latremore; Frank Vukovich, chief aviation machinist's mate; H. O. Wilson, aviation machinist's mate, third class; V. E. Norris, aviation ordnance man and naval air pilot, and H. G. Berry, radioman, third class.

TROOPS BATTLE IN TRENCHES IN 'NO MAN'S LAND'

Germany Rushes Up Reinforcements.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The French advance into the Saar and the Palatinate today marked time owing to the arrival of enemy reënforcements brought from the interior of Germany.

Fighting, however, increased in intensity in the "no man's land" between France's Maginot line and Germany's Siegfried line along the whole sector from the Rhine to the Moselle. While shells from French heavy artillery hammered the main forts of the Siegfried line, infantrymen in shallow trenches and shell holes were locked in close contact. They fought it out under conditions which appear to differ little from those prevailing in 1918 in sectors where the front was not definitly stabilized.

Communique Tells of Activity.

From the meager details trickling back to Paris from the front it seems that in the last 24 hours the war has developed beyond the stage of an advance guard skirmish.

The French war office's morning communique—No. 7—mentioned notable activity on both sides. The evening communique, though more than twice as long, was extremely laconic It read:

"Along the front between the Rhine and the Moselle the enemy's strength is increasing. The arrival of fresh forces coming from the interior of Germany is reported."

Try to Delay Germans.

There has been no air raid warning in Paris in the last 36 hours and no news of aerial activity reached here from the front. However, it can be taken for granted that British and French aviation is coöperating actively with the land forces to hold up the reënforcements which the German high command is trying to bring into the Palatinate from across the Rhine.

Beyond the announcement that Sir Edmund Ironsides, commander of the British expeditionary forces, arrived today at French general headquarters for an important conference, nothing was known about the exact form which British land assistance will take.

Some newspapers suggested discreetly that more news about the general military situation would be welcome, but it was realized that until execution of Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin's plan of operations for the western front is more advanced little real news can be expected.

French Feel Way Forward.

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP).—French troops today were reported feeling their way forward on the western edge of the Saar basin "no man's land" against flanking fire from German advance lines guarding the shallow valleys leading to the main Siegfried line.

Military observers in Paris said the heaviest fighting apparently was between the small French city of Bitche near France's frontier with Germany and the Moselle river to the north. Bitche nestles at the base of a fortified hill.

Fight Way Into Forest.

A French force was said to have fought its way into the German forest of Bienwald, just north of Lauterbourg. Although the reported advance was only slight and had not been specifically mentioned in a communique, observers here regarded it as a sign that the fighting was spreading.

The deeply wooded Bienwald forest spreads out between the Lauter river and the Siegfried line to a depth of five or six miles. The Lauter forms a frontier between France and Germany between Lauterbourg and Wissembourg, ten miles to the north.

The forest, which reaches its greatest depth opposite Lauterbourg, narrows down a few miles before Wissembourg, tapering off into a narrow plain. From just northwest of Wissembourg to Bitche moderately high hills are cut by deep ravines.

The French advance into Germany announced by the French general staff yesterday—was believed in these quarters to have swung out on an

Capt. Giles Stedman. [A. P. Wirephoto]

New attacks on six ships were reported. Five of them were believed to have gone to the bottom and the sixth escaped The ships which sank were:

1. The Olivegrove, a Glasgow freighter, which was torpedoed off Cobh, Ireland, thirty-three of the ship's crew being saved by the American liner Washington;

2. The Pukkastan, a British vessel attacked off the south coast of Ireland;

3. The Tamara, a French vessel raided near the Bay of Biscay;

4. The Manaar, a British ship, torpedoed last night off the coast of Portugal, with forty of her crew of eighty-eight still missing;

5. The Royal Sceptre, British, position unreported.

The ship which was attacked but escaped was the Corinthic, British. The position of this raid also was unreported.

Ship En Route from Cuba.

The steamship Washington gave the position of the Olivegrove at the time it was torpedoed as 49.05 degrees north latitude, 15.58 west longitude. Both the Washington and Olivegrove were heading for the English channel, the Washington out of New York and the freighter, loaded with sugar, en route from Cuba, where it sailed from Puerto Padre on Aug. 22.

The Washington effected the rescue at 3:11 p. m. [Chicago time], about an hour after it had flashed word that it was steaming under forced draft to the Olivegrove's rescue.

Sub Commander Helps.

In telling of the rescue, the Washington's commander, Capt. Giles Stedman, famous for dramatic rôles in other sea epics, said that "a most courteous" German submarine commander "greatly helped" the thirty-three seamen before sinking the Olivegrove.

Stedman said the submarine ordered "all hands to abandon ship and "when the boats were in water and clear of ship a torpedo was fired into the Olivegrove."

"The sub commander was most courteous in treatment of survivors, furnishing them a course and check of their compasses," Capt Stedman said.

He said the sub first offered to tow the lifeboats of the Olivegrove, a 4,060 ton craft. Capt. Stedman's message indicated no lives were lost.

The sub fired two red rockets which enabled the Washington to sight the lifeboats off the coast of Ireland, Capt. Stedman said.

No Identification Marks.

"The sub carried no identification marks," he said.

Capt. Stedman said all survivors were in good condition. The Olivegrove sank six minutes after the torpedo struck, settling down by the stern.

Stedman is one of the sea's best known and most respected captains and recipient of several decorations for heroism in saving the lives of forty-eight men from two storm smashed ships in midocean.

As chief officer of the President

GERMANS PUSH ON IN POLAND; PERIL WARSAW

TroopsDriveOnLodz and Poznan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on back page.)

BERLIN, Sept. 8 [Friday].—Ever increasing victories in Poland were reported by each new dispatch that reached Berlin early today.

German armies were reported threatening Warsaw from the north, west, and south. On the north they were within twenty-two miles of the city. Eighty miles to the west they were encircling the important city of Lodz. On the south they were advancing from Kielce, about 140 miles from Warsaw.

West of Lodz the Germans were converging from three sides upon the city of Poznan, a city of 275,000 population in Poland's farthest west province.

Take Towns Near Poznan.

The towns of Wagrowiec, twenty-eight miles northeast, and Oborniki, eighteen miles north of Poznan, had been captured, as had the town of Koscian, forty-three miles to the south. To the west of Poznan the Germans also were declared to be progressing.

In the south German armies moving from Cracow and Nowy Sacz were reported converging on Tarnov.

[Paris dispatches said the Poles now were fighting along a line paralleling the Vistula river, east of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg), through Lodz and Piotrkow, east to a point north of Kielce, then south to a point west of Tarnov, near the Slovak border.]

This left Poland with a west to east corridor through Poznan province, but the points of the pincers closing on Warsaw threatened to trap thousands of Polish troops in the corridor.

Capture 25,000 Poles.

Military officials reported that German armies have captured a total of 25,000 men, 126 guns, numerous tanks, armored cars, and other equipment.

Three hundred men of the Westerplatte garrison, near Danzig, who had been fighting desperately since early Friday morning, surrendered at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Germans who have been ordered to evacuate cities and villages between the French border and the Siegfried fortified line on the western front are gradually moving eastward in Germany.

At the same time there was no report in Berlin of any military action on the western front.

A number of refugees, from such towns as Saarbruecken, Trier, Aachen [Aix-la-Chapelle], Bohn, and Karlsruhe, have arrived in Berlin. Most of the refugees have been ordered to try to find new homes in south Germany, especially in the former Austrian region.

Italian Officers Arrive.

German refugees from Poland, too, continue to arrive in Berlin. They have vacated camps near the border which Germany now needs for soldiers and prisoners.

Italian "officers in training" have arrived to serve with the German army in Poland, but it is understood that neutral Italy has informed its axis partner, Germany, that it will not be able to send airplanes, because all will be needed at home in case of emergency.

Italy has agreed to increase the number of farm laborers and other workers to be sent to Germany to take over the work left undone because of the mobilization of German reserves. Italy sent similar workers' contingents to Germany last year in peace time.

Russians Seek Concessions.

Russian circles assert that in the course of their military commission's negotiations with Germans here they hope to obtain greater freedom for their forces in China and a greater sphere of influence in Persia [Iran]. They are also reported trying to induce the Germans to agree that in the course of the next few years Russia is to be allowed to reconquer Bessarabia for control of which Russia and Rumania have been fighting for more than half a century. The Germans, the Russians assert, are trying to induce them to prepare for conquest of the Dardanelles instead.

Decrees are being prepared providing most severe punishment for any person trying to exploit the nightly blackouts to steal. In serious cases the death sentence may be imposed. The value of the stolen object will be immaterial.

In Detmold a man who tried to break into an apartment during a blackout was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. In Bochum, two persons who failed to darken their windows sufficiently have been sentenced to six weeks in prison.

Claim Mastery of Air.

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP).—A spirit of victory was in the air in Berlin tonight as the result of German army reports of gains against Poland.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering told his air force: "Mastery of the air in the east is yours. No enemy plane was able to touch the defense of German air space."

A military dispatch stated a bridge over the Vistula river south of Warsaw was destroyed by the German air force, greatly adding to the difficulty of retreating Poles.

An explanation of how Germany's relentless drive in Poland apparently had been far less difficult than expected was offered in a German account of how a strongbox, taken in the capture of the Polish 7th division, yielded a full set of general staff plans for defense against Germany's powerful army and air force.

Plan Not Changed.

The commander of this division was Gen. Gosiorowski, one of the oldest collaborators of the late Marshal Jozef Pilsudski of Poland and until 1936 chief of the general staff. Gosiorowski now is captive in some unrevealed German military prison.

A German authority said that, even after the capture of the valuable defense plan, the Poles did not change their strategy.

The Polish army in the northern part of Pomorze [the Polish corridor] is unable, according to the German reports, to obtain any supplies, even food, since Gdynia cannot function as a port and because the German army, which established direct connections between Germany proper and East Prussia by way of Grudziadz [Graudenzi], prevents anything reaching these troops from the south.

Further putting the nation on a war efficiency basis, 150,000 boys and girls were put to work in the area of Brandenburg alone to bring in the last leftovers of the harvest which had been practically cleaned up when the crisis started Aug. 15.

Work to Repair Damage.

In Silesia, an Associated Press correspondent was told during his first visit to the Silesia front on Tuesday, that ten battalions of labor service men have been put to work repairing damage done by retreating Poles and the harvesting of remaining crops. The postal ministry announced that all telegraph, telephone, and mail communications and money transfers have been refused to France, Great Britain, Poland, all French and British colonies, protectorates, and overseas possessions, British dominions and British India.

Private telegrams to neutral countries now are accepted only at the sender's risk. One may phone neutral countries.

All British subjects in Germany above the age of 15 were ordered today to local police stations within 24 hours by Wilhelm Frick, interior minister. They will not be permitted to leave their present place of residence except with official consent.

Increase Civilian Duties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—A decree issued by the ministry of labor today provided for an increase in the duties of persons who can be drafted as "compulsory workers" under the provisions of a former decree on mobilization of all labor reserves. The number of persons to be drafted for these services is to be increased.

If the persons drafted are married they will be granted at the most slightly less than $8 a week if they are compelled to separate from their families.

Such schools as the air defense forces did not need were being reopened. Railway trafic, "fully under German control," it was announced, was being resumed with Danzig and East Prussia.

Clamor for Flashlights.

The nightly Berlin blackouts have caused a run on shops selling flashlights with blue bulbs. White lights are not allowed.

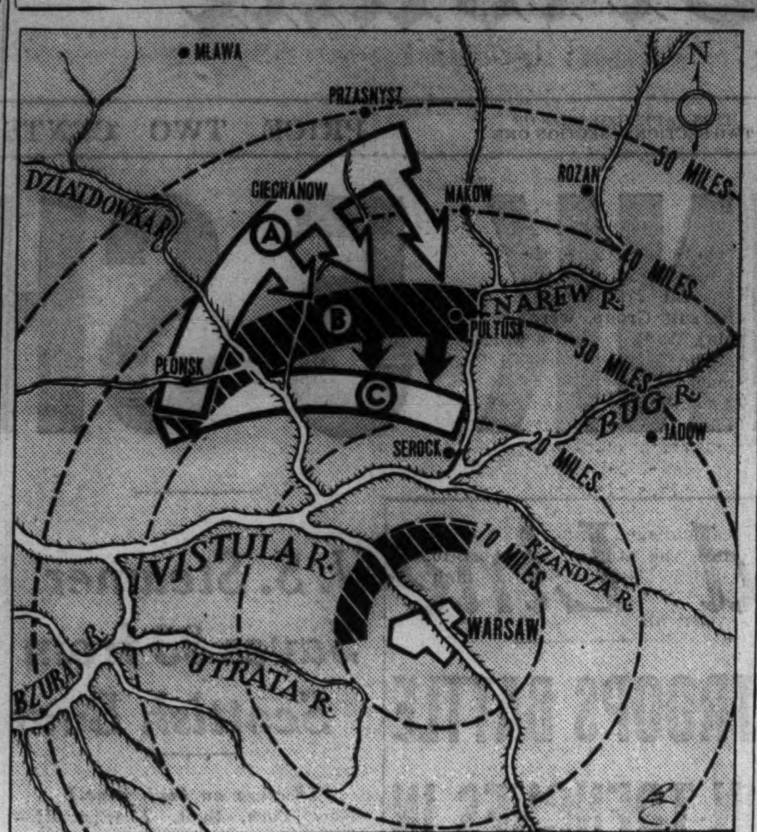
Two trams collided last night in the impenetrable darkness, injuring ten persons. Frequent automobile accidents have been reported, as well as accidents involving pedestrians because drivers were unable to see them.

Persons who, in anticipation of trips to a foreign country, have permission to take exchange out of Germany have been instructed to turn over such exchange permits to the reich within three days, or the money will be confiscated.

Twice She Goes to Berlin; Each Time a War Begins

Freelandville, Ind., Sept. 7 (AP).—Mrs. Fred Sager of Freelandville went to Berlin in 1914 to visit her parents. Two weeks later Germany began war. She went to Berlin again last month to visit her parents. Two weeks later Germany began war.

German Advance on Warsaw



Propaganda put out by the warring nations has made it difficult to determine exactly the advance of the German armies in Poland. A marks the line of advance on Warsaw as it stood on Wednesday; B marks the line as announced in the last Warsaw claims, and C shows the German advance as reported in European radio broadcasts.

The extent of the shaded portion of this map, marking territory now held by the German armies, is based on a consensus of the latest and most authentic reports from the battle fronts.

ALL RESERVISTS CALLED TO HELP DEFEND POLAND

German Armies Moving in Eight Provinces.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7.—With the Polish-German war entering its second week, the fall of Warsaw is expected within a matter of days.

Last night panic stricken residents were called upon by the government to assist in erecting street barricades and to dig additional trenches, both for troops and for air raid shelters. Such numbers responded that the radio carried a message to citizens to halt volunteering. It was said officers were unable to handle the crowds.

Then the station went off the air at 3 a. m. The Poznan station, too, was off the air. The Katowice and Cracow stations are in German hands. Today the station at Lwow in southeastern Poland, 220 miles southeast of Warsaw was the only Polish station broadcasting.

Call All Reservists.

The Lwow station broadcast a general staff order for all reservists not yet called to the colors to report to barracks tomorrow morning. All members of the National Youth organization, including those between 14 to 18 years, were ordered to report for drill.

The Lwow station also broadcast at 10:35 p. m. [4:45 p. m. Chicago time] that "the Germans today again bombarded Warsaw from the air and also railway lines and stations in a wide area." The announcer said that Gdynia, the Polish seaport across from Danzig, "is desperately defending its position." Then the Lwow station went off the air.

[There has been no direct word by telegraph or telephone from Warsaw since Wednesday morning.]

Enter Eight Provinces.

The German occupation today had extended into eight of Poland's sixteen provinces. Occupied territory comprised one-fifth of the entire area of the country.

In their campaign against the Russian forces in the same territory twenty-five years ago the Germans required nine months to occupy the same territory they control today, and their casualty list totaled half a million men against the Russians' 800,000.

The government's transfer from Warsaw—to Lublin, ninety miles to the southeast—and a brief proclamation by Premier Felicijan Slawoj-Skladkowski depressed the morale of the Poles and the sound of cannonading south of Warsaw intensified the depression. News of defeats on all fronts were coming into Warsaw on the tongues of refugees. The populace was anxious because the promised help from Great Britain and France had not materialized.

Garrison Weakened.

Warsaw's garrison was depleted by the transfer of its best trained men to the front, and eight efficient, mechanized German armies were relentlessly pushing their way into the heart of the country. They were capturing city after city, destroying railroads, supposedly secret munitions factories hidden in forests and other key industries. They were overwhelming military units which had lost touch with their commanding staffs because means of communication had been destroyed.

The Poles are making great efforts to move sufficient forces to Lodz, 80 miles southwest of Warsaw, to give battle to the Germans, but the troops were compelled to conceal themselves in forests during the day and march at night because of continuous strafing from German planes.

Nazis Encircling Lodz.

Very few of the German troops are marching. Instead, long columns of motor trucks, each containing thirty to fifty fully equipped men, are pushing their way along Poland's difficult roads. When contacting the Poles, the fresh German troops leave their conveyance and the Poles, weary from their exertions, are captured.

The Germans were encircling Lodz tonight and a drive toward the city has begun. Many thousands of German spinning mill workers live in Lodz. Southeast of Lodz the Germans have taken Tomaszow.

German forces occupied the town of Brzeziny, 15 miles northeast of Lodz. Brzeziny is the birthplace of Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, Poland's commander-in-chief.

Fight for Fortress.

On the northern front, the army advancing on Warsaw from East Prussia captured Pultusk and was fighting the Poles at the strong fortress of Serock, only 22 miles from Warsaw.

Grodno, in the northeast, still was resisting valiantly, but its rail communication with Warsaw and Wilno [Vilna] has been severed by German bombing. In Pomorze [the Polish corridor] the Germans are cleaning up the corridor, where the remnants of three divisions and large quantities of munitions were captured.

Report Ukrainian Terrorism.

In the Stanislawow and Tarnopol districts [southeastern Poland] the Ukrainians were reported fighting against Polish forces. It was reported they had ambushed and killed many police detachments and Polish civil authorities who had lost control of much of the territory inhabited by the Ukrainians.

Travelers Detoured.

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7 (AP).—Railway communication between Warsaw and Wilno, Poland, was interrupted today as a result of continuous German bombing, according to information here. Passengers from Warsaw arrived at the Latvian border after going to Wilno by way of Brest-Litovsk. Latvian authorities called up some categories of reservists today.

RED CROSS IN CHICAGO ORGANIZES CLASSES TO PREPARE FOR WAR AID

Red Cross surgical dressing classes are being organized throughout the Chicago area as a preparedness measure, pending a request for assistance by the Red Cross in the European war area.

At present, such dressings and bandages as are made will be dispensed among Chicago hospitals and institutions, Roger Holden, acting manager of the Chicago chapter, said. The experience gained in such training will be useful, officials believe, when the kind and extent of assistance needed abroad is known.

In a letter to all Red Cross chapters, Norman H. Davis, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, urged them to concentrate on membership drives in order that the Red Cross may meet any emergency adequately.

'HURRAH FOR AMERICA' SHOUTS BOY, 12, BACK HOME FROM GERMANY

When the New York Central Iroquois arrived yesterday the crowd in the La Salle street station heard a boy shout: "Hurrah for America! Boy, O boy, Dad, there's no place like home!"

The boy was Ludwig Koch, 12 years old. With him was his mother. The two, returning from an abruptly curtailed visit with relatives in Germany, were among the passengers aboard the liner President Roosevelt which arrived Tuesday in New York. They were greeted here by their father and husband, Charles Koch, 2154 Cleveland avenue.

"We were in Germany two months," Mrs. Koch explained. "It was my first visit to Hamburg, my old home, since I left thirteen years ago. Though I think they had come to accept a war as inevitable, the people of Germany, outside the military, I felt, all wanted peace."

French Seize Casinos on Riviera for Army Billets

HOLLAND ORDERS DISTRIBUTION OF RATIONING CARDS

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 7 (AP).—Distribution of food cards to Amsterdam's 800,000 residents will start tomorrow as part of the government's program to conserve supplies because of uncertain conditions created by the European war.

Similar distributions will start in The Hague and Rotterdam and eventually in all The Netherlands.

The measure was described by the government as purely precautionary, and the cards cannot be used unless an emergency arises. There were some restrictions, however, on quantities which may be purchased, especially of sugar, tea, or coffee. Shopkeepers are required to list the names of purchasers and the quantities of foodstuffs bought.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

CANADA DELAYS ACTION ON WAR AID FOR BRITAIN

Governor General Calls for Co-operation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 7.—An emergency session of the Canadian parliament adjourned today after Lord Tweedsmuir, the governor-general, told members that the dominion government would be asked to approve measures for national defense and for coöperation with Great Britain in her war with Germany.

The session lasted an hour. Details of the government's plans for Canadian assistance to Britain were not disclosed.

It was emphasized, however, that Canada has not made a formal declaration of war against Germany and therefore cannot now be considered a belligerent nation. Despite this technical, legal position Canada is on a wartime basis and is planning still further measures of a warlike nature.

Says Britain Expects Aid.

Lord Tweedsmuir in his speech from the throne told parliament: "You will be asked to consider estimates to provide for expenditure which has been or may be caused by the state of war which now exists. . . . My ministers are convinced that Canada is prepared to unite in a national effort to defend to the utmost liberties and institutions which are a common heritage."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King in answer to queries about the actual position of Canada said: "The speech from the throne made no change in the position of Canada as it has been since the proclamation of the war measures act was issued. A formal statement defining the position of Canada will be issued following action by parliament."

Mackenzie King tomorrow will explain his policy concerning effective coöperation with Britain. He already has stated that Canada is on the side of the United Kingdom.

War Measures Act Proclaimed.

The other dominions of the British commonwealth of nations—Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa—have declared war on Germany, but for reasons of undisclosed policy the Canadian government has not taken this action.

The first step of the Canadian administration was to proclaim the war measures act of 1914, which gave it sweeping powers over internal economy. This act may be proclaimed only when the government decides a "real or apprehended war" exists. It was dated Sept. 1—two days before Britain went to war. It declared that "a state of apprehended war exists and has existed since Aug. 25, 1939."

Under the war measures act a proclamation that a "real or apprehended war" exists enables the governor in council to take extraordinary powers to "do such things as he may deem necessary or advisable for the security, defense, peace, order, and welfare of Canada."

In the last six days the dominion has rushed its plans for preparedness and these included the appropriation of $8,900,000 for all the armed forces. Of this $7,500,000 will be spent on the air force, the bulk of it for the purchase of thirty-five military planes and fifteen training craft.

SAILORS DEMAND AMERICAN SHIPS PAY WAR BONUS

Fear Delay in Bringing Refugees Home.

New York, Sept. 7 [Special].—A new disruption of the already chaotic shipping industry was threatened tonight by a dispute over sailors' demands for war bonuses while sailing in hazardous waters. It was feared the dispute might cause a serious delay in bringing Americans home from Europe.

The United States liner Manhattan arrived this morning from Europe with a record load of passengers and the arrival of the French luxury liner Ile de France was awaited momentarily. The exact position of the French ship was unknown because of its silenced radio and its zig-zag course across the North Atlantic. It was overdue, but this occasioned no alarm.

The sailors' dispute embroiled the Manhattan soon after it docked 1,573 American homecomers. Plans to send it on an immediate return trip to Europe were dampened by grumbling among its crew members.

What Seamen Demand.

To compensate them for the risks involved in sailing in the war zone the seamen want a bonus of $250 per voyage for each man, individual insurance of $25,000, and a wage increase of 40 per cent.

A spokesman for the National Maritime union, which has made the demands, announced in Washington that the union would prevent the Manhattan from sailing until the government defines war zone areas. The ship was scheduled to sail Saturday noon.

Reports at the piers were that about 200 of the Manhattan's crew of 572 would be missing tomorrow. Almost to a man the crew members declared against returning to the war zone without assurance, such as monetary promises, against American participation in the war.

Insist on Guarantees.

"Send us back empty to bring back American refugees and we'll be on board," the sailor said. "But that isn't their plan. Look at the President Roosevelt with its cargo of copper. We'll get some guarantee or we'll be too busy looking after our families to sail."

Bickering over the additional compensation delayed the sailing of the President Roosevelt eight hours on Wednesday night and kept the government owned freighter Challenge in port at Boston about the same length of time today. The Challenge finally sailed for England tonight after a majority of her crew decided to brave the Atlantic passage without war bonuses or insurance.

A representative of the Challenge's crew said one of their demands had been met by the maritime commission's promise that a pilot boat in the Thames river would furnish the men with gas masks.

Fear Trouble Will Spread.

The S. S. Orizaba, world war troop ship, sailed from New York tonight to bring home war refugees. The United States lines, which chartered the Orizaba, has their own liners American Banker and American Importer ready to sail tomorrow afternoon, but feared the labor trouble would delay them.

Among the notables who arrived on the Manhattan were Postmaster General James A. Farley, Anne Bullitt, 15 years old, daughter of William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France; Actresses Norma Shearer and Grace Moore, Elsa Maxwell, society hostess, and ten congressmen returning from the international parliamentary union meeting in Oslo.

Miss Bullitt commented that she found the French much more calm about the war than were Americans in Paris. She said:

"The Americans were the only excited people there; the French seem resigned about it all."

Ready to Drive Ambulance.

Miss Moore announced that as soon as she can complete a scheduled concert tour she will rush back to France to drive an ambulance to be organized by foreigners at Cannes. She said she would not be surprised to see the duchess of Windsor join the corps as soon as the duke has been called to whatever war service he is to perform.

Many of the Manhattan's passengers lost all or part of their baggage and rushed away without money in their frenzy to leave Europe. American Red Cross nurses set up a desk at the pier in the organization's first move to help such victims.

Meantime, about 750 members of the crew of the giant British liner Queen Mary were ordered to return to England immediately on the liner Georgic. Their departure will leave a skeleton force of only 300 stewards, waiters and other servants aboard the ship. A coat of camouflage paint being given the liner, now tied up at a Hudson river pier, had led to the belief it intended to risk a dash home.

20 FIGHTING PLANES VISIT CITY, COMPLETE WITH CAMOUFLAGE

A squadron of 18 single-seat fighters and two bombers from Selfridge field, Mich., yesterday appeared over Chicago giving residents of this city an opportunity to see the latest types of camouflaged war planes. The fighters, the 27th squadron of the First Pursuit Group, were commanded by Maj. W. R. Taylor, a world war pilot.

The fighters were all Curtiss P-36 machines with 1,200 horse power Twin-Row Wasp motors. They were painted in wild designs of whites, and pastel blues and grays. Each machine was painted in accordance with its pilot's ideas and all the designs varied. Neither of the bombers was camouflaged. One was a Douglas B-18B, the other a Martin B-10.

Maj. Taylor said the flight here was a practice cross-country trip. After all the planes were refueled here they flew in formation over the city for half an hour.

A Little Boy Yields to His Conscience; Rights Wrong

A little boy who had stolen $15 yielded to his conscience yesterday. Several weeks ago the boy, about 6 years old, and two older companions called at a lumber yard at 1124 Dodge avenue, Evanston, asking to see some wood. While his companions were being shown samples the youngster snatched $15 from the till. Yesterday the boy returned, told a woman employé, "Lady, look under the pile of wood in the shed," then ran away. Under the wood was the $15 with a note reading, "My conscience hurts; here is your money."

Japan's Good Will Plane Pays Call at Albuquerque

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 7 (AP).—Seven Japanese flyers on a projected round the world good will flight landed here at 4:02 p. m. [Chicago time] from Burbank, Cal. The flyers said they would take off early tomorrow for Kansas City, en route to New York. They plan to fly to Miami from New York, their European route depending on war developments.

NAZIS SURPRISE POLES BY USING A RIFLE-CANNON

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Whatever other surprises the Germans may have in store for the prospective bigger war on the western front, they already have sprung one surprise on the Poles. That is a light rifle-cannon capable of penetrating ordinary armor plate and which is fired by one man using his shoulder and another man as a rifle support.

Every German company, it is understood, is equipped with several such rifle-cannon, which it is claimed can be used with devastating effect on tanks and armored cars, even before artillery can be brought up.

GERMAN U-BOATS SINK FIVE SHIPS; SIXTH ESCAPES

American Liner Rescues 33 Off One Vessel.

Harding in October, 1925, he directed the rescue of twenty-six men from the Italian freighter Ignazio Florio in an Atlantic storm and for this received a gold medal from the treasury department.

In January, 1933, as master of the American Merchant, Capt. Stedman battled through a violent sea, hail, and rain 1,575 miles east of New York to go to the rescue of the sinking freighter Exeter. He took twenty-two persons from the doomed craft. Four men from the Exeter lost their lives. For this rescue, Stedman received the Navy Cross.

Reveals Other Attacks.

The liner American Farmer first made known by radio the attacks on the Pukkastan and the Tamara. The American Farmer left New York Sept. 1 for Plymouth and Southampton.

The position of the Pukkastan was given as 49.23 degrees north latitude and 7.49 degrees west longitude. The Tamara as 42.21 north and 12.01 west.

The Tamara was a 3,747 ton freighter in the French-African trade. She was 330 feet long and her home port was Marseilles. She was built at Port de Bouc, France, in 1936 and had four decks and a cruiser stern.

Also in African Freight Trade.

The Pukkastan, a vessel of 5,809 tons, was also in the African freight trade. She was owned by the Hindustan Steam Shipping company and her home port was Newcastle, England. She was built at Sunderland in 1929 and was 440 feet long.

Dispatches from Lisbon told of the sinking of the 7,242 ton British steamer Manaar last night. The survivors were taken to Lisbon. They said a submarine first torpedoed the Manaar and then opened fire as the crew of eighty-eight sought to leave the sinking ship.

Forty-six of the crew—three of them wounded—had been rescued. At least two were dead. Forty were missing.

Ship Puts Up Fight.

Among the wounded was Thomas Jones, 50 years old, of Carnavon, North Wales, chief petty officer. He said the Manaar had put up the best fight of which she was capable before she was sent to the bottom 100 miles off the Portuguese coast. Telling of the attack, Jones said:

"We broke out a twelve pounder, but we couldn't reach her [the submarine]. She was too far away."

The Manaar's master, he added, gave orders to abandon ship after the first torpedo struck amidships and it became evident that the submarine was not coming within range of the freighter's gun.

"We launched four boats on the port side—the side away from the submarine—but the ship swung around as we were doing this," Jones said, "and we found ourselves staring straight at the submarine."

Then, he added, the attacking vessel fired a second torpedo, at the same time opening fire with its gun. He said that in his opinion shrapnel was fired. However, a physician at the Lisbon hospital said the men's wounds indicated they were inflicted by machine gun bullets.

The submarine fired four or five torpedoes, at least, Jones said.

Sixteen of the crew were picked from the sea by the Portuguese steamer Carvalho Araujo, and thirty were picked up by the Mars. The Manaar left Liverpool Sept. 3, bound for Calcutta, India.

British Counterattack.

All these losses were in addition to that of the Bosnia, a Cunard freighter whose sinking was reported yesterday, and the Athenia, sent to the bottom early Monday.

Evidence that the British were countering these German raids was contained in an announcement today by the British ministry of information in London that a German minelaying submarine had been attacked and that the German liner Inn had been sunk.

British authorities said the 2,867 ton North German Lloyd steamer Inn was sunk Tuesday and thirty-five passengers and crew were taken off, including one woman and two cages of rare birds.

[Dispatches from Belem, Brazil, Wednesday reported the Inn was sunk in mid-Atlantic but gave no details.]

The ministry also said that fifty-four German merchant ships, totaling more than 180,000 tons, have sought refuge in the neutral port of Vigo, Spain, and nine other German ships, totaling more than 60,000 tons, are in Japanese ports.

[Other dispatches from London yesterday reported that German submarines twice were prevented from sinking the little Dutch ship Batavier V., which was bringing Ambassador Sir Nevile Henderson back to England from his mission to Germany. The ambassador arrived safely at Gravesend in the Thames yesterday afternoon. Twice on the voyage from Rotterdam the ambassador felt the 1,573 ton vessel tremble as escorting destroyers dropped depth charges. When the first submarine was discovered the destroyers turned back and fired three charges; a half hour later they dropped two more.]

N. E. Jamieson of Toledo, O., who arrived in New York aboard the liner Manhattan today, said that before the ship left England "some of the passengers were told by members of the staff of the American embassy in London that just off Cobh a fleet of at least forty submarines had been located by detectors."

Survivors Demand Convoy.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Sept. 7 (AP).—American survivors of the sinking of the liner Athenia insisted tonight that a convoy be supplied for the ship expected here next week to take them home.

"We cannot trust the German navy," a survivor shouted when John Kennedy, second son of the American ambassador to Great Britain, informed the group the steamer Orizaba had been ordered across the Atlantic to pick them up.

Young Kennedy said no convoy was contemplated and added:

"You will be safe in a ship flying the American flag."

The Donaldson Atlantic line, owner of the Athenia, reported 128 persons were missing and shipping circles in London estimated not more than a dozen Americans were among them. Confusion over the names still delayed an accurate listing of the missing.

List More Survivors.

DUBLIN, Sept. 7 (AP).—The American legation here tonight issued this additional list of American survivors of the Athenia who landed at Galway Tuesday:

Mrs. John Campbell and Catherine Schnett, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; John Shiels, Philadelphia; Mary Kerr, Suten, Mont.; A. C. Daldy, St. Louis; George and Laura Bottle, Cleveland; Doris Jones, Lower Waterford, Vt.

U-Boats' Attacks

Ships sunk by German U-boats, according to latest reports, were: 1. Where Olivegrove, Glasgow freighter, was torpedoed. 2. Where the Pukkastan, a British vessel, was attacked. 3. Where French vessel, the Tamara, was raided. 4. Where the Manaar, British vessel, was sunk.

PROPAGANDA WAR RAGES ALONG AIR WAVES OF EUROPE

Revolt in Germany Urged in British Broadcast.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7.—Rapid delivery of propaganda talks in German now are made several times daily from England on both short and middle radio wave lengths. I have listened to broadcasts in German from the communist international radio station in Moscow for many years, but there is no difference in the propaganda now addressed to Germany from London from that directed to Germany from the comintern a month ago.

British agitators urge the German people to start a revolution to overthrow Adolf Hitler and his government. They also give Germans the contents of revolutionary manifestos and proclamations signed by their exiled radical leaders. There is one minor change. Moscow called these leaders communists, while London calls them Socialists.

Last night London told German listeners to tune in future programs. They promised to broadcast the names of German revolutionists who have lost their lives for the cause of revolt in Germany. London declared that the British government possessed the names and last messages of many of these men which they would now make public.

Leaders Make Appeals.

The broadcasts from London also contain a special appeal to the German people from leading Englishmen, including Premier Neville Chamberlain. Like leading bolsheviks, these speakers said England did not want to wage war against the German people who are dear friends of the British but only upon the German government. Like the Moscow commissars, the London ministers called upon the listeners to revolt and destroy Hitler and Naziism.

The German broadcasts from England are a new development in the oral war now being waged over the air in Europe. Comintern station agitators in Russia are taking a vacation. Instead of class hatred and revolutionary propaganda, programs of Russian music are being broadcast.

On the other hand, features of the British broadcasts are extensive quotations from various American newspapers long known for their critical attitude toward Naziism. The Germans are being told that America would welcome and help a German revolution.

Poles Join in Radio War.

The Polish government also is using the radio but more to bolster the courage of Poles than against Germany. The feature of the Polish programs is the brilliant military action of the British and French reported daily. Polish broadcasters tell how Britain has bombed Berlin, how the British are the masters of the air over Germany and how they are coming to Poland's aid.

France, says the Polish station, penetrated the Siegfried [Limes] line at twelve points and the French are bombarding German towns in the Ruhr and other industrial districts. The Poles are being kept in ignorance of the victorious drive of seven different German army corps into Poland. For every Polish defeat the station broadcasts news of several allied victories.

Equally incredible are the Polish atrocity tales of how Germans are dropping toy rubber balloons filled with mustard gas from bombers flying more than 300 miles an hour. These, it is said, are designed to attract Polish children. Planes also are alleged to be throwing out poisoned candy to kill children while German spies garbed as Polish telegraph messengers are said to be delivering fake telegrams to wives and mothers telling of the death in battle of their husbands and sons.

Best Bremen Guess

Informed quarters have agreed the German liner Bremen is probably safely anchored in the soviet port of Alexandrovsk.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 [Special]. —Out of the welter of speculation that has existed over the whereabouts of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen since it sailed from New York more than a week ago, informed persons here have agreed on one guess as the "most likely." This is that the Bremen is at about 33 degrees east longitude and 69 degrees north latitude. The information was ascribed to "a grapevine from Berlin."

If the Bremen is at that location it is probably anchored at or near the city of Alexandrovsk in Kola bay, at the mouth of the Tuloma river in the extreme northeast part of the Murmansk peninsula. This is part of soviet Russia, which has a nonaggression treaty with Germany.

Alexandrovsk is about 4,677 nautical miles from New York City. It is on the shortest—and for the Bremen—the safest route, past New Foundland and around Scandinavia, avoiding the North sea. At a continuous 24 hour average speed of 28 knots it would have been possible for the Bremen to reach Alexandrovsk from New York in seven days.

FREE FORGOTTEN WOMAN OF JAIL ON BOND TODAY

Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, called the forgotten woman of the County jail, is expected to be free today, at least for a while, pending a hearing on a plea before the Appellate court. The court yesterday ordered her admitted to $2,000 bail which her attorney said would be supplied.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer was sentenced to jail in 1934 by Judge Hugo Friend for refusal to account for $30,000 in an estate. Her case has been heard in half a dozen courts at different times since then and she was once out for nearly a year on a petition before the Appellate court.

That release order was set aside in 1937 when the court finally overruled her appeal and she went back to jail. It is expected that the docketing, argument and decision this time will take about a year.

CUBA PUTS CURB ON BROADCASTS OF WAR NEWS

HAVANA, Sept. 7.—Radio stations broadcasting world news here must justify the source of the dispatches under a decree signed today by President Laredo Bru.

This measure is aimed at preventing the broadcasting of rumors or comments which might be unpleasant to nationals of the belligerent countries residing in the island. Cuba has proclaimed its neutrality.

BUILDING OWNER ASKS $10,000 FOR SUBWAY DAMAGE

Suit for $10,000 damages was filed in Superior court yesterday against the Herlihy Mid-Continent company and the city by Mrs. Annie Rafferty, who charged that tunnelling by the Herlihy company on the North State street subway had damaged her lodging house at 3 West Delaware place. The suit is one of a dozen similar actions instituted since work started on the subway.

Mrs. Rafferty charged that the east wall of the building along State street had been sprung three inches from the remainder of the structure, that foundations were weakened, ceilings and walls cracked, and that her twenty-three roomers have dwindled to five. She charged negligence by the defendants.

LIFE AND DEATH DRAMA OF SEAS TOLD IN 9 WORDS

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—A life and death drama of the seas was told tonight in nine words.

"Proceeding assistance Olivegrove," Capt. Giles C. Stedman of the United States Lines Washington told the New York office after an S O S from the torpedoed British freighter.

Then, several hours later:

"Saved 33, lost none, injured none."

"Congratulations," said John M. Franklin, president of the company.

Burglars broke into the apartment of Edward Spooner, 6301 Kenmore avenue, a sales manager, and stole $35 and $190 worth of jewelry, he reported yesterday.

WAR MACHINE ROLLING ALONG, COMMONS TOLD

Britain Fights to Halt Raids Against Ships.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, in a statement to the house of commons tonight, declared that Britain's war machine was rapidly gaining momentum.

Following his survey Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the opposition, raised a complaint about delay in issuing official news through the ministry of information here. He asked whether Chamberlain was "aware of the state of the press last evening and the growing uneasiness of this house and outside it regarding the lack of information on war operations."

Promises Better Effort.

Chamberlain countered with the explanation that "when you are bringing into operation a somewhat complicated machine there is apt to be a little creaking at first," but he promised better efforts in the future.

The problem of news releases also was brought up in the house of lords today by Lord Snell, who argued that "we can get more information in America and from America than we can get here."

Chamberlain prefaced his survey of war operations with a tribute to the courage of Polish troops on the eastern front. The German plan, he said, appeared to be to concentrate the first main effort against Poland, but the Poles are contesting every yard of the German advance though outnumbered, outgunned and faced with overwhelmingly superior air power.

Give Poles Financial Aid.

The prime minister then revealed that Britain and France today signed an agreement giving financial aid to Poland.

Dealing with operations on the western front, Chamberlain said France, like Britain, had mobilized forces and was now in contact with the enemy. "Certain information has been published on what has taken place but for obvious reasons no details can yet be disclosed," he said.

The understanding between Britain and France is complete, Chamberlain claimed, and coöperative arrangements are working out smoothly.

Tells Attacks on Shipping.

The prime minister then told the house that the most important feature of the naval warfare has been the development of U-boat attacks on British shipping.

Apart from sinking of the Athenia, which he said had "virtually opened the war," several other British ships, he disclosed, had been sunk by German U-boats. Under admiralty orders immediate countermeasures were taken. British destroyers and anti-submarine craft are active and big reinforcements of anti-submarine and escort ships now are becoming available. At the same time, steps are under way to establish a full convoy system as soon as possible.

Chamberlain expressed the conviction that the British navy, with experiences from the last war and the added advantage of new methods of submarine detection, "will increasingly bring the problem under control."

Praises Air Force.

He praised the British air force raid on a German pocket battleship at Wilhelmshaven.

Touching this country's passive defenses, Chamberlain announced that evacuation operations now were substantially complete and approximately 1,475,000 children and mothers had been sent to safety zones.

Greenwood, who followed the prime minister, indicated the opposition would press for some sort of discussion when Chamberlain made statements on war operations in the future. The acting Labor leader, criticizing the system of handling news releases, said that as a result of the lack of information "wild rumors of the most fantastic character" had been flying around.

Calls People Brave and Keen.

"In order to maintain the spirit of the people, who are brave and keen," Greenwood called on Chamberlain "to give us here and now a pledge that, without in any way making a statement not in the public interest, he will, when he speaks in the future, unbosom himself fully to us and to the country and, whether the news be good or bad, tell the country early."

Greenwood this evening issued a statement stressing the need for a speedup of news releases in order to check the flow of rumors. In the house of commons he insisted that the people would not be disheartened by any temporary reverses and added that "before things go far, the people of our land should know that nothing is withheld from them and they are to be trusted with the truth, however distasteful it may be."

Says Experience Needed.

Chamberlain answered that the problem was discussed at this morning's meeting of the war cabinet. "We do not defend what has happened on its merits," he said. "We agree it might have been better done, but these things have got to be found out by experience and we hope to do better in the future."

Criticism of the ministry of information was expressed by several members in the course of today's discussion. Both Geoffrey Le M. Mander, Liberal, and Maj. Sir Archibald Sinclair, also a Liberal, raised the question of the propaganda leaflet dropped on Germany from British planes, declaring that the first translation of the message received in London was wired from Amsterdam. Later tonight the British ministry circulated the translation here.

Before the house adjourned until next Wednesday Sir Samuel Hoare, lord of the privy seal in the country's war cabinet, gave details of the ministry's operations. He said it was organized into fourteen divisions under four groups. It first deals with the press, press relations, and censorship; second, publicity covering the British empire, America, and other countries; third, movie publicity, radio, etc., and fourth, administration and coördination.

No Major Naval Operations.

A communique issued from the ministry of information tonight announced that "there are no major naval operations to report," but claimed that "German merchant ships are being steadily driven from the seas."

"Attacks on German submarines continue," the ministry added.

British aircraft, it was stated, were being employed in reconnaissance activity over a wide area, including the North sea.

Japan Pledges Neutrality.

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP).—A number of international developments which may have an important effect on the war were announced today. The British government, it was said, had been notified by Japan that she expected to stay out of the conflict.

The government at the same time received official notification that Egypt had decided to sever diplomatic relations with Germany and that the government of Iraq had ordered the German minister in Bagdad to leave.

The Iraq move came as a surprise. It was regarded as important because the onetime British mandate has rich oil lands which would be of immense value to any warring power.

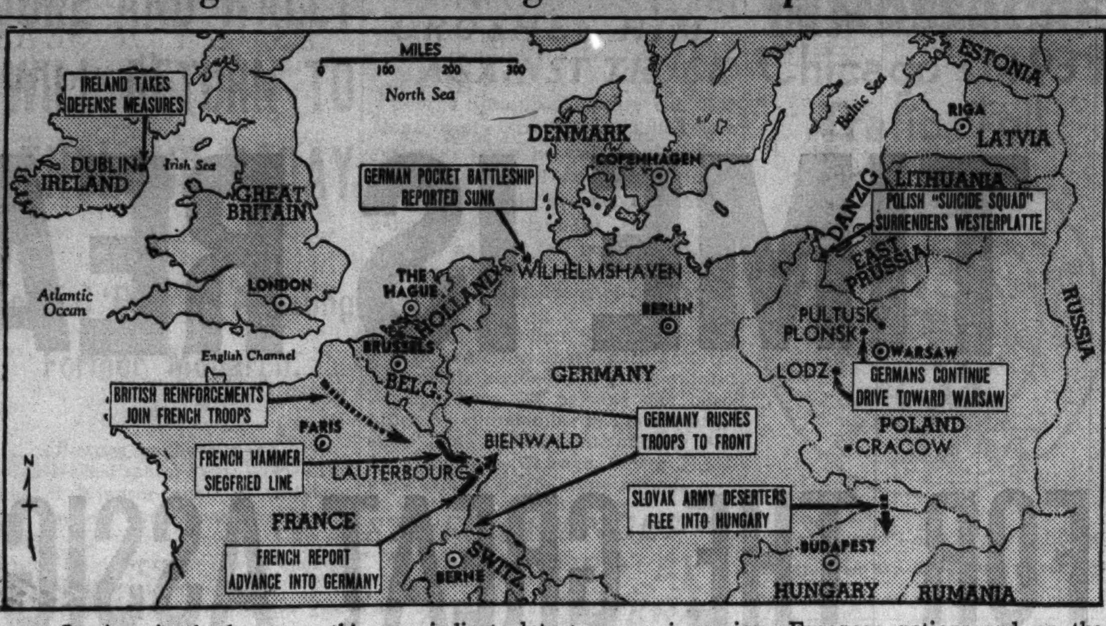
Hear Serbs Mobilize.

The war office reported that "the council of ministers in Jugo-Slavia has decided on general mobilization and that the minister of war has been empowered to put this decision into effect by stages."

It was stated that the strength of the Jugo-Slav army is increasing daily and is now approaching 500,000. Official sources in London declined comment on the significance of the move, but recalled that the Jugo-Slav government already had declared the country's neutrality.

King George VI. of England, carrying a gas mask and dressed in the service uniform of a field marshal, received a tremendous cheer today when he visited troops of the Aldershot command. The visit failed to interrupt feverish mobilization work.

High Points of Progress of European War



Captions in the boxes on this map indicate latest moves in various European nations and on the war fronts yesterday. The French reported advances on the western front and told of the landing of British troops on French soil. The Germans continued their advance on Warsaw and reported the capture of the "suicide" troops at Westerplatte.

TRIAL OF CITY'S SUIT TO CONDEMN AIRPORT LAND SET FOR SEPT. 18

The trial of condemnation suits against ninety-one pieces of property needed for the expansion of Chicago airport was set for Sept. 18 by Judge Denis J. Normoyle yesterday. The land is to be used as a new right of way for tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railway, which now separate the old airport from the new field to the north.

"The airport is extremely necessary to any forward steps that may be taken by the city," commented Judge Normoyle. He urged the fifty lawyers representing the 290 property owners to try to get together and to agree on prices out of court.

Spokesmen for the property owners contended that the city's offer of $150,000 for the land was too small and would not even pay the special assessment taxes imposed during recent years. Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, said the offer was the best the city could make.

BOG IN SUBURB YIELDS BONES OF ANCIENT BEAST

Two large bones dug out of a peat bog in Western Springs by WPA workers a week ago were identified yesterday as those of a species of mammoth which roamed the North American continent about 10,000 years ago.

Dr. P. C. McGrew, curator of paleontology at Field museum, who identified the bones, urged that the workers digging in the bog be on the lookout for the skull of the mammoth.

The bones were found ten feet below the surface by Glenn Ulrich and Otto Czech. John H. Locke, park superintendent at Western Springs, said other bones have been found there and identified as those of an extinct species of elk.

Ordered to Stay Out of Speedboat for Summer

William Sherman, 714 Washington street, Wilmette, was ordered yesterday by Judge James M. Corcoran of Evanston to stay out of his speedboat for the balance of the summer. He was arrested Saturday for endangering bathers at North Shore beaches. A charge of disorderly conduct was continued until November 7.

This whole area, on the German side, is fortified only by light trenches, temporary positions in advance of the Siegfried line. North of Karlsruhe, the German main line of fortifications lies several miles behind the frontier.

Indications were that as soon as large raiding parties had consolidated their positions on the French side of the frontier, the order was given for an advance on similar German positions across the boundary.

Artillery Duel Reported.

An artillery duel was said to be continuing from Lauterbourg south with the French bombarding German strongholds guarding the southern route across Germany.

Military experts said the only way to relieve German pressure on the Poles was to try to crack the Siegfried line, forcing the Nazis to turn most of their strength against France.

Daladier conferred with Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies, and with Jules Jeanneny, president of the senate, the officials first to be consulted in the formation of a new ministry.

Among leaders he has seen were former Premiers Leon Blum and Pierre Etienne Flandin and Louis Marin, conservative leader of the chamber.

Nazi Planes Over Marseilles.

MARSEILLES, France, Sept. 7 (AP).—Air raid sirens screamed two warnings of German raids tonight at this key port linking France with her North African empire. The warnings were the first reports anywhere in France in the last thirty-six hours of air raids. There was no indication that any bombs were dropped. Marseilles is the main French port on the Mediterranean for entry of French troops from North Africa.

The infant, born Wednesday, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barron of 5862 Cortland street. He was delivered by Dr. Carl Potkin, 4259 Madison street. Mrs. Barron gave birth to another son, Charles, eight months ago.

BRITISH TORPEDO BOAT TO DISPLAY SPEED FOR NAVY

Presence of Foreign Ship Brings Explanation.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 [Special]. —The presence at New London, Conn., of a British torpedo boat, which will make a series of test runs and demonstrations, apparently in violation of President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation, was explained today by the United States navy.

Star locates British torpedo boat now in American waters.

The navy is charged with the enforcement of the section of the neutrality proclamation which provides:

"If any ship of war of a belligerent shall, after the time this notification takes effect [Sept. 5], be found in or shall enter any port, harbor, roadstead, or waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, such vessel shall not be permitted to remain in such port, harbor, roadstead, or waters more than twenty-four hours, except in cases of stress of weather or for delay in receiving repairs, or when detained by the United States."

Navy Building Similar Boats.

Navy officers said the boat was brought to New London for demonstration purposes because the navy is acquiring a "mosquito" fleet of its own and wanted to see, at first hand, what the much advertised British boat could do. The demonstrations are being conducted, it was explained, for the benefit of the United States navy.

The Elco works of the Electric Boat company, which builds a great many submarines for the navy, "obtained" the British torpedo boat for the test runs, according to the navy. Navy officers said they did not know what arrangements the Electric Boat company made to obtain the British vessel, which was built by the British Power Boat company.

Eight Boats Under Way.

The British boat, which cost only $200,000, is 70 feet long and has a beam of 20 feet. It is said to have a speed of fifty land miles an hour and a cruising speed of forty-three knots. It has four torpedo tubes for action against surface vessels, from destroyers to battleships, and four motor operated guns, for action against enemy submarines.

Congress in 1938 authorized an appropriation of $15,000,000 for the construction of experimental vessels aggregating not more than 3,000 tons displacement, in the discretion of the President. Of this amount $3,000,000 has been appropriated and a total of eight so-called mosquito boats are under construction. All these boats are of American design, and the cost is much higher than that of the British boat.

DIVERT SEWAGE FROM CANAL TO TREATING PLANT

A daily flow of 75 million gallons of sewage was diverted yesterday from the drainage canal to the new southwest side treatment plant at Stickney. The diversion was accomplished by removing a wooden bulkhead in the Western avenue sewer at 38th street, turning the sewage into the southwest side intercepting sewer that leads to the treatment plant.

The Western avenue sewer receives half of the wastes from the stockyards district, draining 12½ square miles of the city, with a population of 218,000. The sewer had dumped about 40 tons of solids into the canal per day.

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district, said other large sewer connections will be opened as soon as the treatment plant can receive an increase in flow. Within a few weeks, he said, the sewage from the entire area between the canal and 87th street will be diverted to the plant. The intercepting sewer and the treatment plant are part of the $162,000,000 sewage disposal program initiated after the United States Supreme court ordered a reduction in the diversion from Lake Michigan.

FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE.

Albert Benko, 40 years old, 4829 Ainslie street, a painter, was found dead on the floor of the garage behind his home yesterday morning. Police were unable to determine whether he had died of carbon monoxide or a heart attack.

TIME IS READY FOR THE GREAT ASSIGNMENT

While countries have been preparing for war, journalists the world over have likewise been preparing for war.

In the past week U. S. citizens—citizens of the only great country where a free press exists today—have seen a notable demonstration of that preparedness. They have seen it in the work performed by the daily press and by the radio.

This week, and in the weeks to come, they will also see the results of preparedness in a third and distinct form of journalism—The Weekly Newsmagazine.

TIME is ready for the great assignment.

For a year TIME has been reporting the War of Nerves. In its series Background for War, TIME has given its readers a comprehensive, factual preparation for things to come.

This week TIME inaugurates a department it had hoped it would never have to publish. It is called World War and is concerned with battle, slaughter and the strategy of destruction.

But this week more than military riddles are being decided. Obscured by battles, drowned out by the guns, the old War of Nerves, of mystery, rumor, panic goes dangerously on.

Nobody paid much attention when the Russian Ambassador to Berlin was suddenly jerked home and replaced by a diplomatic greenhorn, who had been Premier Molotov's personal assistant. But in the Balkans there was a tremor of fright like those involuntary shudders people are supposed to make when somebody walks over their graves.

This week the War of Nerves leaped the Atlantic.

In such a War, not of our choosing, distance is a feeble barrier. In such a War, the best defense is to continue to be what President Roosevelt called us: the most enlightened and best informed people in all the world.

To keep intelligent people well-informed—this is the single purpose job to which TIME is dedicated. To that job TIME rededicates itself.

The War of Nerves has proved its power to make men cowards—but the War of Nerves is not won by running away from it.

The War of Nerves has proved its power to make conversational heroes—but the War of Nerves is not won by hysterical language.

Together with all sincere journalists, TIME is already enlisted in this war—for the duration. It hopes to play its part honorably—by giving to a great company of readers ample material for their great decisions in the weeks or years to come.

NAZIS SEE TRUCE AFTER GERMANY TAKES WARSAW

Say End of War Will Come on Sept. 29.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 7.—German quarters here were confident tonight that the fall of Warsaw would be followed by an armistice and an international conference at which Germany would win satisfaction of outstanding claims without further bloodshed.

Nazis asserted that once Adolf Hitler demonstrated the power of his military machine with a rapid conquest of Poland, the British would be ready to sit down at the conference table and talk over "revision" of the Versailles treaty.

These circles expressed the opinion that the British not only would let Hitler keep whatever he wants of captured territory, but also would agree to discuss "modest colonial claims."

See End Sept. 29.

With the German army reported tonight to be only 22 miles from Warsaw, Germans here believe the city's fall would be only a matter of a couple of days. By Sept. 29, they say, "it will be over." Just why this date is selected is not clear, but the Germans appeared to attach some special significance to it.

Needless to say this theory of a speedy end of hostilities, followed by subjugation of Poland, is not shared by the British here. Representatives of neutral countries in Rome also are inclined to believe that the Germans are being overly optimistic.

Meanwhile, reports that Italy plans to advance another proposal to end the war before it becomes a world conflagration continued to sweep Rome despite lack of confirmation from official sources.

Poland Out of Parleys.

Talk of a five-power conference now has been whittled down to four powers, with Poland already regarded as out of the picture. The assumption is that Poland will be in Hitler's pocket by the time the conference date arrives.

Reports that Premier Mussolini and Pope Pius XII. are collaborating to find a way toward peace also were in circulation. It was believed in some quarters that Il Duce would break his long silence in a few days with a speech on the international situation. It was also said Pope Pius plans to return to Rome from Castel Gandolfo shortly for a brief visit. Neither of these reports could be verified. It was also reported that Guido Gomella, editorial writer for L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, had been arrested by secret police.

While editorial comment in Italian papers continued at a minimum, Il Telegrafo, Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's newspaper, launched another attack on the treaty of Versailles. "People will have peace only on the day in which the spirit of Versailles, which has created nothing but discontent and hate, is succeeded by the spirit of justice which has been created by Il Duce," it said.

Urges Work and Silence.

Il Popolo d'Italia, Mussolini's newspaper, apparently referring to the lack of interpretative articles in the press, to which Italians are accustomed, said that "to work and keep silent, that is the word of the hour."

The newspaper also described Great Britain's bombardment of German cities with propaganda pamphlets as "childish." "The German people," it said, "have such firmness in their action and such faith in their chiefs that launching manifestini becomes startlingly childish."

ONE IS BELIEVED DEAD IN $35,000 FOUNDRY BLAZE

One man was believed to have been killed and damage was estimated at $35,000 when fire destroyed the two story brick building of the Butler Street Foundry and Iron company at 3422-32 Normal avenue, a block west of the White Sox baseball park, yesterday afternoon. A one story frame residence at 3434 Normal avenue owned by Joseph Vaccaro, was also razed by the flames and two families living in a building adjoining on the south were driven to the street.

The man thought to have perished in the foundry was identified as Adam Virbulas, 3546 Normal avenue.

Fred Linder, superintendent of the foundry, said the fire may have been caused by a spark from machinery. The fire was brought under control before it could menace the yards of the Virginia Coal company across the street.

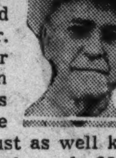
The Question.

If Hitler conquers Poland, do you think France and England should make peace with him or continue fighting until Hitler is annihilated and Poland freed?

Where Answered.

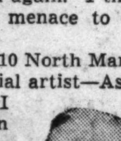
On North Michigan avenue.

The Answers.



F. A. Miller, Waukesha, Wis., retired grocer—As far as I'm concerned, they ought to finish it as long as they've started, and they haven't finished until Hitler is done for. To my notion, the war isn't realy started even though Germany has overrun Poland. France and England might just as well keep right at it and fight to the end. Nothing's settled by quitting now.

Mrs. C. R. Abell, 6518 Mozart street, housewife—England and France are fighting for certain principles. They've pledged themselves to protect Poland. I think they should finish the job. Poland's not gone yet. She has been wiped out before, and she always comes back. I think she can again. I think Hitler certainly is a menace to the peace of Europe.



Henry E. Vallely, 7710 North Marshfield avenue, commercial artist—As an American citizen, I think no American should even give an opinion on such things. That's how much I feel that we should stay out of this thing. I don't think the commentators should even broadcast. You know what it will all end up in—an hysteria that will drag us into the war.

Mildred Antisdale, 8 West Delaware place, writer—I think they should make peace in the interest of all. It would be the lesser of two evils to straighten the whole thing out and let the dog fight cease. I think it the only civilized thing to do—mediation, you know. No good can come of pursuing the conflict. We tried that twenty years ago. Now look at us.

Bert Shepard, 785 Hill avenue, Glen Ellyn, advertising artist—I think they should continue the war until Hitler is annihilated. He has done too much now, and he will take all he can get. If some one doesn't stop him permanently, he will get all the countries in Europe. He could go on for a great many years. I think France and Britain and a few others will stop him.

4 KILLED, 1 HURT WHEN PASSENGER TRAIN HITS AUTO

Lincoln, Ill., Sept. 7 [Special].—Four persons were killed and a fifth was injured critically today when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a southbound Alton passenger train at a crossing here.

The dead, two women and two men, were identified as Mrs. Charles Lower, 51 years old; Mrs. Horace Angel, 72, and Frank Eaton, 65, of Atlanta, Ill., and his brother, Fred Eaton, 63, of Geneva, Neb. Fred Eaton's wife, Vinetta, was near death in a hospital.

Coroner E. C. Goff and police, who made the identifications from papers found in clothing of the victims, said that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaton had been visiting in Atlanta.

The accident occurred on one of five Lincoln crossings which the Illinois commerce commission recently authorized the Alton railroad to close as soon as a system of twenty-four hour protection is completed on the remaining crossings in the city.

DUKE AND WALLY WILL RETURN TO ENGLAND TODAY

Special 'Duty' Is Awaiting Former Monarch.

CANNES, France, Sept. 7 (AP).—The duke of Windsor and his American born duchess, for whose love he abdicated the British throne, will return to England tomorrow, a spokesman announced today.

It was reported an important special "duty" awaited the former monarch, who has not seen his homeland in almost three years of self-imposed exile. The nature of the task to be given the duke in Britain's wartime government was not disclosed.

Route Home Kept Secret.

Secrecy surrounded the time of departure and the route.

[An Associated Press dispatch to Washington, D. C., from southern France reported that the duke and duchess might leave by automobile to embark aboard a British gunboat.]

The duke, anxious to get back home now that his country is at war again with Germany, originally planned to fly to England last Saturday, but adverse weather held up the private plane they had summoned.

Windsor left England Dec. 11, 1936, the day after he abdicated for the "woman I love," who had preceded him to France on Dec. 5. The former king and the duchess, the former Wallis Warfield, were married June 3, 1937, at Château de Cande, Monts.

Inactivity Irks Duke.

The duke, who saw front line service during the world war when he was the prince of Wales, has become restive in recent months at his inactivity.

"I am now a very happily married man, but my wife and I are neither content nor willing to live a purely inactive life," he confided.

In the last year he made two appeals for peace.

In a broadcast to America from Verdun on May 5 he called upon "all political leaders" to rise above "purely national interests" in order to avoid war.

More recently he appealed to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy "as a simple citizen of the world" to use his influence in the interest of peace.

ROBBER KILLED, TWO PALS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

A young robber was killed and his two pals were injured early today when a car which they had stolen from a minister ran into a ditch in 87th street at Kedzie avenue. The youth killed was Donald Hickey, 18 years old, 5852 Normal avenue.

According to Grand Crossing police, Hickey, his brother Robert, 20, and Robert Trent, 21, of 510 Fremont street, held up the Rev. Thomas M. Pender Jr., pastor of St. James' Methodist church at 63d street and Ellis avenue. They took his car and $25. In reporting the crime Dr. Pender, who lives at 4614 Drexel avenue, noticed only two holdup men.

Sometime later Policemen Joseph Shaughnessy and Charles Hodges, searching for the stolen car, found it wrecked in 87th street. They also found Donald Hickey and Trent and took them to the Little Company of Mary hospital, where Hickey died later. Trent, police said, confessed he and the two Hickeys had stolen the car. Police then seized the second Hickey brother, who was also injured. He, too, confessed, police said.

KILLED AS CAR CRUSHES HIM AGAINST TRUCK

George Sprainis, 17 years old, 2639 Montgomery street, was killed late yesterday when he was struck by an auto driven by Tom Kearns, 31, of 223 North Austin avenue. Sprainis, a helper on a laundry truck, was crushed against the truck when, according to police, Kearns drove into the rear of it in front of 5006 Madison street.

In the twenty-four hours ending at 4 p. m. yesterday there were no fatal automobile accidents in Cook county. At that hour 563 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of that number 435 were killed in Chicago, where 14,733 were injured in the same period.

STAFF CHANGES ANNOUNCED BY ATTY. GENERAL

Breen, for twenty years a Chicago attorney, has been made first assistant attorney general in charge of the Chicago office. James G. Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 7 [Special].—L. E. Slusser of Pawpaw was burned to death this afternoon when his automobile was struck by the eastbound Trans-Atlantic limited of the Michigan Central railroad. The automobile burst into flames as it was lifted by the pilot of the locomotive. Slusser was pinned in the wreckage. He was identified by his driver's license and papers found in his pockets.

FOUR RECKLESS DRIVERS JAILED IN SAFETY COURT

Four reckless motorists were sentenced to jail in the Safety court yesterday. Because of the unusually heavy court call, Judge Francis Borrelli was aided by Judge Gibson E. Gorman after the latter finished his duties in the Felony court.

Bruno Milewski, 5440 Wrightwood avenue, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell for leaving the scene of an accident at Fullerton and Hamlin avenues on July 16. Milewski struck a pedestrian. He was traced by the license number of his car.

The others sentenced are Lester Montgomery, 2618 Emmett street, driving while intoxicated, seventeen days in the county jail; Rufus Seal, colored, 3116 Roosevelt road, and Chester Katuzna, 930 West 29th street, thirty days each in the Bridewell, Seal for reckless driving and Katuzna for leaving the scene of an accident.

HOW THE OTHER HALF—

By CALEB

STRATA are as numerous, interesting—and apparently, I was about to add, as essential—to earth's social structure as to its physical formation.

The popular saying that "one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives," is among the truest we possess. So true, in fact, that it is trite. Also so true, however, that it is downright perilous to one's development in humanity to remain for long, or for always, exclusively a member of either half! "Perilous," because it robs one of the necessary knowledge—born through cordial contacts—of all sorts and kinds of people, classes and masses alike, which alone makes for understanding, compassion, tolerance, and usefulness to one's fellows.

Leaders, statesmen, politicians, clergymen, educators, lawyers, doctors, merchants—soon learn thus to know all the public, or default their callings. Their callings, indeed, compel such knowledge. And not until you, for example, have personally gone out of your "social stratum" into another with which circumstance and environment have not acquainted you, can you begin to appraise all people at their true value.

Last Sunday evening, from six to nine, I devoted to a leisurely stroll along that other kind of State Street which lies below Van Buren. It was an experience rich in revelations. I stood and listened while an earnest, vigorous, bareheaded super-salesman, armed only with words, chalk and blackboard, sold an ABC guide to mathematics at fifty cents the copy. His technique I have never seen surpassed. In twenty minutes he had disposed of as many books.

Farther on, I stood and studied a Salvation Army group in action. More practical technique in stopping, holding—frequently, helping—the "other half"! A block farther, and I chatted with a vividly interesting old cardwriter, nearing seventy. "Been at it since 1900, mister, and I find it very congenial." A doorway farther, and I was in the ancient Pacific Garden Mission—open every night for sixty-one years, and "spiritual birthplace of Billy Sunday." Yes, I was seeing a "half" almost as foreign in many of its aspects as some foreign country. . . .

Nihil humanum mihi alienum puto, declared the Roman poet Terence. "Nothing human do I consider alien to me." It is a creed we can all adopt to our everlasting profit—as a passport to surer learning, kindlier action, truer service, and permanently finer living.

COMBAT SERVICE CALLS FOR MORE RECRUITS IN CITY

Army, Navy and Marines Increase Quotas.

Increased enlistment quotas in the Chicago area for all branches of the United States combat service, authorized by the war and navy departments, were announced here yesterday. Orders from Washington call for the enlistment this month of more than 300 recruits in the army, navy, and marine corps, in excess of the normal number.

At the same time William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, announced that he will ask the war department to authorize the enrollment of 3,000 more cadets this fall in the public high school R. O. T. C. units. The new cadets, he explained, would be enrolled at the Taft High school in Norwood Park, and the Gage and South Shore High schools. They would bring the R. O. T. C. enrollment in the Chicago high schools to more than 10,000.

Need 226 for Coast Artillery.

Capt. Leland S. Smith of the army recruiting station in the United States courthouse was ordered to recruit 226 men for the 61st coast artillery as soon as possible. This is the largest army enlistment ordered for this area since 1928, records show.

This group will be stationed at Fort Sheridan, replacing a detachment of similar size which was transferred to the Panama canal zone to strengthen defenses there. The usual army quota in Chicago is 100 new men per month, Capt. Smith said, for all branches of the service. About 100 men, now on the waiting list for army enlistment, will be given a chance to join the artillery unit.

Seek More Sailors.

The naval recruiting station here was ordered to enlist ninety-two men this month. Lieutenant Commander George B. Lyon, in charge, said the normal monthly enlistment is fifty men. The present waiting list will be exhausted when this order is fulfilled.

These men, it was reported, will be among the recruits used to man the fleet of destroyers which will patrol the Atlantic coast shores.

Col. John Marston of the marine corps said he has been authorized to recruit 200 men this month, 140 more than the usual quota.

Nine Hurt as Mystery Bomb Wrecks Denver Street Car

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7 (AP).—Nine passengers were injured today by an unexplained bomb explosion that wrecked a street car. Motorman Martin J. Windows in a house 150 feet away were shattered and a large part of the East Denver residence district was shaken. Mildred Stockwell, 16 years old, was injured most seriously.

GENTLEMAN JIM GETS THE JUMP ON HIS NEIGHBORS

Coming Out Party Is a 6 Hour Triumph.

The far-off hills are always greenest, so yesterday a kangaroo at Brookfield zoo emulated the cow that jumped over the moon. The kangaroo didn't jump quite that high, but he did clear a thirteen-foot fence and moat surrounding the kangaroo yard.

Fifty-six other kangaroos stared as Gentleman Jim loped through a gate at the southeast corner of the zoo.

And then Gentleman Jim bounded along amid automobile trafic in Ogden avenue, and finally turned off into the thick brush near the Desplaines river.

An Alarm Is Raised.

An alarm was raised and Director Edward H. Bean dispatched twenty keepers to hunt for the fugitive.

Mr. Bean, recalling that Gentleman Jim had jumped the fence last November and gone two blocks before Mr. Bean himself had tackled him, issued a statement:

"Gentleman Jim is not dangerous. He eats greens. But I advise that nobody try to box him."

A Question Answered.

The keepers came upon a group of builders working on a new house and asked:

"Have you seen a kangaroo?"

"We're strangers here ourselves," was the reply.

Six hours passed. The keeper didn't find Gentleman Jim. But Chief of Police Clarence Neuschafer of Riverside did. Tired, and cut by barbed wire, the kangaroo lay in the shade on a lawn.

The chief called the zoo. Capt. George Spiedel of the zoo police tackled Gentleman Jim while John Schmidt, assistant foreman, seized his tail. Gentleman Jim didn't offer to go a round with them. He just puffed and panted as a net was thrown over him and he was transported by truck back to the zoo.

After all, it was 100 in the shade.

COUNCIL COMMITTEE PUTS OFF WALLER'S VOTE RECOUNT PLEA

Former Ald. James B. Waller was told by the city council's judiciary committee yesterday that he must produce evidence of fraud before the ballot boxes would be opened in his recount fight over results of the 43d ward aldermanic election. Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler was declared the victor over Waller by 243 votes in the April run-off.

James B. Waller.

Arthur Sullivan, counsel for Bauler, asserted that Waller's charges were based only on information and belief. Waller asserted his right to have the ballot boxes opened declaring that their contents would show unmistakable fraud.

FINDS TAMPERING ON 150 BALLOTS IN ONE PRECINCT

Mrs. Katherine Keeler, handwriting expert, testified before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday that 150 ballots cast in the April, 1938, primary in the 54th precinct of the 24th ward bore evidence of tampering. Five judges and clerks of election are on trial, charged with contempt of court.

Mrs. Keeler said the faulty ballots showed matching indentations, indicating that other ballots in a pile received the impression of the pencil when the top ballot was marked. Crosses on other ballots, she said, were made by different hands, while in other cases the penciling was different from what it would have been had the ballots been marked on the boards in the voting booths.

ESTONIAN WOMEN HOARD LIPSTICKS, ROUGE, PERFUME

Nation May Be Forced to Ration Cosmetics.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7.—Lipsticks may be rationed shortly in Estonia unless women stop hoarding lipsticks, rouge, perfumes, and other beauty appliances.

Like other Baltic states, Estonia has an abundance of foodstuffs, and the buying epidemic was started by persons fearful that the value of the kroon will fall. They began purchasing all lipsticks and other cosmetics available.

Plenty of Food on Hand.

Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have taken strong measures against food hoarders who have withdrawn their savings and are buying quantities of salt, sugar, and candles. Following the example of the Scandinavian countries, the Baltic states a year ago began to store up foodstuffs which must be imported. All of these countries have enough supplies on hand to last for two years or more.

Naphtha products, tea, and coffee are the only products being rationed in these countries.

Germany is accepting goods which the Baltic states formerly exported to England. Steamship communication between the Baltic states and German ports is being maintained.

Export Dairy Products.

The chief exports of these countries are dairy and meat products, timber, flax and other goods required by Germany.

Germany has assured the Baltic and Scandinavian governments of her intention to respect their neutrality. British and French diplomatic representatives visited the Baltic governments today and formally announced a state of war with Germany. The British and French were informed the Baltic states intend to remain neutral.

WOMAN PLUNGES TO DEATH FROM UPTOWN BUILDING

A woman about 50 years old, identified as Lucille Minhard, leaped to her death late yesterday from a window on the tenth floor of the Uptown Bank building, Broadway and Lawrence avenue. There were 80 cents and an empty whisky bottle in her purse.

Detective Clarence Sweeney of Town Hall station said the woman had worked, until two weeks, ago, as a housekeeper for Harry Stayart, 3758 Fremont avenue, a news agent. At that time Stayart dismissed her, Sweeney learned, and moved away.

A note on the paper in which the whisky bottle was wrapped, said, "I had to drink this to give me courage to do what I am doing. God knows I am not a drunkard." The body landed on a fifth floor setback on the east side of the building.

GIVE YOUR MOTOR A CHANCE to surprise you

ARE you disturbed . . . perhaps even disgusted . . . by the way your motor is running? Then read these facts:

You probably have just had your vacation, which was anything but that for your car. You drove it more miles in less time, and with less care, than usual. Hence it is likely the engine has more carbon in it . . . has less pep . . . is noisier . . . and less responsive.

So right now is the perfect time to try Phillips 66 Poly Gas, the high test, high energy, custom-tailored motor fuel, which costs nothing extra! You should feel that difference with your very first trial tankful—added power, pep, pick-up, and mileage.

Remember, the Phillips 66 Poly Gas you buy today isn't merely another Summer gasoline. It is actually a September gas, more accurately custom-tailored than any other gasoline. Matched and re-matched to the climate in your locality, every month in the year. And there is hardly a day in 365, when its high test rating and anti-knock value are not unsurpassed in its field.

Why not find out the facts personally? Why not give your motor a chance to surprise you? September Phillips 66 Poly Gas is waiting for you now at every Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Phill-up with Phillips for Greater Mileage

Don't be fooled by the Trousers!

SHE may think she looks masculine—but there's a view from the southeast that gives her dead away. For no matter what clothes they wear or magazines they're said to read, few people ever have any trouble telling men and women apart. They remain different—not only in contour but in mind, temper, mood.

• Women sing lullabies—and men spar masterfully with their cradled sons. Men invent 90-horsepower motors—women fix things with hairpins. Women get lipstick on napkins, men mess up ashtrays with dottle from their pipes. Women prize the hair on their heads and men the hair on their chests and these natural differences baffle, exasperate—and enchant them both.

• So with reading for entertainment—women like moonlight; men go for mackinaws. Men want tales of sinew and adventure ("Death on the Range," "Riptide," "Plug Ugly Jones"). Women want stories of love ("Pan's Wife," "Another Woman," "Dance, Little Lady," from the October Journal). Women are interested in problems of living that frequently shock men. Men prefer politics and business, which often make women yawn.

• All of which explains why more people buy the Journal and the 3 other leading women's magazines than buy any other comparable group of magazines in America—more than half a million more than buy the 4 leading weekly magazines . . . why the Journal alone has attracted 500,000 new buyers in the last four years. Why the Journal has sold out on the newsstands for the past two months!

• For the fact is that you may interest both men and women some of the time. Or you may concentrate and please women ALL the time. The Journal chooses to concentrate. That is why women who leaf through many magazines give the Journal intent readership and complete confidence. Why the Journal enters the inner circle of women's lives.

• If you make or advertise something women want, maybe you'd better heed this fundamental "difference"—concentrate your efforts in the pages of the Journal where women's full-time, undivided interest lies.

AMERICAN REDS PAID BY MOSCOW, COMMITTEE TOLD

Receive $100,000 Yearly, Ex-Party Chief Says.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 [Special]. —Ben Gitlow, general secretary of the communist party from 1922 to 1929, today told the house committee investigating un-American activities that during that period the party received between $100,000 and $150,000 a year from the communist internationale in Moscow.

Ben Gitlow. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Gitlow added that the party organization and activities convince him that the subsidies still are being paid. Rhea Whitley, committee counsel, said later witnesses would present evidence to this effect.

In the early years, Gitlow said, the aid came in the form of diamonds and other jewels because dollar exchange was not available in Russia. Later it was sent in cash by courier or cable, he added.

Browder Denies Receiving Cash.

Earl Browder, secretary of the communist party and its national head in America, yesterday told the committee that the party had not received a cent from any foreign sources since he became its general secretary in 1930. He took the secretaryship eighteen months after Gitlow was expelled from the party because of his objection to the communist line of action.

Gitlow, a former New York state Socialist assemblyman who twice was communist candidate for Vice President after he shifted allegiance to the communists, said his break with the party came because of conviction that communism had become a permanent dictatorship.

Presenting documents to support much of his testimony, Gitlow said the party was subsidized from Russia in various ways and for various purposes while he was associated with it.

Tells of Subsidy for Paper.

Another fruitful source of party funds during this period, he added, was the diversion of cash from the treasuries of communist controled unions, coöperatives and corporations and communist dominated "front" organizations.

When the party's official organ, the Daily Worker, was established in 1924, he said, it received a $35,000 subsidy from the communist internationale, a subsidy which was repeated annually while he remained in the party.

When John Brophy, now executive director of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, was attempting to succeed John L. Lewis as president of the United Mine Workers union in the 1920s, Gitlow added, the internationale, through the American party, supplied all the money for his campaign.

Refers to National Conventions.

Later, he said, when the communist party was trying to wreck the mine workers and take its membership into a communist controled union, the internationale sent over $100,000 which was spent by communist leaders in aiding the drive.

When the communists were seeking to organize a national labor party in the 1920's the witness continued, money from the communist internationale, distributed by party leaders, paid the expense of two national conventions and of Farmer-Labor and other delegates who attended them.

Referring to diversion of funds to the party from other communist dominated groups, Gitlow said that every cent of a $1,000,000 fund raised here in 1922 by the friends of soviet Russia for Russian famine relief found its way into the treasuries of the communist parties in this and other countries after it had been sent to France, ostensibly bound for Russia.

Coöperatives and corporations in New York which were under communist control were bankrupted with large losses to creditors by diversion of their funds in some cases, the witness said.

"The party justifies any kind of a crime which aids the cause," he said.

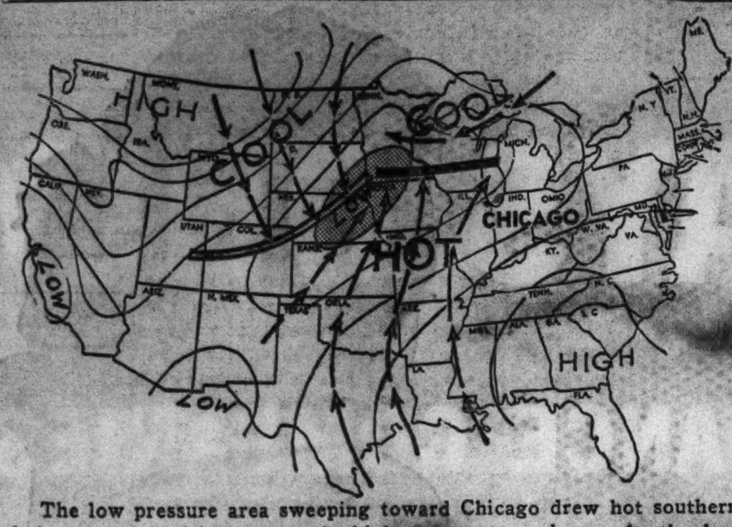
Why Heat Wave Struck Chicago



The low pressure area sweeping toward Chicago drew hot southern winds upward, causing extremely high temperatures here. As the low pressure area moves eastward cooling winds follow from the north and northwest. They are expected to bring cooler weather today.

Expect Relief Today

Relief from the heat wave that sent the mercury to an all time September high of 100 yesterday afternoon is to arrive in Chicago late today, according to the weather bureau. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that fresh northwest winds, probably accompanied by showers, would bring much cooler weather.

Until yesterday the September maximum temperature was 98 degrees, reached on the 5th in 1889. The new record made the day the hottest since July 10, 1936, when 102 was recorded. On only 20 days in 68 years has the temperature been 100 or above. Previously the warmest 1939 day was July 13, when it was 98.

The heat was brought in by high winds, often reaching 20 miles an hour, from the southwest.

WISCONSIN DROPS ITS SUIT AGAINST DAIRY FARMER

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7 [Special].—The state department of agriculture and markets today dropped its suit against William Rohan, Kaukauna farmer and former legislator, for violating the Wisconsin fluid milk control law by selling milk on his farm for about half the 10 cents a quart rate fixed by the department.

In announcing that the state would not appear against Rohan, at his trial scheduled for tomorrow at Appleton, the department said it learned that Rohan was distributing only a negligible quantity of milk and the expense of a trial is not warranted. It added that the state is not satisfied the issues in the case are bona fide.

Charges of violating the state milk price fixing law are still pending against Walter Klilzke of Appleton and Joseph Lemberger of Two Rivers. The department had to cut the price in the Two Rivers area from 10 to 8 cents because of the public's response to Lemberger's offer to sell milk at his farm for 5 cents a quart. He said he was selling 1,200 quarts of milk a day.

NASH TO CLOSE 2 PLANTS; C. I. O. STRIKE BLAMED

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 7 [Special]. —Because of the C. I. O. strike at the Bendix corporation here, officials of the Nash Motors company announced today they would close their Milwaukee and Kenosha plants at the end of the day's work. The two plants employ a total of 6,300 men.

Lack of brake parts manufactured by Bendix for Nash cars brought about the action. A similar stoppage of supplies yesterday compelled the Packard Motor Car company to lay off 11,000 employés.

Meantime the deadlock in the strike of 3,000 employés of Bendix continued despite efforts of Federal Conciliator M. E. Sherman. The strike was called last Thursday in an attempt to enforce demands for a new wage contract.

RETAILERS URGE NOV. 23 AS DATE OF THANKSGIVING

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations yesterday asked Gov. Horner to proclaim Nov. 23 as Thanksgiving day.

The request, in line with President Roosevelt's recent proclamation, was made in a letter by Joseph Speiss of Elgin, president of the association. Speiss said the change would provide an extra shopping week between Thanksgiving and Christmas and would benefit employment, manufacturers, and customers.

Some 20,000 Illinois merchants are affiliated in the group, which has its headquarters at 20 North Wacker drive.

CASSIDY CLEARS UP HIS RULING ON RELIEF FLOATERS

Forbids Use of Funds, but Urges Private Aid.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy yesterday clarified an opinion he gave recently on the new three year residence law for reliefers. He ruled that public relief funds may not, under any circumstances, be used for the relief of indigent persons who do not qualify under the new law. Attorneys and relief officials here had been puzzled by what they said appeared to be a contradiction in one of several opinions Cassidy had given at the request of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

The law states that an applicant for relief must have resided in the community in which he makes application for at least three consecutive years prior to his request for aid.

An Example Is Cited.

One of the questions the relief commission asked was this:

"X arrived in Chicago on July 1, 1936, from Indiana, where had always resided. He lived in Chicago for 18 months and then moved to Capitol township [Springfield] where he resided for 18 more months. At the end of this three year period he applied for relief in Capitol township. Is he eligible for assistance? Is there a duty in this situation for Capitol township to care for him? If not, may it issue assistance?"

Cassidy replied that "X is not eligible for assistance, either from Capitol township or the city of Chicago. However, the attorney general added the following: "In this situation there is only the humanitarian duty of Capitol township to not let him or his family starve or die for want of clothing and shelter."

Nullification of Law Seen.

Relief officials and others said this seemed to mean that, while such a person was ineligible for relief, he should be given relief anyway as a "humanitarian duty," thus nullifying the law.

Cassidy said yesterday his opinion had been misinterpreted by those who placed this construction on his words. He said he did not mean that local overseers of the poor can spend public money on ineligible indigents.

"The statement was merely a suggestion to overseers that they do whatever possible to secure private aid for the ineligible indigents," Cassidy said.

Fulton County's Last Civil War Veteran Is Dead at 94

3 ARE REINSTATED TO POLICE FORCE AFTER JAILBREAK

Three policemen who were suspended for allowing three prisoners to escape from the county jail on Aug. 10 were reinstated by Commissioner Allman yesterday. The policemen, William Castleberry, Edward Solofski, and Nicholas Hrdalo, suffer loss of pay for the period of their suspension. They were acquitted by the police trial board on the ground of insufficient evidence. The prisoners, Joseph Salecki, Peter Dutkiewicz, and Stanley Puzio, escaped from a witness room.

ON THE WESTERN FRONT.

Speculation regarding Hitler's plans can and does include the idea that he still hopes to avoid a general war although a war of four countries is now on. It has been apparent to all observers that Germany is trying to ignore the western scene of action. The German radio tells the people that all is quiet there. The first four days of the conflict in the west apparently brought no air raids on Paris or London such as had been expected to distinguish the early phases of the new strategy of lightning war.

There are reports of war at sea. Although the Germans deny that a submarine sank the Athenia, that denial is not believed; but there nevertheless is a disavowal and except for this attack upon the passenger boat there has been little or none of the striking operations which Hitler was expected to undertake at once.

Italy has remained neutral for reasons about which there also has been much speculation and it is reported that Mussolini is seeking to bring the belligerents to the acceptance of an armistice in the hope of a negotiated peace. The known German army operations have been confined to Poland where the concentration of superior equipment, swiftly maneuvered in conditions favorable to it, has resulted in battles of extremely rapid movement.

It would seem from these and other events noted in the day by day reports that the Nazis still hope they can localize the war on the Polish front and if the Poles ask for peace can then somehow or other avoid turning the fighting to the west. From the evidence it probably can be reasoned that this is the German plan. It would assume that conditions had been changed by the war in Poland and that peace negotiations reasonably could take notice of them and proceed upon the basis of new facts. The theory of war is that it is a resort to force when other means of settlement have been exhausted, or when they have been rejected, and that belligerents readjust their proposals to whatever may be the changes in circumstances.

If Hitler is counting upon such probabilities he is overlooking the fact that Mr. Chamberlain told the British people that they were not fighting for the city of Danzig or the Polish corridor but were fighting a man whose ambitions were too dangerous to be ignored. His ambitions and his manner of satisfying them, said Mr. Chamberlain, had become intolerable; therefore the British and their allies, the French, were determined to have it out with him now and to a finish. That would seem to dispose of the idea that a quick and serious impairment of Polish resistance or even of an enforced peace accomplished within the next few weeks could stop the war already testing out the defenses in the west which were supposed to be unbreakable.

If the overthrow of Hitler is the British and French war aim, the fighting then must go on until a decision has been reached. The further spread of the war probably depends upon what happens to Hitler's expectations. That other nations will be drawn into a continued war between Germany and France and Great Britain is to be expected. The Italian people, who undoubtedly want to remain out, might be sent in by Mussolini's commitments. That would bring in Turkey on the allied side if the undertakings of the Turkish government are honored. The thought and prospect of the prolonged period of a greater war must still fill many people with the hope that some miracle can yet occur although it seems to be a hope of the faintest kind imaginable.

AROUND THE CLOCK.

From last Saturday afternoon until mid-morning on Labor day the editorial, mechanical, and circulation stafs of THE TRIBUNE were continuously engaged in producing and distributing newspapers giving the latest news of the outbreak of the European war. During this period, for the first time in its history, THE TRIBUNE published around the clock.

In addition to the usual tasks of publishing regular editions, made heavier by frequent revisions to incorporate the latest news, this around the clock publication involved two special tasks of major proportions. The British declaration of war did not come until 5:15 a. m. on Sunday, after the regular final edition had already been started through circulation channels.

In addition to supplying extra copies containing the actual war declaration to newsstands, the circulation department rushed copies to distributors and, in many instances, overhauled carriers on the streets to substitute revised copies of the main news section for that previously printed. That TRIBUNE subscribers might have up to the minute news at their breakfast tables, more than 150,000 copies were thus replaced after 6 a. m.

The second extra task was the preparation and distribution of war extras containing, with other fresh information, the news of the French entry into the war. These extras were sent to press soon after the last Sunday editions cleared the presses. These were circulated not only in Chicago but in territory within a three hundred mile radius of the city.

We are betraying no trade secrets when we say that such extra editions are not profitable. The heavy expense involved in preparing them exceeds by far the return from them. They were printed as a service to the public. The editors of THE TRIBUNE felt that since its readers depend upon this newspaper for news every morning of the year, they were entitled to this extra service during the Sunday period when normally no newspapers, morning or afternoon, are printed.

THE TRIBUNE would have been unable to render this service if it had not been a profitable enterprise, and if a substantial proportion of its profits for many years had not been ploughed back into the business in the purchase of the most modern equipment, which proved more than adequate to meet the additional demands placed on it.

Neither would the achievement have been possible had not THE TRIBUNE also made it its policy for decades to employ in all departments the best executives and craftsmen it could find, and to pay them what their superior talents are worth. Arrangements had been made beforehand to get extra help in the departments where it was necessary. These arrangements, it developed, were in many instances unnecessary. As soon as they learned that the extra editions would be printed, a large number of employés reported for work without being summoned.

In times of rapidly developing news, we are convinced, there is no substitute for the newspaper, which alone can organize and illustrate the news and present it on the printed page for study and digestion at leisure. The net paid circulation of THE TRIBUNE on Monday, more than 1,400,000 copies of extra and regular editions, confirms that conviction.

THE ROARING MARKETS.

The war boom is on. Stocks of some companies whose business might increase as a result of the war have gone up as much as 100 per cent since last Friday morning. Common stock of Armour & Co., with a basement full of meat farmers have pressed for sale at receding prices in recent weeks, has more than doubled. Bethlehem Steel common, choicest war bride of 1916, has advanced 55 to 85 and closed last night above 80. Sales on the New York Stock exchange nearly reached 6 million shares on Tuesday, compared with the recent half million share standard.

The commodities have performed just as sensationally. Wheat and corn could not be traded in for several days this week, because there is a limit on the daily change in price and no one was willing to sell as cheaply as the maximum price permitted. Sugar has gone up 25 points —the limit—on four successive days. In the hides, rubber, coco, and other commodity markets similar conditions exist. There has been a determination of many people to buy goods, regardless of cost.

All this may mean that the United States is immediately to enjoy marked business improvement as a result of the war. It should be pointed out that this was not the immediate sequence last time. The wholesale price index of the bureau of labor statistics stood at 70 in August, 1914, the month of the outbreak of the last war. At the end of that year it was 67, and it did not go above 70 again until November of the next year. The farm price index for August, 1913, was 72, a figure which was not exceeded until December, 1915. Cotton actually fell from $62.50 a bale in July, 1914, to $36.20 at the end of the year.

The last war's outbreak was bearish, not bullish, on stocks. Steel common did not reach the July, 1914, level again until the middle of 1915. [The stock market was closed from July 30 to Dec. 12.] Business in the United States received a mighty stimulus from war orders, but it was after the war had been in progress for more than a year.

A war, if it wasn't our own, could have stimulated business much more in 1914 than one can now, for the reason that we make much of the stuff nations need to fight with, and in 1914 we sold freely to all comers in war and peace. The neutrality act now prohibits the sale of armaments in wartime to belligerents.

Furthermore, the last war came upon the world without warning. The allies at least hadn't stocked up for it. This time, the war has been expected for at least a year, and the preparations have been prosecuted with the knowledge that one of the principal sources of armaments was going to be closed as soon as the war was declared. The rise in American stocks and commodity prices noted during the last few days does seem a bit premature if it is based upon the trade we are going to get from the participants in the present war.

True, there is a domestic angle to consider. Both the stores and manufacturers have been carrying light inventories. There is probably several billion dollars' worth of orders here at home, if the stiffening of prices leads to a general stocking up, say to the 1937 level.

Then there is business among the neutrals to whom Germany used to sell. Transfer here of orders from South America and Japan in particular will be a strengthening factor during the ensuing months, but it is doubtful that the industries most to be helped by this business are the ones represented by the leading performers on the stock exchange.

We wouldn't like to discourage any one from trying to make an honest dollar. But a word of caution does not seem out of place, when so little discrimination is being shown by those who are anxious to be cut in on the war business. In the boom there has even been plunging in stocks of companies with branch plants exposed to bombing planes.

Editorial of the Day

NON-HATS.

[Peoria (Ill.) Journal Transcript.]

Language fails in masculine efforts to describe what women still persist in calling their hats. Doughnuts, pancakes, pillboxes, frying pans, saucepans, topknots, buns, pretzels, saucers, mushrooms, acorns, cabbages, turnips, cauliflowers, onions, pies, fruitcakes, perverted posies, sunflowers, squashes, artificial forelocks—O, we give it up! And they're worn anywhere from the forehead, where they may effectively conceal the right eye, to a furtive position behind the left ear.

The worst of it is, a man can't tell whether this weird outbreak shows that women really have a sense of humor or no humor whatever. That's one of the things no fellow can find out.

The pity of it is, from the masculine viewpoint, that so many women otherwise clothed with dignity and charm should spoil it all by making comic cartoons of themselves. Now, you take men—but perhaps we'd better not go into that.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

A CITATION OF HONOR.

Chicago Public library, front and center!

For unique and extraordinary service in your daily duties to this community, on the authorization of Miss Mildred Burke, chief of the Tribune's library staff, we award you the Order of the Book Beagle, with three stars. The circumstances under which this decoration, highest honor in your profession, was won are set down in the accompanying scroll:

On Saturday, Sept. 2, 1939, the CHICAGO TRIBUNE instituted a search for a map of the city of Warsaw in Poland, now under aerial bombardment. Twenty-five books and atlases in its own library were examined without result. We then tried the Polish consulate, the Polish-American newspapers, the Polish steamship lines, the University of Chicago library, the Newberry library, and travel agencies such as Cook's, Raymond-Whitcomb, and Clara Laughlin's. This quest died on every trail.

In the meantime the Chicago Public library was also working, at our request. Its employés scanned indexes and shelves for hours; they carried the hunt into branch libraries in Polish-American districts, and even into the homes of prominent Polish-American citizens. At long last, Eureka! They found the much-sought-for map, marking all prominent streets and public buildings in Warsaw, in volume 12 of the Lexicon-Meyers, a German encyclopædia [Leipzig, 1924-'33; 15 volumes]. Thus THE TRIBUNE was able to give its readers a graphic representation of Warsaw in its Sunday editions of Sept. 3.

The Order of the Book Beagle, with three stars, is to be worn on all formal and ceremonial occasions by Carl B. Roden. [Nice going, Carl.]

GRADUATE, 1939.

Starlight of hope still lit his boyish face
Although his words were grave and hesitant:
"I have not found as yet a single trace
Of work. I know. . . ." (his type does not recant)
"There is a job for me somewhere, if I Continue with my search. Many have won."
Then feigning levity stopped his reply
With, "Maybe on my shoulder bear a gun."

Whistling he left and was so unaware
I watched him till he vanished out of sight,
And that so closely followed him a prayer
Against the stealthy darkness of the night,
"God, make for us a way of work for all
That knows no compromise with bugle call."

THE LAST—OF SUMMER.

You can garner the summer's wheat harvest,
You can shuck the last nubbin of corn,
And pick the last ruddy cheeked apple,
And pluck the last rose from its thorn.

But there's one thing you cannot accomplish,
No matter how hard you may try—
No matter how watchful and nimble,
You never can swat the last fly.

Memories of Summer Winds.

This has been a windy summer; not only the usual south and southwest winds, but north and northwest winds also. One nor'easter penetrated to our middle west.

The wind shows us lovely things. It stirs the leaves of my poplar tree, turning out their shiny linings. Quivering, they spill bright silver coins into the sunny air. High up, a breeze lays the leaves of an elm branch against sky blue in a richly gleaming brocade. The willow spreads her flowing draperies and bows to the magnolia oak by the wall. A shower and by the vine framed casement we see rain drops threaded on a leaf: beads the wind tells in its grief.

Almost fall! Soon we shall hear a cold and lonely wind muttering through dry leaves, as it reluctantly drives gracious summer from our sight.

THE FLYERS OF PEACE.

Bold squadrons wing across the sky,
A moment's blackout of the sun!
We hear a honking siren cry—
Then drifting slowly, one by one
Stray feathers fall from weary geese,
Our field gray messengers of peace.

AGING OF THE COLON WALL.

ALONG about middle life most of us will observe a number of physical changes. The hair begins to turn gray, the skin becomes less elastic, the chest wall a bit firmer and more rigid. These are signs of ripening rather than decay. They inform us that we have reached the age when some of the antics of youth may well be omitted and—while exercise is desirable—it should not be strenuous.

In the intestine, particularly, some curious phenomena may occur. In a routine X-ray examination in a person 50 years old, for example, it is quite common to find that the colon has developed several sac-like protuberances which vary in size from a pinhead to a marble. They are outpocketings of the wall of the structure and, as a rule, produce no symptoms. Only about 20 per cent of all possessors will be aware of their existence even in minor degree. Of these, but few will face serious distress. They may be disregarded by most of us.

Just why these pouches form is not clear. It may be that constipation has something to do with their origin, or that the tube weakens at the point where a tiny blood vessel passes through. They need not be regarded with any more concern than the appendix—perhaps not as much—even though they are sizable.

But—like the appendix—should these blind excrescences become filled with infected material which is undergoing putrefaction, we may experience some discomfort—even pain. Within a day or two the sac will empty and the inflammation quiet down. Should these episodes be repeated at fairly frequent intervals there may come a time when swelling will close the outlet—whereupon the situation may be likened to an abscess.

Should there be an excessive amount of abdominal soreness low down on the left side, it is well to find out what is going on. Occasionally the disturbance will be described as a dull ache, while others will complain of cramps. Now and then the malady is confused with appendicitis, but the location will serve to differentiate the two conditions. Sometimes—if the lesions are numerous—there is a marked diarrhea with some fever, nausea, and vomiting.

Even though diverticuli are noted on an X-ray film—if there are no symptoms—it is perfectly safe to say that they may be ignored. It is always wise, however, to avoid constipation and foods that are likely to prove irritating. A balanced but bland diet, one that does not contain too much fiber, is of value. If constipation cannot be remedied by water drinking before breakfast and by reasonable attention to the meals, mineral oil may be employed.

If soreness is acute, heat applied to the lower portion of the abdomen is useful and a hot water bottle or electric heating pad is an effective aid. Many physicians find that belladonna is beneficial in relaxing intestinal spasm. Other maneuvers consist in injecting warm, sterile olive oil or cod liver oil into the rectum and allowing it to remain there over night. In fact, some of the same precautions used in the management of colitis are employed.

Only in unusual cases will surgery be demanded. If a swollen, sizable mass presses upon the intestine sufficiently to cause obstruction, and if irrigations do not bring relief, it may be necessary to stop all food and administer fluids directly into a vein. A day or two later—if no improvement ensues—an artificial opening into the lower bowel may be made. This is maintained until the irritation has subsided so that the contents may pass normally.

Just as the skin, the hair, and the joints are to be favored a little more when we enter the fifth decade, so the colon may require kindly treatment. Instead of gorging it with fuel, expecting it to handle more rather than less, we may, with profit, eat only what we can burn easily. Some modification of one's menu may be helpful.

DROPPED STOMACH.

T. L. writes: I have heard that a periscope is of great help in diagnosing abdominal troubles. Do you think it would show the cause of a dropped stomach?

REPLY.

A periscope is an instrument designed to afford a "look around." The observer is hidden—as a rule. One can see over a fence, a transom, or even across the waves from a submerged vessel. Perhaps you mean a fluoroscope, which is part of an X-ray equipment. This enables the expert to visualize the outlines of the stomach, intestines, etc. A dropped stomach rarely is a serious matter. The organ can function in almost any position.

BUTTERMILK.

J. P. writes:

1. I have heard recently that farmers used to put buttermilk into a can to eat the rust out. If buttermilk can do this, why is it not injurious to the human body?

2. What is the name of the germ that is produced by buttermilk, which, I understand, is beneficial.

REPLY.

1. In the first place, we are not rusty. Buttermilk contains lactic acid, which is not injurious to the system. On the contrary, it retards the growth of many disease producing bacteria.

2. You evidently have in mind the organism known as the lactic acid bacillus. This is not produced by buttermilk. However, when it is allowed to grow in sweet milk, it will curdle the fluid.

MISERY HERE AT HOME.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—War engages the press and the minds of the American people. We seem to have a very deep interest in European affairs whilst we shamefully ignore the miseries and needs ot our own people. I refer, in particular, to the terrible plight of our Chicago citizens who are forced to seek aid from the Chicago Relief administration. They are now receiving 65 per cent of their estimated needs. Thousands of children are returning to school ill-nourished, ill-clothed, and many in ill health.

Meanwhile our governor and legislators turn a deaf ear to their painful cries. All kinds of promises have been given, but the same condition prevails—dire want in the midst of plenty. The staffs in the many relief stations have not been decreased. They are all political appointees and, of course, their sponsors keep them at work while the people suffer. A DISGUSTED CHICAGOAN.

THE "I WILL" GIRL.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Whenever a civic project is undertaken we are reminded of the "I will" spirit of Chicago. The frequent repetition of this makes one wonder about its origin. My teachers taught me that the use of "will" as a verb of the future tense for the first person is improper and that "shall" is correct, that the city spirit should be "I shall."

If I am wrong about the use of "will" and "shall," some one please correct me. If I am not wrong won't some one please correct the Chicago spirit?

ALBERT ZALON.

["I will" is correct if the purpose is to indicate determination and the usual pictures of the "Chicago spirit" give her a countenance marked by such determination.]

URGES EVERY ONE TO READ.

Long Lake, Ill., Sept. 4.—Col. Robert R. McCormick's address printed in today's TRIBUNE should be printed in the paper every day until every man, woman, and child of reading age gets it. Especially should it go to city, county, state, and national officials. It is a relief to read it from the editor of so large a daily paper. May his paper continue on the same lines. Keep the United States out of this new war and out of every war. EMMA L. LEE.

AUDIT FOR UNIONS' BOOKS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Union books should be audited periodically. Honest labor leaders interested in the welfare of the rank and file members would not object to this. Honest audits are feared only by those union leaders who are racketeers. No union dictator has ever been able to give a good reason, or even a plausible reason, why union books should not be audited and every cent accounted for. Union audits should be required by law. C. R. N.

EX-SERVICE MAN'S PLIGHT.

Broadland, S. D., Aug. 30.—I am an ex cirves man and I served in the First Div in the 2nd M. G. Batl. and I am crippled in my right hand I have a sickley wife and four children one girl 15 and one 13, 2 boys 11 and 8 and all we get is county ade witch is not very much.

I would like to know if there is not a way I would get a Government pension I have tryed but it dose not seem like I can get any.

I got my hand pinched and blood poison set in I was in a Hostpial 2 mo. and they cut it in 17 different playseces the hand and wrist is stiff cannot shut it or use it at all. Do you know of any way I could get any Government help as we are very poor people. LOUIS H. ORN.

I got my hand hurt march 12, 1934.

ONE NOTION OF NEUTRALITY.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Neutrality does not interfere with our right to do business when, how, and as we please.

Neutrality does not give any other nation the right to dictate to us as to where we may sell goods or on what terms.

If we prefer to sell goods to people we like, that is our business. If we refuse to sell to people we don't like, that is still our business.

If any nation cries out in wrath, "This is an act of war," let us politely make answer, "What are you going to do about it?"

[THE REV.] W. B. MILLARD.

SHEPHERDS OF THEIR FLOCKS.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—More than once there have been brought to my notice instances among pastors of colored churches not only of zeal in giving help to an afflicted parishioner, but also good church organization, which added to the zeal brings prompt results. Negro churches appear to be of real worth. One wonders if they are rightly evaluated.

KATHERINE POPE.

SPEAKING FOR POLAND.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—In reply to the letter from Marceline Duvall about the Polish corridor: The corridor belonged to Poland before it was partitioned in the 18th century; therefore after the world war Poland received only what was rightfully its own land. Danzig was given to the Teutonic knights in the 13th century to appease them just as Czecho-Slovakia was given to Hitler to appease him, a policy which failed to serve its purpose in both cases.

As to why the Poles took a slice of Czecho-Slovakia last September:

In 1921 when the Poles were fighting with the bolsheviks, the Czechs took advantage of the situation to take Teschen away from the Poles. So, as before, the Poles took back only what rightfully belonged to them. FRANK M. PROCHOT.

WHAT WOULD GERMANY HAVE DONE?

Chicago, Sept. 6.—In numerous editorials you have criticized the peace treaty of Versailles. Is it your opinion that Germany, having started a war after fifty years of bullying and blustering, having wantonly devastated half of Europe, having introduced poison gas, torpedoing of passenger boats and bombing of noncombatants, should have been given a bouquet and a kiss on the cheek as a reward for its conduct? And tell me further, what do you think the Germans would have done if they had been victorious? S. J.

PRICES IN THE PARKS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Are the Chicago public parks for our poor people?

Why should the park concessionaire not allow 5 cent ice cream bars to be sold in the parks? Why not 5 cent bags of peanuts?

Why do you have to pay 20 cents for a package of cigarets in Jackson park? Is this doing anything for our poor people? F. B. M.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

The 7th Day, Aug. 3, 1914.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—The first sea battle of the war was fought between the German and Russian fleets, and resulted in the Russians being driven back from the North sea to the Gulf of Finland.

BERLIN—French soldiers crossed the frontier of Germany in the Vosges mountains. Shots were fired on a German post. German troops, after a short battle with the Russians, invaded Russian Poland and captured Czestochowa, Bendzin, and Kalisz.

LONDON—Great Britain has mobilized her armed forces. The government has assured France that Britain will not permit the German fleet to attack the French coast. It has not pledged itself to contribute an army to the continental war.

WASHINGTON—More than a billion dollars in currency is to be added to the country's money circulation, by action of congress today, to meet the situation resulting from the European crisis.

PARIS—France is placed under martial law; troops are massed on the frontier. Airplanes guard Paris. A number of Americans have offered to enlist, and a corps of foreign nationals is suggested.

DOG NUISANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 29 [Friend of the People].—A neighbor has a dog that causes me no end of displeasure. This animal at frequent intervals leaves my porch in an insanitary condition. I have appealed to this family to correct the nuisance but instead of the matter being adjusted I have been insulted. It is extremely unpleasant both to the trades people and myself to come in contact with this filth. Can something be done to stop this nuisance? L. S.

The officers assigned to investigate report that they interviewed the owner of the dog in question and warned him about leaving his dog run at large; they cautioned him that if he persists in letting the dog run at large and permitting it to be a nuisance to his neighbors it would result in him being taken into court. He promised that he would do everything possible to eliminate further cause for complaint. The officers also issued summons to the dog owner for violation of section 3955 C. C. [no dog license] and made same returnable to court. This complaint will be given further attention.

ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, Aug. 29 [Legal Friend of the People].—My husband has a safety box at the bank in his name only. It contains our property deed, paid up life insurance policies, jewelry and bonus cash.

1. At his death will the box be closed? If so, for how long?

2. Will I have any trouble getting the money?

3. Should he sign them? I am his only heir. He has a savings account at the bank in his name.

4. How long would it take me to get it after his death?

5. He has a will leaving all personal and real estate to me. J. E.

1. Yes, long enough for an inheritance tax examination.

2. You do not make clear whether it is in cash or in some other form.

3. We cannot advise without having the facts more clearly before us.

4. The bank could insist on probate. The best way to ascertain their attitude would be to take the matter up with them.

5. This would not affect the necessity for probate.

Up to Date Color Map of Poland and Its Departments—Save It and Follow the War on Eastern Front

Tribune readers are urged to preserve this color map of Poland and use it to follow the progress of the war. The map shows Poland as it was before the Germans started their invasion. Now the Nazi armies are driving deeper into the country, and towns shown on this map are constantly appearing in news dispatches. Many points in the northern, western, and southwestern parts of Poland are already in German hands. The Polish government has fled from the old capital — Warsaw. The different colors distinguish the various departments, or provinces, of the nation.

G. A. THORNE JR. DIES IN AIRPLANE ACCIDENT IN EAST

Machine Crashes, Burns on Summer Estate.

George A. Thorne Jr., a grandson of one of the founders of Montgomery Ward & Co., was killed yesterday in an airplane crash near his summer home at Harrisville, N. H. Thorne's Stinson airplane was reported to have crashed through some undetermined cause into a woodland about 100 yards from a house on the Thorne summer estate. The plane then burst into flames and set fire to the woods. Firemen were called from Harrisville, but they were unable to remove Thorne's body until the wreckage cooled.

George A. Thorne Jr.

Aviation Fan for 15 Years.

Besides his widowed mother, Thorne's immediate relatives are four sisters, Mrs. L. T. Bovingdon, Mrs. Guthrie Shaw, Mrs. William D. Horne, and Mrs. Robb Sagendorph, and a brother, Bruce. Thorne, who was 37 years old, was divorced from his wife, the former Mrs. Elinor S. Toerge of New York, in Reno in 1935. His Chicago home was at 1130 Lake Shore drive.

Thorne, known to his intimates as Mike, has been an aviation enthusiast for about fifteen years. In 1932 he and John P. Porter and Ralph N. Isham, Chicago sportsmen, made a fishing trip to Canada and Alaska by air.

Member of Byrd Expedition.

Eleven years ago, young Thorne was a member of the Byrd antarctic expedition, and members of his family said he had been planning to go with Byrd's expedition again this fall. He had two years of scientific training in forestry at Yale, from which he was graduated in 1926, and went to New York before the Byrd expedition to take special work in map drawing.

Thorne's father, George A. Thorne Sr., was an executive of the mail order house for many years. His grandfather was George R. Thorne, one of the company's founders. George A. Thorne Sr. died in 1928, a few months before the start of his son's trip with Byrd.

Charitable bequests totaling $33,500 and provision for a fund from which worthy elementary school teachers may borrow up to $100 without interest are included in the will of Edward J. Glackin which was admitted to probate yesterday. The will disposes of an estate of $135,000.

Mr. Glackin, who died June 15 in his home at 10600 South Seeley avenue, was a member of the school board from 1904 until 1926 and for many years was secretary of the board of local improvements.

The will provides trust funds of $2,500 each to the Elementary Teachers' union and the Teachers' Federation of Chicago, in addition to the loan fund; $15,000 fund for the Little Sisters of the Poor for holiday dinners for dependents; $4,000 to Cardinal Mundelein for the education of a candidate for the priesthood at Mundelein seminary; $3,000 in trust to the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium; $2,500 for establishment of the Edward J. Glackin playground, and $4,000 for a library and a portrait of Mr. Glackin's late wife for the Anna F. Glackin public school.

In addition, $5,000 is provided for writing a biography of Mr. and Mrs. Glackin and his mother, Mary. A sister, Mrs. Susan Heise of Berkeley, Cal., and four nieces are to share the remainder of the estate.

TWO PARK POLICE GET $50 FINES ON COUPLE'S CHARGE

Two park district policemen, Samuel Blake, 1750 Henderson street, and Francis Walker, 3746 Fremont street, were fined $50 each yesterday by Judge Mathew D. Hartigan in Town Hall court for molesting a young couple in Lincoln park. Robert Bode, 437 Deming place, accused with them, was fined $25. Hearing on a motion to vacate fines was set for next Thursday.

Arnold Reetz, a clerk at the Children's Memorial hospital, said he was sitting in the park Monday night with Miss Harriet Stevens, a student nurse at the hospital, when three men, all in civilian clothes, approached. He said one of them, later identified as Blake, tried to question them, then pressed a revolver against his ribs. Miss Stevens fled and called police.

The two policemen have been suspended. Blaine Hoover, secretary of the park district civil service board, said charges of conduct unbecoming a police officer will be filed against them.

Fox Lake Flyers Will Try Again for Endurance Mark

Morrison, Ill., Sept. 7 [Special].—Homer and Edward Seavey of Fox Lake will start another attempt Sunday to break the world endurance nonstop airplane record. William Solberg, also of Fox Lake, is supervising the undertaking. He and Homer Seavey made an attempt Aug. 20 at Fox Lake, but were forced down by failure to refuel their plane as planned. In their attempt here they will coöperate with Roy Cooper, who claims to have an invention to overcome that difficulty. The present endurance record is 343 hours and 46 minutes established by Humphrey and Hunter Moody of Springfield, Ill.

Court Clears Parents of Mistreating Son, 3

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Timms, 1728 Monroe street, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Le Roy Hackett in Domestic Relations court on delinquency charges in connection with the alleged mistreatment of their child Frederick, 3 years old. A policeman testified he found the child sleeping on a cot, a 10 foot rope tied to him and the other end to a bannister, while his parents were not at home.

SUE TO FORECLOSE ON 450 PROPERTIES TO COLLECT TAXES

A suit asking the foreclosure sale of 450 parcels of real estate, on which $101,602 is due in back taxes, has been filed in Circuit court, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall V. Kearney said yesterday. The overdue levies are from 1928 to 1938.

All of the properties are in Franklin Park township, west of Chicago. Kearney explained that the mass foreclosure suit is the first step in a campaign to push the foreclosure of tax delinquent properties in country townships.

A citizens' tax committee of Franklin Park, headed by Barney Reeves, president of the village board, has spent several months gathering data on back taxes. This information was presented to the state's attorney's office and made possible the filing of the suit, Kearney said.

[ADVERTISMENT]

61 TAVERNS FACE CLOSING; CALLED GAMBLING JOINTS

Hearings on Licenses to Open Sept. 18.

Sixty-one Illinois taverns and roadhouses, twenty-six of them in Cook and Du Page counties, may be denied new retail liquor licenses because slot machines have been operated in them, in violation of the anti-gambling clause in the state liquor law.

The state liquor control commission will begin hearings on Sept. 18 as the result of formal protests filed with it by Attorney General John E. Cassidy. The protests name sixty-one establishments where the state police have seized slot machines. Hearings will be held here for the accused tavern keepers in the Chicago area, and in Springfield for those downstate.

All Seek New Licenses.

All the accused operators have filed applications—and have posted fees—covering licenses for the year July 1, 1939 to June 30, 1940. These applications have been held in abeyance because of the attorney general's protests.

COOK COUNTY: Ray Hasterbook, operator of Ray's Tavern, Mount Prospect; Joseph Pegfegers, Northbrook; Marie Wolf of the Wolf tavern, Mount Prospect; Lee Schmidt of the Peacock Inn, Des Plaines; Alex Borchart of the Plantation, Des Plaines; Amy Lundberg of the Tropical Inn, Des Plaines; Julius Weiss of the Mecca tavern, Des Plaines; Forest Walbaum of Shady Oaks, Elgin; Carl Kosel, Palwaukee airport restaurant, Mount Prospect; F. N. Newell of the Chicago house, Wheeling; Felix Rogalski of the Union hotel, Wheeling; Harold L. Hartman of the Hartman house, Wheeling; the Knotty Pine tavern, Franklin Park; Armon Ouzounais, the Armon tavern, 4828 Dempster street, Niles Center; Frank Engels of Glenview; Ray J. Olson, 5400 River road, Norwood Park; William Pinter, 3548 River road, Franklin Park; Peter Heinz, 8820 Cicero avenue, Niles Center, and Michael Nowakowski, 6039 Milwaukee avenue, Niles.

DU PAGE COUNTY: Joseph Saroni, 22 South Cass street; Mary Hausherr, 19 South Cass street; Martin Janik, 6 North Cass street; Lillian Nisek, 38 North Cass street; Joe Ikan, 50 North Cass street; Frank Zech, 131 Chicago avenue, and Harold Metsger, 4 West Burlington street—all of Westmont.

"If the attorney general proves operation of gambling devices in these establishments, licenses will be refused," said Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the control commission, yesterday. "In obtaining their last licenses these men took oath they would not permit violation of any state law in their establishments.

Take Oath to Obey Law.

"If it is proved they were permitting the operation of slot machines, it would be plain that they had violated this oath and the law. All of them now are open for business pending their hearings. If licenses are refused them, they will have to close at once. If they should fail to close, I feel certain the attorney general would act."

In announcing that he had appointed Joseph A. Londrigan, an assistant, to handle the slot machine cases, Attorney General Cassidy said:

"Our reports are that the state now is free of slot machines. I am informed that the recent smashing of slot machines in Cook county has had its effect. Apparently that is the only language the operators can understand. Before the raids there were approximately 7,000 slot machines in operation in the state, yielding syndicates about $200,000 a week."

3 Gunmen Hijack $7,000 Cigaret Cargo; Kidnap 2

Three men armed with sawed off shotguns hijacked a cargo of cigarets, valued at $7,000, yesterday at 33d street and Damen avenue. Truckdriver Stanley Tragarz, 4551 North McVicker avenue, and his helper, Bruno Depa, 2343 North Leavitt street, were kidnapped by the robbers and released near 2019 North Oak Park avenue. The truck was recovered later. The tobacco was owned by the Service Stores, Inc., 3900 Michigan avenue.

JAILS CHANCERY MASTER NAMED IN $3,000 FRAUD

Freed After Paying Back Funds.

Fred Bernstein, a master in chancery of the Superior court since 1921, charged with misappropriating $3,000 from litigants whose case he had handled, was sentenced to jail for contempt yesterday by Chief Justice Grover C. Niemeyer.

Fred Bernstein.

Bernstein was released last night when his law associate, Ralph M. Schwartzberg, appeared by arrangement in Judge Niemeyer's court and paid the $3,000 in currency, which was given to a court clerk for safekeeping. The judge had announced in the afternoon that the contempt charge could be expunged by payment.

Thorough Inquiry Planned.

He said, however, that an investigation of all the cases that had been placed in Bernstein's hands would be made. The master in chancery admitted to the court that he had taken the funds of other litigants.

The executive committee of the Superior court judges, according to Judge Niemeyer, will consider the matter today. The entire court will be given the committee findings Monday, and it is expected that Bernstein's resignation as a master will be demanded. Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright indicated the grand jury would be asked to investigate.

Bernstein was appointed originally by the late Judge Joseph B. David. Since Judge David's death a year ago Bernstein has been serving nominally as an appointee of Judge David's successor, U. S. Schwartz.

No Distribution Made.

The case yesterday concerned a foreclosure sale on a cleaning and dyeing establishment at Milwaukee and Wilmot avenues, owned by Alexander Busch. It was conducted under the direction of Bernstein on May 25, 1938. Under the court rules the master collects the proceeds of such a sale and then obtains a court order for its distribution. Bernstein never made the distribution.

Richard F. Gentzell, who brought the foreclosure action as the successor trustee, made a demand on Bernstein for the money on last May 23. Bernstein won several continuances from Judge John J. Lupe and later from Judge Niemeyer.

It was reported that Bernstein, once well-to-do, is now virtually impoverished. He is said to have lost his home at 7025 Cregier avenue by foreclosure.

LOOK INTO EVERY BAIL BOND UNDER M'GARRY REGIME

Courtney Calls Judge's Actions an Outrage.

Every bond which has been approved by Judge Eugene L. McGarry of the Municipal court will be investigated by two assistants assigned yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney. The two named are Richard Austin and Melvin Rembe.

Harold Gendon.

The action is an aftermath of the revelation Tuesday that a real estate bond which McGarry approved fifty-six times in the last three years is practically worthless. The discovery was made after it had been ordered forfeited in a robbery case. In no instance, it was learned, had McGarry obeyed Municipal court rules and first submitted the schedule to the court bond department for examination. The property is owned by a friend.

Calls Actions an Outrage.

Courtney said that McGarry's actions in connection with the bond in question were an outrage. He added:

"This is a very serious business when a judge approves worthless bonds for persons accused of serious crimes."

The property in question is a vacant lot at St. Charles road and Eastern avenue, Bellwood. It has an assessed valuation of only $97. Despite this it was used to cover bonds ranging from $200 to $5,000 for persons accused of crimes from disorderly conduct to robbery.

It is owned by Harold Gendon, 6926 Oglesby avenue, who was questioned yesterday by Courtney and his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley.

Not Registered as Bondsman.

Gendon told them he was a novelty salesman, that he never had earned more than $1,000 a year, and that he scheduled the property as a favor to five or six lawyer friends. He said he has no bank account and is not registered as a professional bondsman.

Gendon said he had been paid from $5 to $10 per bond, a fee well below the usual rate of 10 per cent up to $100 and 5 per cent over that amount.

The bond department of the Municipal court said that notification of McGarry's actions in refusing to permit them to examine bonds before approving them had been given to Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby.

Justice Sonsteby was reported on the bench at 11:30 a. m. yesterday. At 1:30 p. m. he was said to have just left for lunch. Several calls between then and 3:30 found him out. At 4 he was said to be "around the building." A request that he answer the 11:30 call was ignored.

McGarry, already under fire of the Chicago Bar association because of the notorious Felony court "fix" case which caused the Chicago Crime commission to place an observer in his courtroom, is on a motor trip through Wisconsin.

Steve Chrusciel, 1536 North Washtenaw avenue, an unemployed former printer, was killed yesterday by a bartender in an attempted holdup of a tavern at 2138 South State street. The bartender is Paul Goldberg, 38, who was preparing to open the place for the day.

Goldberg said he resisted the man's command to give him the money and that Chrusciel then fired a shot into the ceiling. Goldberg dropped to his hands and knees behind the bar and crawled to a drawer where he obtained a revolver. A second bartender, Walter Schroeder, meanwhile held his hands in the air and distracted the attention of the bandit.

Goldberg then raised from behind the bar, ordered the man to stop shooting and, when he turned to him, fired. Chrusciel was taken to the Bridewell hospital with a wound in the face, from which he died later in the day.

FLEEING BANDIT, FOUR ONLOOKERS SHOT IN STREET

Robbed Merchant Opens Fire with Shotgun.

A fleeing robber and four onlookers were shot and wounded in busy Chicago avenue last evening. They were struck by slugs from a shotgun fired by a shoe merchant who was pursuing the bandit after his store had been robbed.

The bandit was struck in the face and head, and physicians at St. Mary's hospital said his condition was critical. He identified himself as John Gilmore, 29 years old, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y. He admitted that he was paroled from a Pennsylvania prison in 1935, after serving three years for robbery.

Tied Up with Tape.

Joseph Lochansky, the merchant, was alone in the store at 2312 Chicago avenue when Gilmore entered and displayed a pistol. He obeyed an order to go into a rear room. There he was bound to a chair with twine and adhesive tape. The robber went into the store and looted the cash register of $21.

While he was doing so, Lochansky tried to loose himself. Gilmore heard the chair moving and returned to kick the merchant in the stomach.

"That made me mad," Lochansky said. "I told myself I would get even."

Fires at 40 Feet.

When the bell on the front door informed him the robber was gone, Lochansky burst his bonds and seized the gun. Gilmore was about 40 feet away as he fired. He broke into a run and the gun cracked again. The shots were heard by a trafic policeman, Norman Stabell, at Chicago and Western avenues, and he ran up and captured Gilmore.

The injured onlookers are Evanthia Itskalis, 10 years old, 544 North Artesian avenue, struck in the right leg and the neck; Mrs. Jewell Gwadz, 29, of 2203 Rice street, a beauty parlor operator, hit in the hips and back; Andrew Panasik, 42, of 2035 Haddon avenue, a barber, struck in the left leg and back, and Steven Goshko, 20, of 2440 Walton street, struck in the right leg. All are expected to recover.

EX-CITY CLERK DIES.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 7 [Special].—Herman J. Bock, 49 years old, city clerk of Bloomington from 1923 until 1935, died in St. Joseph's hospital today. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

CONVICT ADMITS ILLINOIS KILLING OF 7 YEARS AGO

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 7 [Special].—Sherif Dan Bergan announced today that William Jacob, alias McManimen, serving a one year to life sentence in Menard prison for bank robbery, has confessed the murder of Albert Sirota seven years ago. Sirota, alias Schroeder, formerly of Chicago Heights, was "taken for a ride" and shot to death on a country road four miles southwest of Kankakee on the night of Oct. 10, 1932. Sherif Bergan said Jacobs told him Sirota was killed because he informed on him in another robbery—that of the Bradley State and Savings bank on Sept. 15, 1932. Jacobs and three others obtained $6,500 in that robbery and escaped, but were captured later. Jacobs attempted an escape at Menard recently.

EMIEL IMMESOETE DIES.

Annawan, Ill., Sept. 7 [Special].—Emiel Immesoete, 58, native of Belgium, who farmed in this community nearly forty years, died last night.

Why the Price of Borden-Wieland Milk Is Being Increased One Cent a Quart

THERE is no mystery about the price of milk. It is simply the sum total of all the costs of procuring and distributing the milk—plus a profit when a profit is possible:

Two major items of cost influence the price of milk. One is the cost of the raw milk we buy from the farmer. The other is wages. All other expenses of providing your milk are so small that they have little to do with determining the price.

We pay top prices to our dairy farmers.

We pay top wages to our employes.

In good times we are able to do this and still make a profit. BUT SINCE 1933 WE HAVE OPERATED OUR BUSINESS AT A LOSS. Our losses have been due primarily to the fact that we have not been able to keep wages and raw milk costs in line with economic necessity. These costs are governed largely by the bargaining power of organized farmers and organized labor—forces which are outside of our control.

Our route salesmen's wages amount to 4 1/100 cents per quart for home-delivered milk—the highest in the United States. The total sum we pay to labor for getting the milk from the farm, putting it through our processing plants and delivering it amounts to 6 47/100 cents per quart.

Likewise, the dairyman's price for milk has not always been in keeping with the demands of the market for his milk:

Our aim is lower prices for our customers in order that milk—the most economical food—may be made an even greater bargain. That aim will be more readily accomplished when all those who depend upon us for their livelihood recognize as clearly as we do that lower prices are possible only through lower costs:

Today, however, it is necessary for us to increase the price of milk. The reasons for this are clear when viewed in the light of what has happened recently in our business:

On May 13, 1939, Borden-Wieland reduced the price of home-delivered milk from 12 to 11 cents per quart. Our prices for store milk were also reduced 1 cent. These price reductions were effected despite the fact that we received no reduction in our costs:

Other distributors, by paying less than we did to the dairy farmer, or less to employes—or both—were able to sell their milk for less. In order to make Borden-Wieland milk available at competitive prices we effected the one-cent price reduction.

THUS, IT HAS BEEN NECESSARY FOR US, DURING THE LAST FOUR MONTHS, TO SUSTAIN FURTHER SUBSTANTIAL LOSSES.

On July 16, the organized producers who supply us with the raw milk product increased the farm price of milk 30 cents per hundred pounds for the Grade A milk which goes into bottles. On September 1, Federal Milk Price Control was imposed on this market, resulting in a slight further increase in the farm price. From the dairyman's point of view the increased farm price is not excessive. Yet the increased cost to us is considerable and must be reflected in consumer prices. It means a further increase in our costs of more than two-thirds of a cent per quart.

This expense, added to others, now makes it necessary to restore city prices to levels prevailing before May 13.

The price increase of 1 cent per quart will reduce our current operating losses. IT WILL NOT ENABLE US TO MAKE A PROFIT.

BY MARY MEADE.

With meat prices showing a tendency to soar, it looks like another good week for the vegetarians and fruit eaters.

Only a few vegetables are showing upward price trends. It's getting past the time when you can go out into the garden and pull up tender yellow carrots or pluck crisp green beans, so these vegetables are higher, as are green peas and northern white potatoes. Other vegetables remain reasonable.

Economical Meat Buys.

The less tender cuts of beef—chuck, round and pot roasts, in general—seem to be the most economical meat buys. But as long as all poultry continues reasonable, there is no need to feel the price pinch at the Sunday dinner table.

It still is not too late to can peaches, but it will be if you don't get busy this week. The Michigan peach season has reached its peak and higher prices may be expected next week. While you're scrubbing up those jars, sterilize a few extra for Italian prunes and tomatoes.

Both tomatoes and the big blue prunes are exceptionally reasonable. There are some grand recipes for plum preserves and jams in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," which will be sent to you for 23 cents in stamps. Send 7 cents for "Homemaker's Guide to Canning" if you'd like modern methods for canning peaches, tomatoes and tomato juice.

Better have watermelon some time this week-end. It's last call on this juiciest of fruits. Cantaloupes of good quality still are available at reasonable prices.

Grape Season Opening.

The season for Concord grapes is getting under way in Michigan. First Chicago arrivals have been moderately priced. Jonathan apples are arriving in increased quantities and a few McIntosh and Illinois Delicious varieties are around. Don't throw away the pulp left over from an apple jelly making session. Use it instead to make apple candy.

APPLETS.

2 cups sieved apple pulp, unsweetened
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons plain, unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup chopped nutmeats
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Red coloring
Confectioners' sugar

Sieve apple pulp adding one-half cup water if leftover pulp from jelly making is used. Add sugar and cook until very thick, stir to prevent scorching. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to hot pulp, mixing well. When gelatin is thoroughly dissolved add nutmeats and lemon juice and enough red coloring to tint a delicate pink. Pour into a buttered pan to one-half inch thickness. When firm cut in squares and roll in confectioners' sugar. A tablespoon of cornstarch added to every one-half cup of confectioners' sugar will prevent thickness.

Pears will remain reasonably priced this week. Oranges are somewhat higher.

Good inexpensive sweet potatoes are on the market now. Onions are even cheaper than usual. Lettuce is selling at all kinds of prices, depending on quality. Most of it is only fair, however. Really good lettuce is quite high.

Good Vegetable Bargains.

You will find very good bargains among the less common vegetables. Squash is very inexpensive and so is rutabaga. Rutabaga, sliced thinly and cooked with a ham hock, makes a delicious soup. You'll like this acorn squash luncheon dish.

APPLE STUFFED ACORN SQUASH.
[Serves 4]

2 large acorn squashes
4 medium apples
2 cups bulk pork sausage
Salt and pepper

Cut acorn squashes in half lengthwise and seed. Cut slice from bottom of each if necessary, so squash will stand level. Brush squash with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Wash and core, but do not peel, apples. Fill centers of apples with pork sausage which has been browned lightly in a skillet. Place one apple in cavity of each squash half Arrange in shallow baking pan and bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven for about 45 minutes, or until squash is tender. If tart apples are used they should be sprinkled inside and out with sugar before baking.

HERE'S NEW WAY TO MAKE BETTER GREEN PEPPERS

Stuffed green peppers make their annual comeback bid for popularity early in September. Always a delicious school-day lunch, they are extra good when stuffed with a bread, tomato, and meat combination.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS.
[Serves 6.]

6 green peppers
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons minced onion
1½ cups bread cubes
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup tomato pulp
1 cup diced cooked meat
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce.

Cut tops from peppers and remove seeds. Parboil 5 minutes. Brown onion in fat. Add remaining ingredients. Stuff into peppers and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 45 minutes.

CONCORD GRAPE JELLY—ONE FOR THE BOOKLETS

Mary Meade Tells How to Make It.

Only a good recipe and a pair of willing hands are needed to capture the frosty freshness of Concord grapes in a row of sparkling grape jellies. And Mary Meade will supply the recipe.

She has a recipe for that luscious Blue Ridge jelly [made from Concord grapes, apples, quinces, and cranberries], along with one for grape jelly, grape jam, grape butter, and apple butter in her jam and jelly booklet.

Quinces, apples, pears, peaches, and all kinds of plums, including the now available green gage and damson, may also be made into preserves from the recipes in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies."

Twenty-three cents in stamps will bring the booklet to you by mail. Or drop in at The Tribune Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street, or the one in The Tribune tower, and get it for 20 cents.

There are directions for making and canning both the cooked and uncooked varieties of grape juice in "Homemaker's Guide to Canning." This booklet sells for 5 cents; 7 cents by mail. It also includes recipes for canning tomato and fruit juices and directions for canning all the common fruits and vegetables by latest methods.

BACON ROLLS OFTEN GOOD AS MAIN DISH OF A TASTY SUPPER

You underestimate bacon's versatility if you don't use it occasionally as a main dish. Bacon rolls constitute an entirely adequate and flavorsome supper or luncheon main dish.

BACON ROLLS.

- Bacon slices
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- ½ cup celery
- 2 teaspoons diced green pepper
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- Salt and pepper
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk

Combine bread crumbs, celery, green pepper, and onion, and season with salt and pepper. Add beaten egg and milk to moisten. Roll each bacon slice around a tablespoon of the dressing and fasten ends with toothpick. Place in shallow pan and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven until bacon is done. Serve white hot.

BRING THE BACON HOME, BUT DON'T EVER FRY IT!

Bacon has become such a familiar item in the daily menu that often too little attention is paid to its cookery. It's really an accommodating food, easy to prepare, well liked, and it blends well with most other foods.

It should be broiled, pan broiled, or baked, but never fried if crisp, evenly cooked bacon is desired.

Pan broiled bacon: Place strips in a cold frying pan over a moderately low fire. Turn frequently for 8 to 10 minutes, until all parts of the bacon are evenly crisp but not brittle. Do not let the fat smoke, or the bacon will have a burnt flavor. Fat should be poured off as it accumulates during cooking.

Broiled bacon: Place strips on preheated broiler rack, 3 to 3½ inches under a broiler flame. Let broil at moderate temperature 2½ to 3 minutes to a side, turning only once. This bacon needs no draining. A shallow pan with a wire rack may be used for the broiler tray, if only a small quantity of bacon is prepared.

Baked bacon: Lay strips on a wire rack in a shallow pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes, or until desired crispness is reached. No turning is necessary. This bacon needs no draining and browns evenly from end to end with no curling. This method is recommended when cooking large quantities, since the bacon requires less watching and needs no turning at all.

For Winter, a Pick-Me-Up That Won't Let You Down

There will be plenty of call for a supply of canned tomato juice on the pantry shelf this winter, especially if it's a favorite at the family breakfast table. Tomato juice can be prepared very easily at home: Cook the tomatoes until pulpy and strain through a fine sieve, pressing some of the pulp through also. Add about 1 teaspoon salt per quart of juice; heat to boiling and fill hot, sterilized jars to the top, sealing each jar immediately.

CANNED MILKS CAN SAVE MANY A BUDGET PENNY

They're Good in All Kinds of Cooking.

Canned evaporated milk can save many a penny on the dairy bill when fresh milk prices are high. Use it for all kinds of cooking, sauces, gravies, pie fillings, cakes, and puddings. You may even whip it for a dessert topping if you like.

To whip canned milk chill it until it is very cold, then beat quickly in a cold bowl with a chilled beater. If it fails to whip, it isn't cold enough, so chill it and try again. Evaporated milk won't become buttery no matter how many times it is whipped. The most successful chilling method, if you have an automatic refrigerator, is to pour the evaporated milk into the freezing tray until it begins to crystallize around the edges. It then will whip readily, increasing to three times the original volume.

If you use evaporated milk for drinking, it pays to buy the kind which has vitamin D added, by irradiation or some other method. Dilute it with an equal amount of water for drinking or cooking. Evaporated milk undiluted may be used in place of cream.

Frozen Roquefort Salad.
[Serves eight.]

2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
2 small portions Roquefort
½ cup mayonnaise
1 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Fresh or canned peaches or pears
Lettuce, pimiento strips

Blend the two kinds of cheese with the mayonnaise until smooth. Whip the thoroughly chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Add lemon juice. [Lemon juice keeps the whipped milk stable.] Fold into cheese mixture, pour into cold freezing trays and freeze at coldest temperature. This salad may be frozen in cubes if desired. Serve portions on peach or pear halves which have been arranged on lettuce, garnish with strips of pimiento, and a little more mayonnaise.

Cooked Salad Dressing.
[1¾ cups.]

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
Few grains cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg or 2 yolks
1 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons vinegar

Blend dry ingredients with egg and mix well. Add evaporated milk and cook and stir over boiling water until thickened. Cool, then stir in vinegar and lemon juice a little at a time. A few drops of onion juice may be added if desired.

Breakfast Cocoa.
[Serves four.]

3 tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup boiling water
1¾ cups evaporated milk
1¼ cups water

Mix cocoa and sugar. Add boiling water gradually, blending thoroughly. Boil five minutes. Bring evaporated milk and water to scalding point in a double boiler. Add gradually to cocoa mix. Beat with egg beater until foamy and serve at once.

Baked Corn Pudding.
[Serves six.]

2 cups cooked or canned corn
2 eggs
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water
Sprinkling of nutmeg [optional]

Chop corn, mix with well beaten eggs, and butter and seasonings. Add milk and water and blend thoroughly. Pour into a greased baking dish and sprinkle with nutmeg if desired. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until firm.

Creamy Fudge.

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons white corn sirup
¾ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add sugar, corn sirup, milk, and water and mix well. Cook slowly to soft ball stage, 236 degrees, stirring occasionally. Cool without stirring at room temperature. Add salt and vanilla and beat until candy just holds shape. Turn into greased pan, spread with spatula, and cut into squares.

Dried skim milk is easy to use and contains almost all the valuable elements of fresh milk except the butter fat. It is mixed with water for use as liquid milk. A cup of dry skim milk to a quart of water approximates a quart of fresh milk. This prepared milk will sour as does fresh milk, but in powder form it will keep, if tightly covered, for several weeks.

EGGPLANT BOILED WITH TOMATO AND PEPPERS TASTY LUNCHEON DISH

Eggplant usually gets itself sautéed, broiled, or baked in some fashion, but it likewise is good when boiled. For a full-flavored luncheon dish, try cooking eggplant, tomatoes, and green peppers together.

EGGPLANT LUNCHEON DISH.

1 GREEN PEPPER
2 tablespoons butter
3 ripe tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon paprika

Pare eggplant and cut into small pieces. Remove seeds from peppers and cut in small pieces. Cook eggplant and peppers in butter until they are slightly brown, then add sliced tomatoes and seasonings and continue cooking until eggplant is done. Serve hot.

Symphony in Deep Purple: Ice Cubes of Grape Juice

Fruit beverages take on an added attraction when they're cooled and colored with the "deep purple" glow of tasty grape juice ice cubes. Simply freeze grape juice in the ice tray in your refrigerator, and use the frozen cubes in lemonade, limeade, orangeade or other fruit punches.

A Basic Dress Can Be Brown, Black, or Green

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Background or basic dresses of dull black are still the most satisfactory finds because the jet black is good contrast for most colors and for all jewelry. But new this fall are the many fascinating shades of brown and green that are used in suavely cut and fitted simple dresses to take the place of black.

There's a subtle shade called biscuit brown that is nearer a fawn tone than anything else . . . this shade is perfect with copper, gold, or even silver jewelry; peacock blue, turquoise, coral, and amethyst are ideal color accents in gloves, handbags, belts, hats, or jeweled buttons and clips.

Darker brown, like chocolate, is another stunning background color. With it go pale almond green, henna, coral, giddy pink, pale blue and fawn accessories. All the pale honey beige fur jackets are lovely with both the fawn or chocolate tones. Suits, coats, and coat dresses are abundant, also a lot of new woolen fabrics by the yard.

All shades of dark green are going strong . . . it's a very flattering color, especially the deep forest greens and that newest charmer, bronze green. Old gold, fawn, grape purple, rosy red, coral, and turquoise blue are excedingly different color contrasts. You can find these all over town in the new fall and early winter showings of fabrics and the ready to wear out collections . . . hats, bags, footgear and smaller costume accessories.

Child Keyed at Slow Speed Cannot Hurry

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Find my thimble, please, Barbara—it's rolled under the sofa. And hurry!"

"Bring me my slippers, son—and hurry!"

"Put away your blocks, Davey—and hurry!"

"Finish your supper, Diana—and hurry!"

Hurry—hurry—hurry—hurry!

I don't like it. Even the word begins to sound unpleasant when you think about it and listen to its very sound as it's said over and over and over again in the course of our daily living.

Americans are accused by the world at large of a great many things of which they are not guilty—like the inordinate love of money, for instance. I've traveled some and I think Americans have less regard for money than almost any other people in the world.

But when we are said to be always in a hurry, there is some justification for that accusation. And by hurry I don't mean speed—legitimate speed—but hurry, with the hectic state of mind it implies.

We hurry altogether too much. And worst of all, we unconsciously foist the same manner of life upon our children, or at least we try to.

I say try, because it is not an easy thing to do—to make a child hurry. If you have ever tried, you know. And the smaller they are, the harder it is.

For after all, why should they hurry? Time means nothing to them. The doing of each thing is its own interest, its own delight. The present is the vivid thing to children. The past and the future are dim in comparison. They are not living on schedule the way we are.

On the House

Another unit of distinction is making headway in its claims for admittance into the kitchen's streamlined domestic circle. This is the modern hot water heater appearing now with a handsome baked enamel finish and in colors sufficiently soft and pleasing to tone with any kitchen color scheme.

Besides the fact that it is insulated to insure economy in operation and kitchen coolness in hot weather, it is also automatic and well equipped with safety controls.

If one doesn't care for a water heater in the kitchen, it can always go into the laundry or utility room or even down the stairs to the recreation or heater spaces. Modern hot water heaters are adaptable, and in any home there is no greater comfort than an abundance of hot water—when you want it!

Honesty Best Policy in the Beauty Search

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"I think the women who are most successful in transforming the standard equipment with which nature has endowed them into glamor assets are the women who have made honesty in critical self-appraisal the starting point of their efforts toward self-improvement," says Miss Jane Winton, radiant auburn haired stage, screen, and concert star.

"It is so easy," she continued, "to go through life hoping that some day one will come across some magic formula—such as the fountain of eternal youth, for example—which will transform the ugly duckling into the beautiful swan. But there is no such formula and there never will be.

"I don't mean to imply that there are no tricks connected with achieving the glamor which every woman covets. There are, but there is nothing new about them. The effect of newness comes into being with the skill with which the few basic rules are followed. All of us know about keeping the skin fresh and clean internally and externally. All of us know how to choose the shades of lipstick, eye shadow, rouge and powder which are most becoming to us.

"And all know, or should know, the basic principles behind the most effective use of cosmetics, and hairdo, eye makeup, tweezing and all the rest of it. But some of us are more adept in applying these rules to suit our individual peculiarities. Between theory and practice there is a wide gap indeed. Knowing the rules of perspective doesn't enable each one of us to go out and out-Rembrandt Rembrandt, for example!"

"And that's where my secret of basic honesty as the first step to beauty come in," says Miss Winton.

"Once you have appraised yourself impersonally and have found out what is wrong, the next step is finding the exactly right way to minimize your faults, or defects. Your mouth, for example, may require a wider arch."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Sometimes I moodily think that the only contracts with which the average bridge player is concerned are slam contracts—how to bid them when the hand is a laydown, and how to avoid them when it isn't. Already this week I have published three letters in which slams were bones of contention: Here is a fourth.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand and bidding, as recorded, occurred in our two-table duplicate club, and we want to place the responsibility for missing the slam at one table.

"East, dealer.

"Neither side vulnerable.

"The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 heart
Pass	2 clubs	2 spades	3 spades
Pass	3 no trump	4 spades	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"North blamed South for missing the slam, reproaching him for never having bid his diamond suit. South maintains he cannot conceive why North [holding the K J 9 of diamonds] would take so much more interest in a diamond bid than in the clubs of which North holds A K 9 4. North insists that if South had bid diamonds that he, North, would have bid four no trump over four spades, rather than double.

"As a matter of fact, the four spade contract was set 500 points and this was the best score North-South could make, provided they did not reach a slam. South claims that he never had visions of slam possibilities, due to the misfit in hearts, that he did consider the possibility of five diamonds, but preferred the spade double for 500 points rather than five diamonds for 400. North claims he always had visions of a slam, but was 'suspicious of South's club bid.' Manifestly, South psyched the clubs, hoping to get doubled and run out at diamonds. But does that alter the responsibility for the lost slam? At the other table, six diamonds was reached and thirteen tricks were made.—J. H. L., Ohio."

Despite the fact that I heartily disapprove South's psychic club bid, I am afraid that the responsibility and blame for missing the laydown slam in this hand must be laid at North's door. North underbid his hand terrifically. I am fully aware that North's cue bid in the opponents' suit [three spades] indicated first round spade control and a big hand, but this did not alter or excuse his decisive action of doubling four spades. After all, many a cue bid is dishonest [that is, the cue bidder actually has one or even two of the mentioned suit] and if that had been the case in this hand, it would have been fatal for South to take out the double. Besides, how could South possibly contemplate such a take-out when he was so enamored of that double, being void of partner's first named suit and holding four trumps to the Q-9-8, as well as the A-Q of an unmentioned suit? North, however suspicious of South's club bid, should have bid his own hand on its merits, which means that he should have jumped to six clubs over West's four spades. If South were psyching in clubs, it would be up to him to rectify matters, and although I do not envy the dilemma South would have been in, this, fortunately, I am not called upon to solve. [It would have been a sheer shot at the moon for South to bid six diamonds over six clubs.]

Perhaps North was right in his contention that an orthodox diamond response by South would have made the slam much easier to bid, but this does not alter the crucial point, which was North's very bad double of four spades. If North were afraid that the diamond ace was "off the hand," he could at least gamble on its being held by West, who had done all the bidding for his team. The only point in North's favor, in my opinion, is that South's bidding stopped the partnership from getting to a grand slam. But, even with the diamond response, that contract would have been difficult to reach.

Buds Get First Lesson on How to Be a Model

The debutantes' first big gathering of the season, other than a debut party, was held yesterday at the Indian Hill club when the Winnetka board of Northwestern University Settlement entertained at luncheon for the young women who will model in its fashion show on Sept. 28 at the New Trier High school auditorium.

The hundred models include not only those buds who will not go away to school before the 28th but also a large number of young married women and post-debs. They arrived around 10:30 and for the next hour and a half were coached in walking by the coach who instructs the St. Luke's models.

This is the first time the Winnetka board has had professional coaching for its models. Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker, whose post-deb daughter, Miss Helen Shoemaker, will appear in her third or fourth show, is in charge of the models.

A number of the older models belong to a needlepoint group that sews for the settlement. The fruits of their labors will be on display at the auditorium on the afternoon of the show. These conscientious needlewomen take their work with them wherever they go, winter and summer.

Miss Gertrude Dolese, chairman of the exhibition, and Miss Georganne Rundall sewed while in Honolulu. Miss Catherine Westerhold sewed on hot afternoons at a western ranch. Mrs. Arthur T. McIntosh Jr., Miss Harriet Ann Pribble, and Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie took their work east.

Help to Wayne

Mrs. Lawrence E. Denman found this costume ideal for a day like yesterday but on Sunday she, and most of the other members of the Dunham Woods Riding club, will be in formal riding attire. On that day the 8th annual Dunham Woods horse show for the benefit of the Wayne Fire Equipment fund will be held at the club in Wayne. The first class will be called at 9:30 o'clock.

Warn Pastors Against Taking Sides in War

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Saugatuck, Mich., Sept. 7 [Special].—Taking sides on the European war during sermons was frowned on here today as the annual convocation of the Chicago presbytery came to a close.

The fifty Chicago ministers gave no direct attention to the war except in their studies of sermon preparation for fall and winter congregations.

The Rev. Dr. Paul S. Johnson, executive secretary of the Chicago presbytery, declared that the quality of present day sermons is very low and that preaching must be greatly improved if the church is to go ahead.

"Preaching is the key that unlocks every other door of the church's opportunity," said Dr. Johnson. "But preaching in Chicago is a great deal worse than it needs to be. We cannot all be great preachers, but we can be good preachers."

The ministers were also told that they are responsible for giving instructions to prospective brides and bridegrooms concerning sex relations. The Rev. Dr. Harold Holt, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park, added that the pastor is best fitted for giving such instructions.

"Fully 85 per cent of all divorces are caused by failures to achieve sex satisfaction," said Dr. Holt. "My instructions to couples include details necessary for the husband to keep his wife in love with him."

Today Brings Full Calendar for Debutantes

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE have been other debut parties this summer, but today two teas, a reception and dance, and a dinner-dance will mark a new high in party-going for this season's crop of buds. Later there will be even more parties crowded into one 24 hour period, but by that time the buds will know from experience how long they may stay at one tea before dashing to the next, and how many dances they may have at a third before hurrying home to change for dinner and still more dancing.

By that time, too, following an inevitable pattern, a few of the fifty-odd young women entering adult society will have emerged as real belles. There will be, perhaps, a glamor girl or two, and some who are noted for wit, or especial dancing ability, or extraordinary pep. It is doubtful, however, if there will be a wallflower, even though each and every one of these favored and privileged young women probably has secret fears about the kind of a time she will have at a debut dance.

By the time she is 18, the average age of a debutante, the present day young woman usually has had several beaux and already is familiar with the dance floors of the various country clubs and conservative hotels.

Friends of Parents to Meet Debutantes.

Yet somehow there is a difference between a debut party and just going out to dance, as the buds who have been familiar with the Indian Hill club since babyhood will find out tonight when they arrive for the debuts of Miss Marilyn Martin and Miss Elise Petersen.

There will be something unfamiliar and exciting in the atmosphere, a thrilling quickening of pace that accompanies all successful debut parties and which carries the youthful merrymakers exuberantly through the night.

The party Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Petersen have planned for their daughters is an especially nice sort of one, and more in keeping with the traditional idea of a debut, which was to introduce one's daughter to one's friends, than are most of today's dances. There will be a reception for the Martins' and the Petersens' friends from 8 until 10 o'clock, when the young people will start arriving.

Tea Hostesses Hope for Nice Weather.

There is dancing indoors and out at the Indian Hill, so the question of weather is not a bothersome one to the hosts. The Rawleigh Warners and Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III., who are giving this afternoon's teas, are hoping for good weather, the former family especially, for there is to be dancing in the Warners' Winnetka garden.

Mrs. Porter and her eldest daughter, Miss Edith Porter, will receive indoors in their Lake Forest home, but the guests undoubtedly will take their tea and cakes or punch and sandwiches outdoors while they stroll about or sit and chat.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Miss Dorothy Warner will receive in the living room. Refreshments will be served indoors as well as outside, where little tables sheltered by big colored umbrellas will be placed

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Where's Vaudeville?

New York, Sept. 8.—It's a flip crack, often employed for small talk: "What happened to vaudeville?" Well, let's see. . . . What did happen to the stars of vaudeville. . . . Joe Yule, of vaudeville, is doing very nicely as the father of Mickey Rooney. . . . Ed Blondell, vaudeville headliner, is out on the west coast, living near his pretty daughters, Joan and Gloria Blondell.

Eddie Buzzell, of Buzzell and Parker, is an M-G-M director, and just has completed the Marx brothers flicker. . . . Grace Hayes has a prosperous roadhouse in California, and vaudeville stars Joe Frisco and Charlie Foy are the headliners. . . . Louis Mosconi, of the famous dancing family, has a tap dancing school in Hollywood which numbers most of the movie stars' children in its classes. . . . Sidney Lanfield, vaudeville pianist for Anna Chandler, is one of Darryl Zanuck's top flight directors.

Vaudevillian Mervyn Le Roy just produced "Wizard of Oz," in which vaudeville graduates like the Singer Midgets, Jack Haley, Bert Lahr, and Ray Bolger played top rôles. . . . Benny Rubin, whose "Yankee Doodle" laugh highlighted vaudeville for years is manager of the Victor Hugo restaurant in Beverly Hills.

Harry Richman, who played the piano for Mae West in vaudeville, is still grabbing big money as a night club star, and vaudeville's Mae West is making a picture at Universal with ex vaudeville juggler W. C. Fields. . . . Another ex-vaudeville juggler is a radio fixture under the name of Fred Allen [he was Freddy James when he played the two a day] . . . Jack Norworth, who was Nora Bayes' partner, recently was seen on Broadway in the short lived "The Fabulous Invalid."

Most successful musicals on Broadway are operated by vaudeville's Olsen and Johnson, who trace the success of "Hellzapoppin" and "Streets of Paris" to the presence of Barto and Mann, Hal Sherman, Abbott and Costello, Walter Nielsen—all two-a-day alumni.

Shelton Brooks, who penned two of vaudeville's most played tunes, "Some of These Days" and "Darktown Strutters' Ball," is working with Ted Lewis' band. . . . Lou Holtz, who cracked records at the Palace just before it folded, is in his 18th week on the Rudy Vallee program. . . . Gus Edwards is being honored by his celluloid life story with Bing Crosby's enacting Edwards' part in the narrative.

Burns and West no longer get lobby billing in vaudeville houses, but Bob Burns has become an important movie and radio personage. . . . Tom Patricola is at the Diamond Horse Shoe, still stompin'. . . . Mitzi Mayfair is wife of a soft drink heir. . . . Vera Gordon is in Hollywood. . . . Stroud twins are doing very handsomely on the radio and in night clubs. . . .

Frank Fay was as flip as ever in a recent Broadway appearance with vaudeville's Bert Wheeler. . . Lew Lehr, of two a day, now amuses you from the Fox movietones.

Bob Murphy has a tremendously successful restaurant in Beverly Hills. . . . Sidney Chaplin will be in brother Charlie Chaplin's flicker. . . . Dick Powell, vaudeville master of ceremonies, is clicking on the radio and in pictures. . . . Georgie Price, the little man with the big voice, now is a very successful Wall street broker.

Ben Bard, of Bard and Pearl, runs a dramatic playhouse and school on the west coast. . . . Jimmy Hussey, Anatole Friedland, Walter [Virginia Judge] Kelly, Jackie Osterlan, and Emma Haig have made their last entrance.

Arthur of the act of Bedini and Arthur is working for Eddie Cantor, who once worked for Bedini and Arthur. . . . Vaudeville executives L. K. Sidney, Louis Lipstone, Boris Morros, Benny Thau, and Harry Rapf are all motion picture "biggies."

Cary Grant, stiltwalker with a British act, is a current movie star. . . . Jack Benny, Phil Baker, Joe Penner, Bob Hope, the Marx Brothers and Burns and Allen hopped from vaudeville to fatter salaries and enlarged audiences.

Ted Healy is dead but his Three Stooges still carry on in "Scandals." . . . Pansy Sanborn is with "Folies Bergeres." . . . Karyl Norman, Creole fashion plate, is working in cafés. . . . Cleveland vaudeville big shot John Royal is a big shot with N. B. C. . . . Dave Chasen has a restaurant. . . . But who can tell me what happened to Swayne's Cats and Rats, Fink's mules, Winchell and Green, Howard's ponies or Carl Emmy's pets?

MOIRE charms again

in a richer, heavier guise . . .
1939 version of a favorite of the '80's

Moire was destined to be big fashion news this fall. When Paris first whispered of bustles coming back . . . tiny, stem-of-a-glass waistlines . . . the revival of old-fashioned fabrics . . . moire returned to elegance. But this is not the old moire your grandmother knew. This luxurious new rayon fabric merely suggests the '80's . . . but in keeping with the spirit of 1939 it is heavier, richer, and more adaptable. It is the perfect accessory highlight when deftly executed in your newest bags and shoes.

She Loves Him but He Can't See the Light

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I am in love with the thickest individual that ever set foot on this earth," is the startling revelation of one Bea, who pleads for a good tip on how to get him.

"I've tried until I'm almost insane—but all in vain!"

You have to hand it to the modern ones for their delightful frankness.

Bea reveals that on a recent bus ride [sponsored by a church society] she and the "thick" one sat together for four hours. "He was so nice," she tells, "that I wished the bus would be lost for a week or so. Suddenly I realized that it was I who was doing all the 'dirty work.' I had to ask questions most of the time while he was quiet as a mouse, although quietness is not his natural state. Talking and joking are a specialty of his."

Anyway, the gentleman taught Bea to say "I love you" in Chinese, but he did not address her to that effect in either Chinese or English.

Inviting him to dinner later only disclosed a hearty appetite—for food, Bea sighs. He asked if he might not play a return engagement soon. So, it is all very discouraging from Bea's point of view. He's much older, she tells, and indeed she wouldn't be surprised if her widowed mother wasn't the one who could sweep him off his feet, if she chose.

Bea doesn't reveal her age, but we suspect a passionate, young but unrequited love, bred, perhaps of too many movies or fiction tales.

We just suspect that this great passion of yours, Bea, is an interlude in a sweetheart's quarrel. Surely you have a young one of your own age after you. Or else it is that interlude that precedes the meeting of one of your own contemporaries. Are we right?

SYNOPSIS.

Lu Reynolds, promoter of children's acts in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the singing of their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds. During a stage show Eddie's voice breaks and Josefa goes to his rescue, saves the act and becomes famous overnight. Josefa is billed as Sheila Doone. Lena hides her envy and hatred of Sheila by pretended friendship. Backed by Producer Leica, Lena becomes a motion picture actress in the infant industry. With Lena's brief day waning Leica turns up Sheila. Sheila marries Ronny Low, her leading man. They buy a ranch, leaving most of the arrangements to Lena. Then Ronny is notified that his contract will not be renewed. And Sheila loses the favor of her public. But when sound comes in they stage a triumphant comeback. Ronny dies of a ruptured appendix. Sheila suffers a breakdown. The bank where Sheila, on Lena's urging, had placed all her savings, fails. Lena claims to be broke and unable to repay Sheila any of the money she owes her. She spreads rumors that Sheila has lung trouble so no one will hire her. Lena becomes secretary and mistress to Isaacs, Leica's assistant. Then she attracts a young millionaire, Ambrose Fleming. Sheila consults a lawyer friend, Hartman Graves, about income tax difficulties. Through him she learns of Lena's double-crossing. Sheila confronts Lena, who admits she's always hated her and defies her to prove she owes her anything. To Graves Lena threatens to besmirch Sheila's reputation.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

A DAY OF DAYS.

Sheila didn't want to get even with the world for its injustice to her, or with the producers for theirs. But she wanted to be even with Lena, to hurt her, to do her down, but in a really truly way, in a big scene with fireworks. Just so much of Sheila's character was mean and ugly, and no more. In other ways she was all worm.

What do worms think about? Beautiful worms like Sheila probably think about their looks, and would like to be wicked for what there is in it if only they weren't worms who had been nicely brought up and had respect for themselves. But they all think about food.

Sheila had breakfasted. So that was history and worms don't have to think about history any more than politicians do. Hart Graves would pay for her dinner. She had been invited to the writer's club for lunch. So except to look her smartest and prettiest Sheila had nothing to worry about until tomorrow.

The day was just a day, better than some, not so good as others. There had been a letter from Mama Licht, no mention of papa. August had had a story accepted by a "slick" magazine.

Best of all there was a letter from Mr. Ludlow about money and Ronny. She wasn't to worry about the money. Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow loved Ronny as if he were their own. Even the Indians thought that he had a good seat. Hard to tell which was pony and which was boy. Ronny was writing.

Sheila hoped that Rupert Hughes would be the toastmaster at the luncheon. And that is probably just what most people hope who have to go to a luncheon where there has to be a toastmaster.

Just another day. Three old-fashioneds with a lot of chicken and fixings on top of them and the longer speeches had made Sheila sleepy. She slept like a child from half past three until it was time to dress for dinner. And even if she could have known that it really wasn't just another day, but a day of days, she probably would have slept just the same. Worms sleep when they are sleepy. But they always wake up in time to dress for dinner if some other worm is going to pay for it.

She was especially anxious to look smart and pretty for Hart Graves because he was so obviously proud to be seen with her, and because he was honest and loyal. So she had arranged her alarm clock to make a disturbance at 6 o'clock and was a long time bathing and dressing.

Sheila studied herself a little in a long mirror before she began to put clothes on. Her body might almost have passed for that of an adolescent. Neither care, nor sorrow, nor the years which had passed had traced any lines in her face. She had something in common with a lovely flower which has just opened, a flower which is at once delicate and wholesome. But Sheila was not admiring herself. She was looking for lines. Those were the dangerous things. Even wrinkled old hags can smell sweet if they want to, but they can't stop being wrinkled old hags, with faces that even Atlas would despair of lifting.

"Looks as if I might be good for another year or two," thought Sheila and began to dress.

When she had finished dressing she sat by an open window to watch for Hart's car so as not to keep him waiting, or letting him be bothered to come up. It was a sweet and gentle night. Acacia trees distilled a faint and pleasing perfume. Motors tore up the street and down it.

She remembered a Hollywood in which there were few cars, and most of the trees had only just been planted. She remembered a Hollywood not nearly so dressed up as it was now, a Hollywood in which celebrities walked about in tennis things. She recalled celebrities who no longer walked or drove, Wally Reid, Tom Ince, Jack Gilbert, others who, crushed by misfortune and unkindness, had taken their own lives. This saddened her. Sheila brought her mind more wholesomely up to date.

Three men wanted to marry her. The one she liked the least had plenty of money. But the gentleman was a bore. Another rich gentleman couldn't marry her because his wife would object, but he was more than willing to settle a nice annuity on her.

Hart Graves' car drew up at the curb, and Sheila stepped out of the apartment house door smiling as if she hadn't a care in the world.

Fate hung on Sheila's answer to Hart's first remark.

"Maybe you'd rather run down to the beach and eat lobster? It's a dandy night."

Sheila hesitated. Lobster? Steak? She loved them both very much. But she had heard from Hart himself that people were flocking to the new steak place and that decided her. Out of sight is probably more out of mind in Hollywood than in any other city. Sheila simply had to be seen or her chances of landing even little quickie jobs were just about nil.

"Hart!" she said, "my mouth is watering for steak."

And this probably was the most important decision that the pretty worm ever made in her life.

The new steak place was crowded. They had to wait for a table. But standing, one was more easily seen than sitting.

There were only happy dancing little thoughts in Sheila's head until her bright blue eyes recognized the set of a beautiful blonde head on a pair of beautiful shoulders, and then the happy dancing little thoughts danced clear out of Sheila's mind and left it for a moment almost a blank. Then it began once more to function.

The man facing Lena, was, of course, Ambrose Fleming. She had seen pictures of him in the newspapers and sporting magazines. She recognized the sleek black hair, the heavy black brows, the long rather gaunt face and the shy sensitive mouth. His eyes when he looked up and across at Lena were gay eyes. Gay eyes in a grave face.

The face was masculine and manly rather than handsome.

From where she stood Sheila could see Lena's left hand. The shapely nails looked as if they had been dipped in gore, but there was not a new ring on the fourth finger or on any of the others.

"Maybe she's hooked him and maybe not," thought Sheila, "and I hope she chokes."

Then the head waiter had a table for them. Just two tables this side of the one occupied by Lena and Fleming.

Fleming was the kind of man who, as oarsmen say, keeps his eyes in the boat. Whenever he lifted them it was to look at Lena and no one else. If upon lifting them he had turned them a little to the right he could have seen Sheila and she had never looked lovelier and more engaging. She knew it.

Five tables beyond Lena and Fleming the room ended in a bar. If Hart asked her to have a drink she would pass close enough to Lena's multimillionaire to touch him but she did not wait to be asked. When they had ordered their steaks she said, "Hart, I'm dying for an old-fashioned."

Hart was not exactly dying for one himself, but admitted that it would not hurt him to drink one. They rose and moved toward the bar.

In passing Lena, Sheila had a strong healthful normal worm impulse to slap the back of Lena's neck with all her might and main, but resisted it. It would be the greatest fun of course but it would spoil everything.

Instead she dropped something which she had not yet lost [the night was young], her handkerchief.

Miss Warner will leave on the 19th for Sarah Lawrence.

Miss Blair, who lives in Winnetka, is to be among Miss Porter's assistants this afternoon, too. The others all live in Lake Forest: Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Helen Dick, Miss Marie Louise Hulburd, Miss Barbara Blossom, Miss Helen Mary Bryan, Miss Anita Smith, and Miss Grace Shumway.

Mrs. Porter and her daughter, who will return to Smith college later this month, will start receiving at 5 o'clock. Tonight the debutante and her assistants will dine and dance at the Onwentsia club at a party the Edison Dicks are giving for Miss Helen Dick, who is their niece.

Mrs. Porter has leased her house for the winter to Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wheeler.

Miss Miller, who formerly lived in Winnetka but who now calls Milton, Mass., home, arrived on Wednesday for a visit with Miss Martin before going to college at Bryn Mawr. Miss Martin's brother, Edward, drove home from Santa Fe for the party tonight. He brought with him John L. Davenport Jr., at whose ranch home young Mr. Martin has been visiting.

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Channer to George N. Beecher Jr., which was to have been solemnized today at the home of her parents, the George Stanton Channers of Glencoe, has been postponed because Mr. Beecher is in the hospital recovering from an appendectomy. Eight year old Evie gives us a graphic phrase. She was motoring home from the country with her father, who was going so fast the drops in the road were reminiscent of a roller coaster.

"Don't do that, daddy," said Evie. "It makes my scare come up."

A timely phrase. Listening to the radio and reading the newspapers, we feel our scare coming up, too.

Dark Frenzy.

I saw the tent, heard the singing, and got off the bus.

Four 200 watts glaring beneath the khaki tent with the Toulouse-Lautrec red, bold, seams. A sax and a piano as hot as any on the south side swinging, "O, Drop Your Nets and Come with Me." Then, for a few minutes, only the beat of dark hands—no singing. Motivated by it, a woman here, there, rises and hits the center aisle in a dance as primitive as the hand beat. "O, Drop—Your Nets—and Come—with Me." . . . The "consecration," or collection, made to the sax's blues version of "I Need Thee Every Hour." . . . A carefully paced climax, during which women, mostly, all over the tent rise and shake, shake in frenzied torture.

Through the Looking Glass

One of the best hand beautifying treatments makes use of an electric mask into which the hands are inserted as in a muff. The heat is thermostatically controled and does not go beyond a certain point. The women whose hands are stiff knuckled, coarse skinned, and chronically red because of faulty circulation swear by it.

The mask treatment is incidental to a manicure—or maybe it's the other way 'round. In any case for forty-five minutes the hands get the kind of coddling that preserves their youth.

First the nails are shaped and the cuticle cleaned up, then the entire hand is massaged with a light but efficient oil, an oil that dry skin laps up at a great rate. Then the oiled hand is placed in a mitten of rubberized silk and slipped into the mask, which zips up like a modern muff.

The heat is low and even and the combination of penetrating warmth and softening oil is awfully good for the hand that looks its age and more. Both hands, in the course of the treatment, are zipped into the muff-like mask and allowed to soak up the oil for a long period.

The older women whose hands show a distressing lack of flexibility and whose knuckles are enlarged and stiff tell us that this treatment does much more for them than just soften the hand skin. And the young women like it because roughness and redness vanish after the warm oil soaking.

This manicure that is more than a manicure takes longer and costs more than the usual process of shaping and adorning the nails, but it's worth both the time and the money.

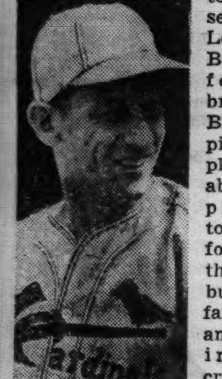
THE GUMPS—HUNGER (?) STRIKE

CARDS TRIUMPH IN TENTH; LEE'S ERROR IS COSTLY

Gabby Catches in 1,727th Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Three errors did nothing worse to the Cubs than keep them in a tie yesterday with the second place St. Louis Cardinals. But a fourth defensive blunder brought disaster. Bill Lee, whose pitching to the plate had been above reproach, pitched one toward first base for a putout in the tenth inning, but the ball sailed far into right field and the Cardinals immediately crashed through with a pair of runs which netted them a 4 to 2 triumph.



Lon Warneke.

The decision also carried the Cards to four and one-half games from the National league lead.

Despite the dipsy-do fielding of his pals Lee surrendered only five hits and one earned run in nine innings. He also had one man disposed of in the tenth, whereupon he threw Enos Slaughter's gentle tap so far away that the runner reached third, scoring a moment later on Joe Medwick's fly to Jim Gleeson. But the Cards didn't quit there. Johnny Mize dumped a two bagger into right and hurried home as best as he can hurry when Terry Moore looped a single into the same sector. It was Lee's thirteenth defeat of the year.

Bargain Victory for Warneke.

The trimming was just a little bit embarrassing to the Cubs because credit for inflicting the punishment went to one of their own former members, Lon Warneke of the Arkansas hills. Lonnie got in on a bargain for his eleventh victory. For eight innings the Cards' pitching was in the hands of Morton Cooper, who gave up six hits and one legitimate run. He happened to be yanked from the picture because of the advisability of using a pinch-hitter in the ninth. That's what brought Warneke into action and he took care of his one-time associates in such perfect style that nobody reached base during his two innings of service.

Manager Hartnett, catching his 1,727th major league game for a new record, was called to the plate before the show started and presented with a scroll burdened with the names of several thousand of his admirers. The presentation was made by Ray Schalk, former White Sox star, who owned the endurance record shattered by Hartnett.

But the game itself didn't afford Gabby much pleasure, except for a fly ball on which he drove in the Cubs' only earned run.

Unearned Run in First.

The Cubs' first inning run was strictly a charity affair. Hack opened with a fly to right and Slaughter not only staggered before locating the wind blown ball but dropped it after it had settled into his hands. Hack made two bases on the error and moved to third on Herman's fly. A walk placed Galan on base, after which Gleeson sent a fly to Medwick, Hack scoring after the catch.

Charity also figured in the Cards' tying run in the fourth, but they at

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Will Harridge, president of the American league, says that last Sunday's forfeiture to the Yankees of the second game of a double-header with the Red Sox is the first such action in the quarter century he has been connected with the league. . . . Bucky Walters, Cincinnati pitcher, has completed 25 of his 29 starts this season. . . . Dan Daniel, New York baseball writer, says the 1939 Cubs are the worst Chicago team in his long career, but he still thinks they should finish second. . . . Are you listening, National league fans? . . . Kayak II., the big turf money winner from South America, is rated a 4 year old in this country, but a 3 year old in his native land. . . . The Chicago Bears will send Ends Charlie Eller, West Virginia, and Bill Battles, Brown; Tackles Ken Armstrong, Tarkio, and Jim Breen, Illinois college, and Guard Ole Hedrick, West Virginia, to their Newark farm. . . . Nick Conteas, Northwestern quarter back, weighs 214 pounds. . . . Twelve years ago Gene Sarazen gave Dick Ciuci a niblick he had been using for eight years. Dick still plays with it.

Detroit baseball writers claim Second Baseman Benny McCoy of the Tigers is the first McCoy to play in the major leagues. . . . The Reds, in winning their fourth straight double-header recently, tied the major league record established by the Dodgers in 1926 and equaled by the Giants in 1926. . . . Hank Severeid, former catcher for the Browns and now supervisor of the Cincinnati club's farm operations, believes Lefty Grissom and Johnny Vander Meer will cause the Yankees more trouble in the world series [provided the two teams meet] than the two star right handers, Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer. . . . The Indiana university football team will play Texas Christian for the first time in 1941. . . . It also will be the Hoosiers' first battle with a southwestern conference team since they met Southern Methodist in Dallas in 1930. . . . Nate Lewis says that 17 boxing shows he arranged for the Chicago Stadium averaged more than $64,000 at the gate.

SOX ON TRAIL OF 2D PLACE CASH; WIN, 8-4 AND 11-4

Lyons, Lee Hand Browns Double Defeat.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 7.—The hustling White Sox, continuing their drive for second place, ran their road trip winning streak to five straight this afternoon. Ted Lyons pitched an 8 to 4 victory over the Browns in the first game of a double-header, and Thornton Lee presided at an 11 to 4 conquest in the second.

It was Lyons' twelfth success and Lee's thirteenth—and a pleasant revenge for each, for Ted and Thornton were the victims of the only two St. Louis victories over the Sox this year. Both were achieved by the tailenders in Comiskey park. The Sox have won twelve out of fourteen from the Browns and thus have eight more games to play with them in their remaining schedule of twenty-two games.

Second Place Beckons.

The double victory enabled the Sox to rise to within two games of the second place Red Sox, who have five more games with the Yankees and two with the White Sox, in case you are interested in Chicago's chances for the $33,000 second place prize.

Though the Sox had to run for a train after their day's work, they didn't hurry things, making four runs in the ninth inning of the first game and six runs in the ninth of the second, including three on a homer by Ollie Bejma. They will take a day off tomorrow, then play single games with the fifth place Tigers Saturday and Sunday.

Gee Embarrasses Ted.

Though Lyons had a wide margin at the end, he suffered a long span of anguish, due to two examples of quaint fielding acrobatics by Gee Walker. The first of Gerald's two two-base errors on easy fly balls gave the Browns a 3 to 2 lead in the second inning, and in the fourth, when Gee repeated his unhappy act after helping tie the score in the third inning with one of his three hits, the Browns established a 4 to 3 lead which prevailed until the eighth. In the eighth the Sox tied the score on a pass to Hank Steinbacher, a sacrifice by Lyons, a long fly by Ollie Bejma, and a single by Rip Radcliff. Then the Sox put on the big outbreak in the ninth, in which Larry Rosenthal, for the second successive day drove in the winning run with a homer, made with Walker on base as a result of a sun-kissed double.

Worth Remembering

"That poignant little poem has been lingering in my memory," writes James O'Donnell Bennett in referring to one of Jazbo's verses in the Wake. Maybe you missed it at the time or maybe you enjoyed it as well as Mr. Bennett did. In any case you'll want to read and reread it when you get your copy of the new Wake book. It's called "Old Folks" and you'll find it on page 3.

Mail orders are now being received at the Tribune Public Service office for this brisk volume, which is filled with the best humor, notes, and verse from the In the Wake of the News. It will be on all news stands Sept. 15. Ten cents, thirteen by mail. Last year's was a quick sell-out so file an early order for your

Two Giants Bring Bob Down

It took two Giants, Chuck Gelatka, No. 29 (left) and Larry Johnson, No. 31, to bring down Bob MacLeod, former Dartmouth star, who was returning a kick off in the New York Giants-East All-Stars' game in the Polo grounds last night. The play took place in the second period just after Gelatka had scored the touchdown in the Giants' 10 to 0 victory. Coming up from the right is Ed Widseth, No. 50, Giant tackle.

Jugo-Slavs Eliminated at Forest Hills

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—The Jugo-Slavs had a hard time of it today at Forest Hills, two of their favorite sons being eliminated from the national tennis tournament by American youngsters.

Frank Guernsey Jr., the national intercollegiate champion from Orlando, Fla., scored the biggest upset of the opening day's play by defeating Franjo Puncec, Yugo-Slav ace and second seeded foreigner, 6-1, 3-6, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, in a marathon match that went into almost complete darkness. Previously, Ernest Sutter of New Orleans, a former intercollegiate champion, had trounced Franjo Kukuljevic, a big, left handed Jugo-Slav, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Crowd Jeers Judge.

Guernsey's victory was marred by a series of foot faults called against Puncec in the closing games of the match. They apparently infuriated the foreigner and he deliberately threw away several critical points as the crowd jeered the foot fault judge.

The unexpected defeat of Puncec, who recently scored a decisive victory over Jack Bromwich of Australia, left Bobby Riggs with virtually a clear path to the tournament finals in the upper half. Both Bromwich and Adrian Quist are in the opposite bracket.

Otherwise, the first round of men's play went off without a break in the ranks of the favored stars, and the girls likewise held true to form as their lower bracket qualified for the second round. Alice Marble opened the defense of her title with an 6-1, 6-2 victory over Mercedes Madden of Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Kramer Beats Bickel.

A fierce fight was waged between Jack Kramer, the Davis cup youngster, and Norman Bickel of Chicago, Kramer finally winning 6-0, 12-14, 8-6, 10-8 after two hours of hot action.

Gilbert Hunt Jr. of Washington, D. C., who upset Riggs in last year's tournament, started off with 6-4, 6-3, 11-13, 6-2 triumph over J. Gilbert Hall. Frankie Parker had recovered sufficiently from the accident that happened to him at Merion on Monday to beat Amado Sanchez of the Philippines, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

MISSES TRAUNG, GUILFOIL MEET IN SEMI-FINALS

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 7 (AP).—Dorothy Traung, the Californian defending her Mason-Dixon women's golf title, and her leading challenger, Virginia Guilfoil of Syracuse, N. Y., each won 1 up victories on the eighteenth hole today to enter the semi-final round. They meet tomorrow.

Plucky Ann Hoblitzell of Parkersburg, W. Va., was all even with Miss Traung at the seventeenth, but lined her tee shot into a trap on the final hole and had to surrender.

Mary Fine of Scranton, Pa., was in a similar position in her match with Miss Guilfoil, who was five over par, then the Pennsylvania girl hooked into shrubbery and after trying three times to chop out, conceded the match.

Mrs. T. E. Schluderberg of Baltimore eliminated Jean Kyer of Ann Arbor, co-medalist and former Michigan state champion, 2 up, after an early see-saw battle. Mrs. Betty Meckley of Washington got into the final four by defeating Mrs. D. F. Manion of Oil City, Pa., 3 and 2, shooting a neat 79, although only 1 up at the turn.

GELATKA TAKES LEEMANS' PASS FOR TOUCHDOWN

38,667 See the Pros Dominate Play.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—They talk about bombardments in Europe, but you should have seen the New York Giants attack the Eastern All-Stars in the Polo Grounds tonight. Undefeated in this type of competition, the world's professional football champions whipped a group of former collegians trained by Jock Sutherland, 10 to 0, in the fourth annual charity football game sponsored by the Herald-Tribune for its fresh air fund.

It was apparent from the early moments of the opening quarter that the Giants were the superior team. They passed up two or three opportunities for field goals, which might have added to their total. The game attracted 38,667 spectators.

Tuffy Stumbles Over Mound.

The Giants scored their touchdown in the second quarter, which opened with the ball in their possession on the All-Stars' 42 yard line. Tuffy Leemans, whose brilliant running was a feature of the Chicago game on Aug. 30, broke away on the first play, cleared the secondary and was on his way to the goal when he stumbled going over the pitcher's mound. He was downed on the All-Star 15. Len Barnum picked up two yards through guard, and Leemans slipped off his right tackle for three. On the third play Leemans whipped a pass to Chuck Gelatka, who fell over the goal line with the ball in his arms.

Ken Strong, who kicked two of the three field goals by which the Giants defeated the National All-Stars in Chicago, added the extra point from placement.

Another Touchdown Pass Misses.

The Giants came close to scoring another touchdown before the second quarter ended when a forward pass, Ed Danowski to Gelatka, fell incompleted in the end zone. A long toss from Danowski to Hank Soar had put the ball on the All-Stars' 25 yard line. Another aerial was grounded and after a plunge failed to bring a first down Strong kicked a field goal from the 28 yard line.

Strong missed a field goal from the 41 yard line in the first quarter. A series of forward passes from Danowski to Jim Poole, Jim Howell and Soar moved the ball from the Giants' 25 to the All-Stars' 32 yard line before Strong attempted the kick.

The All-Stars had a scoring opportunity late in the opening quarter after Bob MacLeod of Dartmouth sped around his left end for a 38 yard gain that put the ball on the Giants' 37. Sid Luckman, whose passing was a high spot of the All-Stars' play, whipped one to John Siegal of Columbia that was good for 13 yards. He then tossed to Ray Carnelly of Carnegie for five.

Interception Ends Threat.

MacLeod added three through his left guard and Bill Osmanski, individual star of the Chicago game, cracked off his left tackle for a first down on the Giants' 13. The All-Stars were set back five yards for offside after which Luckman's pass to Siegal was intercepted by Barnum of the Giants in the end zone. The ball automatically went to the professionals on their 20 yard line.

The All-Stars put up a gallant goal line stand to stave off a Giant touchdown in the third period. John Dell Isola, Giant guard, intercepted a pass from MacLeod and returned 25 yards to the All-Stars' 10. Soar got only a yard at his right tackle. Danowski picked up six through the left side of his line. Soar was stopped two yards short of the goal line. Instead

2 PIRATE ROOKIES STAR AT BAT TO DEFEAT REDS, 8-7

Leaders Lose Again, This Time in 11 Innings.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP).—Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati, 8 to 7, in eleven innings today, with two young rookies, Maurice Van Robays and Bob Elliott, starring. Elliott made a single, two doubles and a home run while Van Robays, making his first appearance in a Pirate uniform since leaving Montreal, registered three hits in his final three times at bat. He singled home the tying run in the ninth and again sent home the tying run in the final inning and the winning run followed when Lee Gamble fumbled the ball.

The defeat cut the Reds' lead over St. Louis to 4½ games. They took the lead three times, with Ernie Lombardi driving out his eighteenth and nineteenth home runs and a single. It was the four extra inning game in three days for the visitors, three of them with Pittsburgh.

BEES, 4; GIANTS, 3.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7 (AP).—Carl Hubbell weakened in the ninth inning today to let the Bees come from behind and beat the New York Giants, 4 to 3. Held to seven hits in eight innings, the Bees got four singles in the ninth to score one run and fill the bases before Hubbell was replaced by Walter Brown. Then Joe Sullivan tapped easily to Brown, but Catcher Harry Danning dropped the throw which would have started a double play at the plate. The set back ended a five game winning streak for New York.

Cards Defeat Cubs in Tenth Inning, 4 to 2

least made one hit. S. Martin bounced to Mattick, who fumbled. With the help of Umpire Dunn's judgment, Hack threw out Slaughter at first. Medwick whacked a single past Hack and S. Martin scooted to the plate. There were added complications for Lee when Herman erred on Mize's roller, Medwick going to third. Lee stymied the next two batters.

Lead, 2 to 1, on Two Hits.

The Cubs' first hit didn't show up until the third, a fly ball by Lee falling safe because Medwick tried a one-handed catch. Their second hit appeared in the fourth and was good for a momentary 2 to 1 lead. The hit was Galan's single to center. Gleeson drew a pass. The rest was done on fly balls. Nicholson's lofter sent Galan to third and he scored on Hartnett's drive into Slaughter's hands.

Two safe blows proved sufficient for the Cards to collect the tying run in the fifth. Owen opened by striking out, but Cooper broke out with a single to center. Brown shot a single into left, Cooper taking third. S. Martin grounded to Herman whose throw to Mattick forced Brown, Cooper scoring. Mattick attempted a double play throw but it wasn't accurate enough for G. Russell to reach.

Cubs Blow Chance in 7th.

The Cubs blundered away a scoring possibility in the seventh. G. Russell led off with a single to center and was pushed to second on Mattick's bunt. During his brief stop at second Russell forgot that only one out had been recorded. He started running as soon as Lee hit the ball and what Lee hit was a liner straight into the hands of Gutteridge, who tossed to S. Martin for a double play. Opportunity beckoned again in the eighth but with two on and one out Gleeson and Nicholson failed.

Passeau to Seek 14th Victory in Final with Cards

Claude Passeau will try for his 14th victory today when the Cubs meet the Cardinals in the last of the series. The Cards will start either Bob Weiland or Bill McGee.

Verne Olsen, a left handed pitcher, recently purchased by the Cubs from the Tulsa, Okla., club, reported yesterday. He brought with him a modest record of 19 victories against 10 defeats.

Bob Mattick's appearance at shortstop yesterday was his first since Aug. 26 at Boston, when he pulled a charley horse in his right leg. He was hurried back into action because of Dick Bartell's feebleness at bat.

In addition to the outstanding bike pedalers of the Chicago area, a number of the leading riders from other sections of the country will be seen in action. Among them will be Jack Hennessey of San Jose, Cal., Ray Blum, and Ray Graef of New Jersey.

of trying a field goal, as they did under similar circumstance in Chicago, the Giants hit the All-Star line on fourth down, but Danowski was brought down a yard from the last white stripe.

Starts Nine Former Pupils.

Sutherland used nine of his former pupils at Pittsburgh and two players from Carnegie Tech as his opening battle front, but this combination was ineffective. The All-Stars showed their only flashes of offensive strength when they employed Luckman, MacLeod, Osmanski, Kochel, Van Ranst, and other men who joined the squad after the Chicago game.

MacLeod was the leading ground gainer for the All-Stars. He made 42 yards in seven attempts. Luckman made 31 in the same number. Leemans was the offensive star for the Giants with gains of 60 yards in eleven attempts.

to make a couple of runs right off. Bejma opened the game with a single to left and went to third on Radcliff's single to right, whereupon Kreevich walked, loading the bases. Appling forced Kreevich, Bejma scoring, and Walker got credit for his ninety-ninth run batted in when Radcliff scored while Kennedy was throwing out Gee.

The Browns took the lead in the second inning on one earned and two unearned runs. With one down Clift and Gallagher walked. Harshany singled to center, Clift scoring. Christman flied to Rosenthal. Walker dropped Kennedy's fly, Gallagher and Harshany scoring and Kennedy reaching second. Heffner beat out an infield single, Kennedy stopping at third. Appling made a nice pickup of Hoag's smash to deep short and threw to Bejma in time to force Heffner.

Score After Double Play.

The Sox tied the score in the third despite a double play. Appling walked and stopped at second on Walker's single to center. Rosenthal, after two failures to sacrifice, tapped into a double play, Appling stopping at third. McNair singled to center, scoring Appling with the tying run.

Further inadequate fielding by Walker precipitated a jam in the home fourth. Gee dropped Harshany's fly for his second two base error. Christman lined to Lyons, then Kennedy beat out a hit to Bejma, Harshany stopping at third. Heffner singled to center scoring Harshany.

Steinbacher batted for Tresh at the start of the eighth and drew Kennedy's ninth pass. Lyons sacrificed. Steinbacher reached third on Bejma's long fly to Laabs, and scored the tying run on Radcliff's single to center. Kreevich forced Radcliff.

Sun Aids the Sox.

Laabs lost Walkers high fly in the sun with one out in the ninth and the ball went over his head for a double. Walker wandered off second and was trapped, but managed to slide back to second in the run down. Rosenthal then knocked the ball to the roof of the right field pavilion, scoring behind Walker. McNair singled to center, and scored on Schlueter's double to right center. Lyons walked, and Bejma then singled to center, scoring Schlueter.

SECOND GAME

Mike Kreevich, who didn't make a hit in the first game after home folks from Mount Olive, Ill., had presented him with a bowling ball, gave his constituents a chance to cheer in the first inning of the second contest. After Bejma had walked and Radcliff had doubled Iron Mike drove them home with a single to center.

In the third inning Walker continued to make amends for his first game fielding lapses. Bejma singled, and after Radcliff had flied out Kreevich singled to center, putting Bejma on third. Appling walked, filling the bases. Walker then singled to left, scoring Bejma and Kreevich to lift his runs batted in total to 101.

Laabs Smashes One.

Laabs opened the fourth inning with his ninth homer of the year. Clift beat out a bunt and went on to third when McNair threw the ball to the Sox bull pen. Gallagher was thrown out by McNair, but Glenn singled to left, scoring Clift.

The Sox, in the fifth, continued their policy of scoring in the odd innings. Bejma walked and went to third on Radcliff's single. Bejma scored on Kreevich's sacrifice fly.

It was not Lee's fault that the Browns scored two runs to come within a run of a tie in the seventh. Spindel batted for Lawson and singled to left. Berardino walked. Then Solters fouled to Radcliff and McQuinn flied to Walker. Rosenthal ran under Laabs' high fly and it plunked behind him for a triple, Chet's third successive extra base hit. Spindel and Berardino scored.

Trotter pitched the ninth. With one down, Appling knocked his third straight single and went to third on a single by Walker, Gee's fifth hit of the afternoon. Rosenthal walked, loading the bases. McNair caromed a wicked single off Trotter's shins, Appling and Walker scoring and Rosenthal reaching third. Schlueter beat out a squeeze bunt, Rosenthal scoring. McNair and Schlueter executed a double steal, then Bejma knocked a homer, scoring behind McNair and Schlueter.

KENNEALLY GETS CHANCE TONIGHT IN NESTELL BOUT

Tom Kenneally, 1934 Catholic Youth organization heavyweight champion, will seek to regain his rating as No. 10 contender in a ten round return bout tonight against Bob Nestell of Los Angeles, Cal., in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue.

At the same time Kenneally will be after revenge for a knockout he suffered at the hands of Nestell on July 10. The setback cost Tom his high position.

Supporting matches:

Leonard Bennett, Detroit, vs. Frankie Genovese, Winnipeg, Man. [10], 152.
Tony Motisi, C. Y. O., vs. Joe Hornick, Pittsburgh [5], 145.
Johnny Janis, Brighton Park, vs. Kid Martin [4], heavyweights.

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street, and Northwest stadium, 4043 North Cicero avenue, and a wrestling card will be presented in Ringside arena, 5405 Cermak road. Matchmaker Jack Biggerstaff has matched Johnny Humphries, South Bend heavyweight, with Lee Christian of Chicago in a five round headliner on the Madison-Cicero program. Jerry Gordon and Pat Murphy will be principals in a heavyweight clash in the Ringside arena. Other matches will include one between Phil Grueber and Jack Ross. John Moore, Waukegan heavyweight, and Roy Tibbits of Danville will meet on the Northwest stadium card.

Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight, who whipped Big Abe Simon in Chicago Stadium last March 31, will continue training in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon for a ten round event against Clarence Brown in Marigold Gardens Monday. F. M.

SUPPOSE you'd created a new Blended-with-Havana cigar and you wanted to be sure it had the true Havana tobacco taste. Wouldn't Havana itself be the perfect place to test it? We thought so—and that's why we carried our new Blended-with-Havana White Owl all the way to Cuba. We selected prominent Cubans—real connoisseurs of cigars—gave them some of the new White Owls to smoke. Without exception, they all praised the rich Havana flavor of this new cigar.

Anybody can call a cigar "Blended-with-Havana"—even if they put only a sprig of Cuban tobacco in it. But this cigar has a real Havana taste because it's made with a generous helping of Havana. We're proud of the Havana tobacco we use—it's a really good grade. Does that sound unbelievable for a 5¢ cigar? Well, we're America's largest buyers of Havana and we know what we're talking about. Fact is, it's the same type of Havana tobacco used in popular cigars costing 10¢ and more. Try a new White Owl—your taste will tell.

New WHITE OWL-5¢

Your choice of 2 shapes

Another "10¢" feature—now yours for 5¢ . . . a choice of shapes to suit your smoking taste. A long, trim, new Invincible. And a rich, full-bodied, new Club House shape. You get the same amount of tobacco—the same mild blend in either size—only the shape varies.

CHIEF ONAWAY SCORES IN TRIAL FOR $2,500 STAKE

He Wins Kingston Purse at Hawthorne.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chief Onaway, recently purchased by Lawrence Baker from the estate of E. W. Duffy, performed well for his new owners by winning the Kingston purse yesterday at Hawthorne. The gallop of a mile served as a tune-up for tomorrow's $2,500 President's Trophy stakes.

After taking the lead on the clubhouse turn and, withstanding repeated challenges, Chief Onaway yielded to the Shady Brook farm's Visigoth in midstretch. Then Visigoth, which had expended much energy in going wide while getting to the front, began to tire and Chief Onaway came on again under Porter Roberts' urging and won by a head. R. C. Groff's Forever Prince was third.

Chief Onaway, which had won two allowance events in his last three starts at Washington Park, was the favorite, returning $4, $3, and $2.40.

Plaudaway Wins Again.

Harold Nellor, whose All Lizzie ran so well among the juveniles at Arlington and Washington Park, has brought up another good 2 year old filly—Plaudaway. This black daughter of Whiskaway, which reached her best form on getaway day at the Homewood course, continued at her winning pace yesterday, beating five rivals of the $3,000 class in a six furlong sprint.

Pell Mell, Joe W., Takitfrome, Vignette, and Swing Band lined up with the Nellor filly at the starting gate. Joe W. hustled to the front soon after the break and opened up a lead of three lengths on the turn, with Swing Band in closest pursuit and Plaudaway third.

When Jockey Rodriguez called on Plaudaway in the stretch she responded well, passing Swing Band in the last furlong and getting to Joe W. in the last fifty yards. She was ready to draw clear as they crossed the finish line. Mutuel tickets on Plaudaway were worth $11.60, $4.60 and $3.20.

He's Bad Actor.

Tom Young of Lexington gave the crowd a novel spectacle by saddling Blind Poet, the largest horse in training, and sending him out to run in the third race. The 5 year old gelding, more than seventeen hands in height, is owned by C. E. Hagyard, a Lexington veterinarian. He is so big that his weight has been too much for his legs and no trainer has been able to keep him in condition long enough to get him to the post before this season.

He showed himself a bad actor on the way to the post yesterday, standing on his hind legs like a trick elephant. When Starter Bill Hamilton gave them the signal to get going, Blind Poet refused to break with the field and trailed all the way home. Likly Lad was the winner, with Lottery second and Vuljest third.

TURNESA SCORES 71 IN EXHIBITION MATCH AT RIDGE

Pairs with Matteson to Win, 2 Up.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Willie Turnesa.

Willie Turnesa, who faces one of the toughest assignments of the 1939 sports season — that of defending the national amateur golf championship when the forty-third annual tournament opens next Monday morning at the North Shore Country club — is ready for the job. After having done a 71, one under par, at North Shore on Wednesday, the dapper little New Yorker went out to Ridge yesterday for an exhibition match. The heat and a dry south wind failed to stop him. He joined up with Matt Matteson, Ridge pro, to defeat George Dawson of Glen Oak, Illinois champion, and Jock Hutchison of Glen View, 2 up.

Finishes One Over Par.

On his own ball, Willie had a 34-37-71, one over Ridge's par of 35-35-70. He knocked off his only birdie at the first hole, smacking a drive and a 2 iron to within six feet of the flag and holing his putt. Coming home he was one under par to the 220 yard sixteenth, where he overshot the green and took a four. An 8 iron second to the eighteenth was snatched by the wind and landed in a trap, wherefrom he took a bogey five.

Willie and Matteson were two up at the turn. They went into a three hole advantage at the 630 yard eleventh, where Matt holed a 30 foot putt for a birdie, but Hutchison dropped a 15 footer to win the sixteenth.

Champion Practices Today.

Turnesa said that he would work out at North Shore today, but plans to take a rest tomorrow and Sunday as far as playing full rounds on either day.

The wind bothered those of Willie's rivals who practiced at North Shore yesterday. The best cards were a trio of 74's submitted by Bill Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., British semi-finalist this year; W. S. Alexander of Charlotte, N. C., and Frank Strafaci of New York. Johnny Goodman of Omaha, 1937 amateur champion who won the 1933 national open at North Shore, made his first swing over the course in 76. Charley Yates of Atlanta, Ga., and Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., two of the leading favorites to take Turnesa's crown away from him, come a week tomorrow, were in the high 70's.

Riverside's sextet pulled a surprise in the West District league final matches yesterday at Oak Park by passing Glen Oak and winning the title with 125½ points for the season's play. This total was reached by adding 17½ to the total of 108 amassed in the previous meeting.

Glen Oak went into the final with 112½, earned 8½ yesterday, and took second with a aggregate of 121. Medinah's 15½ gave that club a total of 117 and third place. Others finished as follows: Oak Park, 110½; Elmhurst, 106; Westward Ho, 106; Hinsdale, 92½, and Brookwood, 85½.

Henry F. Bowbeer of Riverside led in individual scoring and won the gross prize with 37—36—73. He also received the award for the most points made during the season, 25¾. Bud Brown of Glen Oak followed with 22½. Norman Stevens led the Hinsdale sextet with 20¾.

Two annual invitation tournaments are on tomorrow's program. Glen View will hold its Twa Days and Rolling Green its Croaks day.

Hold Field Trial for Springer Spaniels Oct. 7-8

BY BOB BECKER.

Springer spaniel fanciers of the middle west are looking ahead to the first field trial in northern Illinois this season. This outdoor event, featuring the hunting ability of the popular springer spaniels will be put on by the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois on Oct. 7 and 8.

For the first time in the history of midwest spaniel trials a woman will serve as one of the judges Oct. 8. The spaniel club has invited Mrs. Walton Ferguson Jr. of Fairfield, Conn., one of the best known field trial judges and authorities on spaniels and other sporting breeds, to help judge the important open all age event which gives the winning dog championship points.

Mrs. Ferguson, who had judged many eastern trials and is also a bench show judge of sporting dogs—will work with one or more midwestern judges in the open all age stake. The club also announces that Eltinge F. Warner of New York, well known field trial shot, will be one of the official guns both days of the trial. Mr. Warner, a crack shot on live game, also is staying over in Chicagoland to shoot at the retriever trial of the Midwest Field Trial club on Oct. 14 and 15.

An innovation in this year's trial of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois will be the use of two hunting areas. Frank L. Bateman of Barrington, Ill., has offered the use of the big marsh on his farm west of Barrington for the stakes to be run on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Magnuson have invited the club to run the open all age stake on their licensed pheasant shooting preserve southwest of Barrington on Sunday. There will be an abundance of pheasants in both of these areas for the springers to work on.

A victory in the open all age stake of this trial counts toward the Field and Stream challenge cup, a national springer championship. Owners of trained springer spaniels who wish further information on this field trial should write Charles Goodall, secretary of the club, 745 Chicago avenue, Downers Grove, Ill.

RESERVE BANKS BUY 168 MILLION FEDERAL BONDS

Try to Cushion Fall of Prices.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The federal reserve board reported yesterday that the twelve central banks of the reserve system purchased $168,000,000 of government securities in the last week in an effort to cushion the fall in the government bond market.

The purchases were made by the central banks at the direction of the federal reserve board. It was the first large addition to government bond investment that has been made by the banks in recent years.

The board has been supporting the market aggressively for several days. At the same time it has sought to discourage sales by banks, insurance companies, and other large holders.

Report Banks Won't Sell.

It was reliably reported yesterday that the big banks in Chicago and New York and eastern insurance companies have given assurances to the reserve authorities that they will not liquidate any of their government bonds during the period when the board is supporting the market.

It was denied in banking quarters that the board is striving to peg the market. It is merely seeking to maintain orderly trading while the market finds its own level, officers said.

The statements on the condition of the New York and Chicago member banks that were released by the board disclosed that banks in both centers increased their holdings of federal bonds in the week ended Wednesday. Reductions were reported in both centers in holdings of shorter term treasury bills and notes.

Add to Bond Holdings.

Chicago banks added 8 millions of government bonds and reported a decrease of 26 millions in treasury bills. New York banks bought 6 million of the bonds; cut holdings of notes and bills by 13 millions.

The reversal in the trend of government bond prices that began about three weeks ago is believed by many competent observers to mark the end of the easy money period that has been fostered by government fiscal policy. The cheap money rates have enabled the government to finance its big deficits at abnormally low rates of interest. With war and other influences pointing to a larger demand for money the banks believe a moderate increase in interest rates will occur.

Loan Rate Stiffens.

Chicago bankers reported a stiffening in rates on commercial loans. Short term loans to corporations of prime credit rating are still being made at 1½ per cent. Such loans are not being made, however, for more than six months and borrowers with lower credit rating are paying slightly higher rates. Corporations seeking to borrow on serial notes for periods up to five years would probably have to pay 1 per cent more than they would have three weeks ago, it was said.

Loans to commercial borrowers expanded again last week in Chicago and New York. Chicago banks had 11 millions more in commercial loans outstanding. Similiar loans in New York were 28 millions above the preceding week.

Idle Reserves Increase.

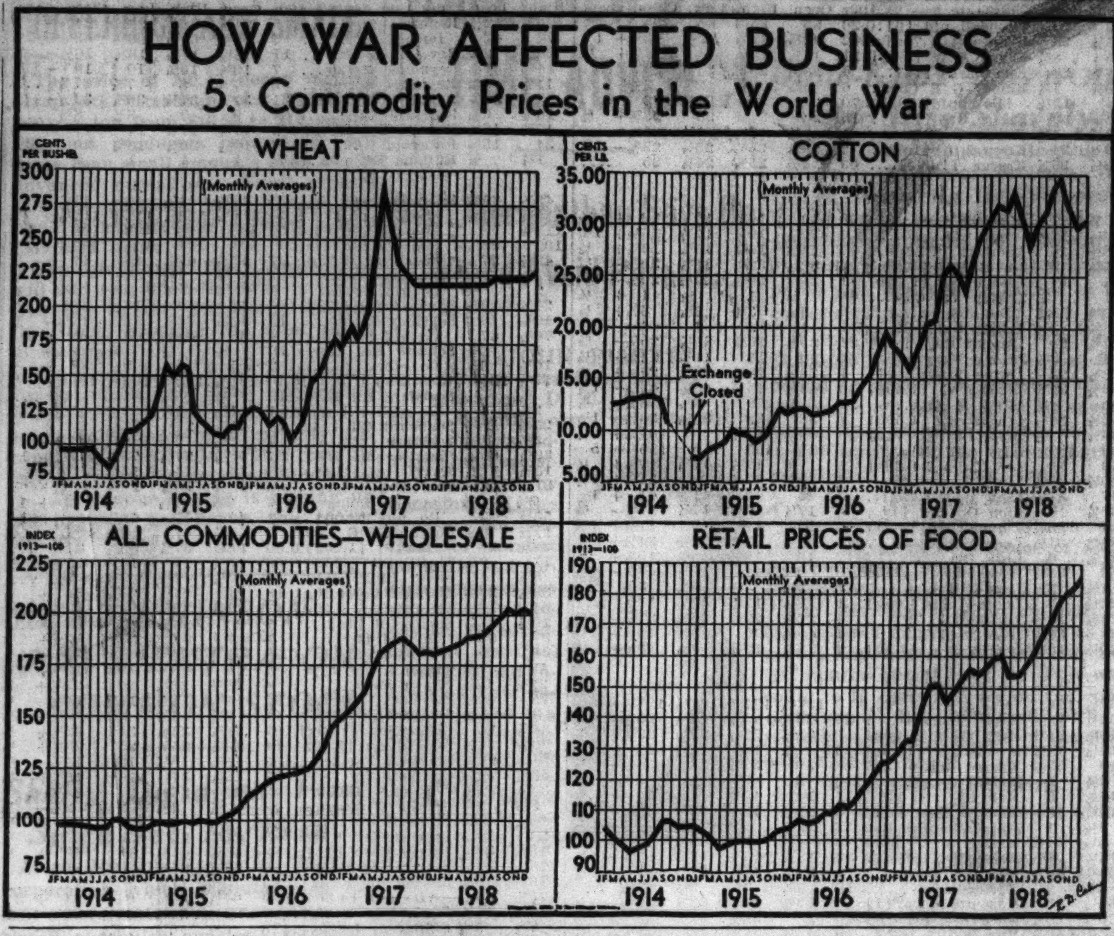
Serving to offset the tendency toward higher interest rates is the continued high level of idle reserve funds in the banks. A further increase of 60 million dollars in such surplus reserves was recorded last week, the board reported, bringing the total to the all time high figure of 4 billion 970 million dollars. Furthermore, the federal reserve board retains the power to cut the reserves required by law, thus making available more funds should credit stringency appear.

The outbreak of war in Europe brought more foreign gold to the United States. The board listed the national gold supply at 16 billion 728 millions, an increase of 88 millions over the preceding week. Foreign bank balances in the central reserve banks expanded 47 millions to a total of 397 millions.

Loans of New York banks on stock market collateral increased 32 millions over the preceding week. The moderate expansion, bankers said, indicated that marginal trading did not increase greatly in the surge of market activity last week.

Prices of Kraft Paper and Bags Are Increased

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—Kraft Paper has been advanced $2.50 a ton to $67.50, it was announced today. Paper bags were also boosted in price.



Federal Chiefs Give Warning to Profiteers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—Administration officials today warned against profiteering as reports of sharp increases in commodity prices poured in from all over the country.

President Roosevelt kept in close touch with the situation and invited Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to lunch for discussion of the jump in prices. The White House announced that Mr. Roosevelt was routing all information on rising food prices to the department of agriculture and the justice department under instructions to survey federal statutes regulating wartime profiteering.

Wallace Blames Abnormal Demand.

After his conference with the President and the special cabinet meeting at which the situation was discussed Wallace said that rising food prices to consumers may be largely the result of an abnormal demand by consumers stripping retail shelves of immediate supplies.

Wallace said that the department had complaints of profiteering prices, but the prices to consumers are still not as high as they were two, three, four, or five years ago. This sounded as if he found some satisfaction in the rising commodity prices, a condition which the department of agriculture had sought unsuccessfully to achieve through crop destruction and manipulation of surpluses.

Asserts Supplies Are Adequate.

Wallace said that he wished to reassure consumers of the country that there is no shortage of major commodities.

"I think there is an adequate supply of commodities on hand now and they are greater than the demand or prospective demands," Wallace said. "I gave the President figures on this phase of the situation. The consumer is looking back to 1918 and 1919, the last years of the war."

It was explained that in the early days of the world war prices rose gradually, showing an increase of only 4 per cent between 1913 and 1915. They began to soar then, with the rise becoming particularly acute after the United States entered the war.

Hold Sugar Hoarding Unjustified.

The agriculture department issued a statement saying that supplies of sugar for the United States are ample for all requirements of consumers and that hoarding now is unjustified. Total stocks of sugar in the United States held by can refiners on July 31 were 1,035,000 tons, compared with 909,000 tons a year earlier. The department has established quotas for production and imports of sugar, but these could be lifted.

The bureau of labor statistics reported a marked increase in wholesale commodity prices, which caused an advance of 0.7 of 1 per cent in the all commodity index for the week ended Sept. 2. Wholesale prices of foods were up 2.7 per cent and farm products rose 2.6 per cent. This index, however, did not reflect the sharp rise since the war began. A much larger advance will be shown for this week.

Ickes Flails Increases.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes joined in the protests against profiteering, saying, "I can see no legitimate reasons for the present increase in commodity prices because of the European war."

A nation-wide survey showed slight to sharp increases in the prices of sugar, flour, coffee, eggs, and meat. "Shortages" were reported in some areas, including the midwest, and grocers said they had been unable to purchase new supplies from wholesalers.

Price increases were reported for beans, bacon, rice, salt meat, butter, lard, and canned goods. Sugar was reported up as much as $1.25 per hundred pounds and there were rumors that the department of agriculture might peg the price.

SHORT TERM CREDITS TO ALL BELLIGERENT NATIONS PERMITTED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt issued a regulation today making possible the continuance of ordinary commercial credits and short time obligations to belligerents. He specified that these credits and obligations must be "in aid of legal transactions and of a character customarily used in normal peace time commercial transactions."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was authorized to administer the provisions of the order and to promulgate rules and regulations necessary for carrying them out.

The President cited section 3 of the neutrality act which prohibits loans to belligerents, but makes an exception of the credits and obligations mentioned, if the President so desires.

The President declared:

"I hereby find that it will serve to protect the commercial and other interests of the United States and its citizens to except from the operation of secion 3 of the joint resolution of congress approved May 1, 1937 [the neutrality act], . . . ordinary credits and short time obligations."

Federal Bond Prices Rally; Selling Ebbs

New York, Sept. 7 [Special].—The headlong dive of United States government securities since Friday was topped today as banks and insurance companies slackened their heavy selling. Treasury issues closed unchanged to as much as ½ point higher for the shorter term bonds and 9-32 point higher for longer maturities.

The market in general steadied as the selling pressure evident on Tuesday and Wednesday lightened. Transactions totaled only $23,416,000, face value, compared with the record high on Wednesday of $83,234,000. Trading in federal issues continued to account for the bulk of the volume.

Rescind Identity Requirements.

The abrupt reduction in transactions in treasury issues on the New York stock exchange today was attributed partly to the reserve board's cancelation yesterday of its earlier order that sellers of government securities to reserve banks must identify themselves.

With the government list steadier, institutional buying was resumed gradually. In addition to the advances made by treasury issues Federal Farm Mortgage and Home Owners Loan corporation obligations gained as high as 20-32 point.

Foreign Issues Firmer.

Foreign dollar loans displayed firmness. Government issues of Australia, Canada, Norway, Germany, and Belgium rose in some instances as much as 4 points.

Several secondary railroad bonds and other war speculative issues increased their gains from fractions to 3 or more points today. Great Northern 4½s, International Telephone 5s, Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s, Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s, Santa Fe 4s, and National Dairy 3¾s closed substantially higher.

AIR LINE SETS WORLD MARK IN AUGUST TRAFIC

Charles A. Rheinstrom, vice president of American Airlines, Inc., reported yesterday the system established a new high peak among air lines of the world with the transportation of 54,122 passengers who flew 20,085,134 revenue passenger miles during August.

Last month's marks, he said, topped the previous peak set in June. In revenue passenger miles, the August total was 4.1 per cent above that of July, and exceeded August of 1938 by 52.7 per cent, he said.

Harold Crary, vice president of United Air Lines, announced planes of that system last month flew 17,150,000 passenger miles, an increase of 3½ per cent over July, and 40 per cent over August, 1938. New daily records were established in three of the first four days of this month, he said, with Labor day setting a new peak at 764,300 passenger miles.

COTTON TRADE WITH BRITAIN TO BE COMPLETED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 (AP).—The United States will go through with its agreement with Great Britain for the exchange of 600,000 bales of cotton for 175,000,000 pounds of British rubber.

The state department announced tonight that President Roosevelt yesterday issued a proclamation of the agreement between the two countries for the exchange of cotton and rubber signed at London June 23, 1939.

Point No. 4 of that agreement permits Britain, because of the advent of war to make immediate use of the cotton, which otherwise was to have been stored up as a war reserve.

STOCK MARKET HOLDS OWN WAR AND BUYERS WIN

Gains Are Fractions to Two Points.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Buyers and sellers staged a battle of their own on the stock market today with the former coming out on top. At the close gains exceeded losses and ranged from fractions to about 2 points. The larger gains went to relatively inactive stocks. Erstwhile favorites among "war babies" closed mixed in a fractional range.

Trading was orderly throughout, with representative issues opening in normal fashion on blocks ranging to 3,000 shares. Volume was 2,597,280 shares, against 3,942,840 shares yesterday.

Cautious at Start.

At the start traders felt their way cautiously, and when heavy selling developed, sent out a few bids that quickly developed into a substantial buying movement. The advances registered on this rise attracted selling from those taking profits, and the list eased. In mid-afternoon another rally developed but gave way in the final hour and prices closed below their highs for the session.

Active steel shares closed fractionally lower, with United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic giving ground after pointing higher. Losses in rubber shares ranged to a point in United States Rubber. Goodyear, however, edged higher.

Oil stocks were brought forward for a time, but could not hold their gains and closed narrowly mixed. Standard Oil [New Jersey], Socony Vacuum, Consolidated Oil, Shell Oil, and Pure Oil were leaders in the section.

Copper Group Strong.

Coppers also gave a good account of themselves. American Smelting added 1⅛ points and Kennecott 1 point. Anaconda, which took volume laurels, and Phelps Dodge bulged fractionally. International Nickel was an exception, slumping 2⅛ points.

Chemicals continued strong, Allied, du Pont, and Dow gaining up to a point. Aviation issues also contributed substantial gains, with Douglas, Consolidated Aircraft, and Glenn Martin in the van. Curtiss-Wright slipped a fraction.

Among sugar stocks, helped by a further rise of the world market for raw sugar, Holly and South Porto Rican Sugar worker higher. Cuban American preferred spurted 6 points, but the common eased.

Armour in the meat packing division slipped fractionally in active dealings. Cudahy and Wilson also encountered resistance. Swift, however, added ½ point

Rails Are More Active.

Reflecting the hope for active business and the substantial rise in carloadings in the last two weeks rail shares attracted more attention. New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Southern railway, and Chesapeake and Ohio were among the favorites. Power and light shares were neglected and price changes were mostly fractional.

Chrysler and General Motors contributed gains of 1¼ and ⅞ point to the advance. Westinghouse was a strong spot among machinery shares, rising 2 points. International Harvester and Case also posted gains. General Electric dropped a point, however.

DPMA RE-ENTERS BUTTER MARKET; PAYS CENT MORE

The Dairy Products Marketing association reëntered the butter market yesterday after a period of inactivity which began when war news sent prices soaring. The federally financed agency boosted its paying price 1 cent a pound on the purchase of 3,150 pounds of 90-score butter at New York. It bought no butter in Chicago. Before the war market developed, the agency's purchases in the two markets were running close to a million pounds daily.

November butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange sank 0.20 cent a pound to 26.05 cents on profit-taking. Chicago cash butter declined ¼ cent on most grades.

Egg futures lost 0.55 to 0.60 cent a dozen, October closing at 17.60 cents and November at 17.75 cents. Heavy receipts of fresh eggs and an unsettled cash market caused the decline.

Grain Markets Return to Normal

Brokers at the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday worked at high speed to fill a large accumulation of orders for grain after new rules had been adopted breaking the deadlock created under the former price limitation regulations. Brokers are shown here buying and selling futures in the big wheat pit.

Split in War Boom Marks Commodities

The war boom in commodities split up yesterday as diverse price trends developed in different staples. Rubber, one of the strongest commodities in the last few days, slumped as much as 1½ cents a pound, but world sugar futures soared the ¼ cent a pound limit for the fourth consecutive trading session.

Considerable attention was diverted to the Worth street [New York] dry goods market, where prices were marked up ¼ to ⅜ cent a yard on top of advances of as much as ⅞ cent on Wednesday. Trading continued at what some brokers termed "tremendous" volume, and some estimates placed sales as high as 150,000,000 yards for the third consecutive day.

Prices Advance with Cotton.

The price mark ups were a corollary to gains running to $2.85 a bale in raw cotton, which in turn was stimulated by dry goods gains. This week's sales in Worth street are estimated large enough to carry textile mills for eleven weeks at current production schedules.

Demand continued unabated at the higher prices, it was reported, and orders for shipment beyond November were discouraged by sellers. Only orders believed to come from bona fide trade quarters were accepted.

Foreign nations, particularly Great Britain, entered the dry goods market. Great Britain was a purchaser of cotton ducks and surgical gauze.

Woolen goods holders refused to sell as they withdrew from the market to readjust prices. Upward revisions of as much as 25 cents a yard were predicted.

Fabrics to Be Raised Later.

The increases will affect prices on fabrics for clothing to be sold next spring and summer. Spot wool at New York declined 1 cent a pound tc $1.04, and wool top futures closed about ¼ cent a pound lower on profit taking and speculative selling.

The demand for world sugar futures was so strong that the exchange was forced to suspend trading by open outcry. Orders in writing were matched by the exchange. Prices bounded up the ¼ cent limit at the opening and held there. Domestic futures reached the limit at one time, but closing prices were unchanged to 0.08 cent higher.

More Trade Restrictions.

Trading restrictions similar to those placed on world sugar were put in effect on coffee and molasses, but there was no need to enforce them in the latter commodities. Coffee closing prices were irregular. In spot sugar markets raw sugar gained 0.10 cent a pound and refined 0.11 cent. Only limited quanities of refined sugar were available as sellers foresaw the possibility of still higher prices.

Rubber futures started in a sharp slump, rallied almost to the preceding close when British interests entered the market, and later tumbled to close 1.30 to 1.53 cent a pound down. Hedging sales against large purchases of cash rubber and the conversion of paper profits into cash by holders of futures caused the de-

LONDON STOCK MARKET OPENS; TRADE LIMITED

Ship Shares Active; Paris Prices Rise.

Trading was resumed on the London securities market yesterday. The exchange had been closed since last Friday. Activity was limited by strict governmental regulations adopted as a war measure. British funds sold slightly above the minimum levels fixed by the government, and shipping shares were in demand.

Quotations for American stocks continued nominal because of the regulations which make it virtually impossible to conduct arbitrage operations and other normal market activities.

Prices turned upward after a shaky opening on the Paris bourse, where operations also were restricted. International issues were under pressure on what observers termed the fear of ultimate requisition of foreign securities by the government, similar to the action taken in England.

Sterling Eases in New York.

In foreign exchange trading at New York, the British pound lost ¼ cent at $4.06, the price at which the Bank of England recently announced it would sell the currency. The bank's buying price was set at $4.02. The Belgian belga lost 0.14 cent in relation to the United States dollar, the French franc slipped 0.03 of a cent, and the Dutch and Swiss units moved slightly upward.

The New York foreign exchange committee announced that because of delays in cable transmission, it was recommending to the money market that the British pound be dealt in on the basis of payment in New York and Great Britain on the second New York business day after the trade is made. The present practice is for settlement on the following business day.

Bank Notes Increased.

Action of the British government in transferring all of its gold to the exchange equalization fund was reflected in the weekly statement of the Bank of England, which listed no gold holdings. The previous week's report had shown gold bullion amounting to £263,749,000.

The statement showed that the fiduciary note issue [which is not backed by gold] was increased during the week to £580,000,000 from £300,000,000. The Bank of England note issue [which has been backed by the bank's bullion] was increased more than 20 million pounds above the previous week's total.

Circulation of money was listed at £549,886,000, an increase of £20,387,000. Reserves of £30,802,000 were £3,448,000 lower. The ratio of reserves to liabilities was 18.3 per cent, against 21.3 per cent the week before.

The weekly statement of the Bank of France showed its gold and foreign exchange coverage for French currency had fallen to 59.42 per cent as of Aug. 31, from 62.64 per cent the week before.

GRAIN MARKETS AIDED BY WIDER LIMIT ON PRICES

Trade More Active; Wheat Higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Wed.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .88¼	$ .86⅜	$ .60½
Corn	.60¼	.57¾	.50¾
Oats	.38	.39⅜	.24
Rye	.53¾	.55¼	.39¾
Soy beans	.89	.86	.76⅛

Grain markets of the United States returned to a more normal basis yesterday as new rules were placed in effect doubling the daily limitations in price fluctuations which had restricted trading previously.

Wheat futures closed on the Chicago Board of Trade with advances ranging from 1¼ to 1⅞ cents a bushel over the final prices of Wednesday. It was the first time since the beginning of the hectic war markets last week that prices did not rise to the permissible limits early in the session.

Corn futures advanced 1⅜ to 2½ cents. Soy beans sold 2¾ to 3 cents higher. Rye closed 1½ to 1⅝ cents below Wednesday's final prices, and oats declined 1¼ to 1½ cents net.

Large Business Transacted.

Board of Trade officials expressed satisfaction with the market's behavior and said that a tremendous volume of business, dammed as a result of previous restrictions, had been completed.

The new rules permit advances or declines of as much as 10 cents a bushel during any trading session by comparison with closing prices of the day before. This limit applies to wheat and rye. On corn and soy beans the limit is 8 cents, and on oats 6 cents. These limits are double those previously imposed.

Grain exchange officials of Minneapolis, Kansas City, and Winnipeg joined Chicago in liberalizing rules. At the same time margin requirements on new speculative accounts were doubled in an effort to curtail indiscriminate trading.

Old Limits Curbed Trading.

During several preceding sessions under the former rules prices had skyrocketed the permissible limits soon after trading began, and trading then came virtually to a standstill because holders of grain were unwilling to sell except at peak prices, and buyers could not obtain grain because no transactions were permitted above the price limits.

Board of Trade officials adopted price limitation rules several years ago, reportedly at the instigation of the Commodity Exchange administration, the governmental agency which regulates grain and other commodity markets. Market authorities have always maintained such restrictions serve to accentuate, rather than minimize, price swings.

Board's Argument Vindicated.

Grain market authorities said yesterday the action of the markets in the several days preceding yesterday substantiated the board's position.

With the breaking of the deadlock which had brought cash and futures business virtually to a standstill, mills were reported to have bought more than 4 million bushels of wheat futures to remove hedges on cash grain against sales of about a million barrels of flour. About 600,000 bushels of cash wheat, corn, and oats were sold for shipment from Chicago alone.

The day's transactions in grain futures in the Chicago market were estimated by some authorities at more than 100 million bushels, while others expressed the belief the total would pass that of June 29, 1937, when trading reached 113,695,000 bushels. The actual figure will be made public today.

The maximum swing in Chicago futures was 7⅝ cents in the May deliv-

Chicago Stocks.

Trading quieted down on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday after several days of active "war" markets. Prices followed an uneven course, with fractional advances in the majority at the end of the session.

Armour, the most active issue, lost ½ point, closing at 7½ on a turnover of 7,550 shares. Swift, another which has risen recently, boosted its price ⅝ point to a close of 23⅝.

Commonwealth Edison and Middle West, normally active issues which had been overshadowed by "war" stocks recently, registered fractional gains.

Gardner-Denver and Sundstrand Machine Tool, up more than a point each, were among the six issues which made new 1939 high marks. Of 133 issues traded, sixty-three advanced, forty-four declined, and twenty-six closed unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank stock was bid 3 points higher, City National 1 point higher, and Harris Trust 5 points higher in yesterday's trading. Other issues were unchanged. Prices follow:

UPTURN IN HOGS HALTS; FARMERS INCREASE SALES

Prices Recede as Buyers Demand Concessions.

Buyers yesterday threw the hog market into reverse, ending the sharpest advance in the history of the Chicago stockyards. The break was attributed to the fact that some farmers yesterday decided to cash in at the present high level of prices.

Hog raisers shipped 10,000 hogs to Chicago, which was 3,000 more than the trade had expected and almost double the Wednesday offerings. Although aggregate receipts at the eleven leading markets were only 58 per cent of the arrivals for the preceding Thursday, the supply was more than sufficient to satisfy the immediate needs of smaller buyers, who have been the most aggressive.

Big Packers Hold Back.

Big local packers have been holding back since last week's close due to the sensational rise in live costs. They were extremely light buyers again yesterday, demanding more price concessions than commission men would grant. The day's top price fell only 15 cents, to $9.25, with the average down 25 cents at $8.25.

Most action was in the best grades of young hogs weighing downwards from 250 pounds. These were considered mostly 25 cents under the average of the preceding session, but there were reductions of 50 cents in the heaviest of the butchers and sows. Some "lard hogs" on final sales indicated losses of as much as 75 cents to $1.00 compared with the peak prices for these late Wednesday.

Fresh Pork Prices Rise.

Despite the break in hog prices and the increase in the run compared with the record low supplies of the two preceding days, the fresh pork supply situation continued acute, resulting in further sharp advances in prices to butcher shops.

The various cuts sold $1.00 to $3.00 above Wednesday, with top light loins at $30.00 a hundred pounds, a new 1939 high. Packers reported that many orders for fresh pork cuts were unfilled because of the scarcity resulting from the last few days of light slaughtering.

Cattle prices also slumped when receipts overran all expectations. Farmers shipped in 9,000 head, 5,000 more than had been estimated on the way for yesterday's trade. Prices fell mostly 25 cents, with some off more.

GOLDBLATT BROS. OBSERVING 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Goldblatt Brothers, operators of a group of department stores in Chicago, announced yesterday that the 25th anniversary of the founding of the company in September, 1914, will be observed by a celebration that will last a month. The 7,000 employés of the company were paid in silver dollars this week—because the 25th is the silver anniversary—instead of in paper currency.

Parades were held yesterday in the communities served by the various stores and they will be continued today. At 9:30 tomorrow morning there will be a program on a platform in front of the company's State street store.

Maurice and Nathan Goldblatt, who were 21 and 20, respectively, in September, 1914, pooled their resources, $500, and opened their first store in a rented building at 1619 West Chicago avenue when the world war was getting under way. In 1936 they took over the Davis store, the last addition to their chain of ten stores.

PRICE OF STEEL SCRAP RAISED 50 CENTS, BUT OFFERINGS ARE SMALL

The price of No. 1 heavy melting scrap at Pittsburgh was raised 50 cents a ton from $16.50 to $17 yesterday, but producers refused to sell more than small amounts even at the advanced quotations. Trade reports said the district's ingot output this week is expected to register a new 1939 high mark.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation will add two blast furnaces to its active list in the Pittsburgh district this week, bringing the total active to twenty.

The Great Lakes Steel corporation division of National Steel corporation is operating sixteen open hearth furnaces at 100 per cent of capacity, Detroit dispatches said. This rate is expected to be maintained indefinitely. Automobile buying is picking up and releases are heavy, the report said.

MEAD JOHNSON PAYS EXTRA ON COMMON STOCK

Skelly Dividend First Since Dec. 15, 1938.

Mead Johnson & Co., an Indiana corporation which manufactures infant diet materials, yesterday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents and an extra payment of 75 cents on its common stock. Both dividends will be paid Oct. 1 on stock of record Sept. 15, officials of the company said.

The company made similar payments on July 1 and April 1 of this year. In 1938 a total of $7 a share was paid on the common stock.

Skelly Oil Votes Dividend.

A dividend of 50 cents, payable Nov. 15 on shares of record Oct. 16, was declared yesterday on the common stock of the Skelly Oil company. The last payment was 50 cents on Dec. 15, 1938. The company also declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on its preferred stock.

Directors of Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation voted to omit the dividend on the common stock due at this time. Previous payments were 50 cents each on June 30 and March 15, 1939. The company said that "in view of the present uncertainty of revenue from foreign markets it would not be wise to declare any dividend on the common stock at this time."

The Borg-Warner corporation of Chicago, makers of automobile parts and other mechanical equipment, ordered payment of the usual quarterly dividend of 25 cents on its common stock, payable Oct. 1 and of record Sept. 19. Similar dividends were disbursed July 1 and April 1.

TREASURY GETS THREE NEW WAR TIME ADVISERS

Sec. Morgenthau Says He Would Avoid Pitfalls.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—The small standing army of economists, fiscal experts, advisers, and assistants retained by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to combat domestic and foreign emergencies was bolstered today by three additional recruits.

Dr. Jacob Viner.

Morgenthau announced that he had obtained the services of three economists to supplement the three bankers previously selected for his "emergency advisory council," created to advise him on conditions resulting from the European war. Their advice was sought particularly on the slumping government bond market, foreign capital movements, and possible foreign exchange complications.

Gets Three Professors.

The economists are Profs. Jacob Viner of the University of Chicago, Walter W. Stewart, and Winfield W. Riefler, the last two coming from the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J. Viner has frequently advised the secretary on monetary matters. Stewart has served as adviser to the federal reserve board and the Bank of England. He preceded Dr. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard as American adviser to the Bank of England. Sprague also served as monetary adviser to Morgenthau, but resigned because of differences over administration policy. Riefler was formerly with the reserve board.

On Tuesday Morgenthau announced the appointment of W. R. Burgess, of the National City Bank of New York; Tom K. Smith, president of the Boatmen's National Bank of St. Louis, and Earle Bailie, chairman of Tri-Continental corporation as members of the council.

All Are $1 a Year Men.

All of these advisers are "$1-a-year-men," but will get per diem expenses which may reach $25 per day.

"They will try to anticipate developments before they happen, and to help me avoid pitfalls," Morgenthau said. "These men have the reputation for being the best-posted people on international finance and economics. During this war period we are on an uncharted sea and need the help of these men."

He now has the service of an undersecretary, an assistant secretary—there are two vacancies among assistant secretaries which Morgenthau indicated he will soon fill—an administrative assistant, two assistants, six special assistants, two technical assistants, a special staff assistant, two consulting experts, and a consulting chemist.

Salaries $5,000 to $10,000.

The salaries for the sundry assistants range from $5,800 to $10,000 per year.

Morgenthau declined to say whether the treasury has been active in supporting the government bond market, one of the first items of worry for the special council. He did deny, however, that the 2 billion dollars stabilization fund had been operating in the bond market.

The market has caused the treasury to abandon September financing, but an offering of thirty million dollars in short term debentures of the federal intermediate credit banks, which Morgenthau announced today, will be used as a market test.

PULLMAN PROFIT FROM SLEEPING CARS INCREASES

Blaw-Knox Earnings Also Rise Sharply.

The Pullman company, sleeping car company affiliate of Pullman, Inc., reported yesterday that net profits in the seven months ended July 31 amounted to $1,648,200. Executives of the corporation said that this compared with a deficit of $41,864 in the corresponding months of last year.

It was recalled that a reserve of $1,400,000 was set up in the 1938 period to allow for amortization of the company's air conditioning investment. The earnings figures do not include profits of the manufacturing subsidiaries of Pullman, Inc.

July Operations Improve.

The Blaw-Knox company and its sonsolidated domestic subsidiaries reported net income of $211,086 for the six months ended June 30. This was equal to 10 cents a share on the common stock, and compared with a revised net loss of $16,476 in the first half of 1938.

BUICK AND NASH REDUCE PRICES OF NEW MODELS

Reductions in prices of Buick and Nash automobiles were announced yesterday. Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager of Buick, said that price reductions ranging from $17 to $281 will be made on the 1940 models. He said prices are regarded the lowest in the company's history.

Prices will range from $895 for the 121 inch wheelbase, series 40 special business coupe, to $2,199 for the 140 inch wheelbase series 90 Limited. Basic prices on the series 40 models, with the exception of the convertible phaeton, will remain unchanged. The series 40 is the lowest priced group in the Buick line and is its biggest seller.

The Buick Super—a new car being brought out—will be priced at Flint, Mich., including federal tax, at $1,109 for six passenger sedan and $1,058 for six passenger business coupe.

Nash prices are to be $20 to $50 under the current prices of comparable models.

CUT PULLMAN CAR FARES TO NEW YORK FAIR

Round trip fares for Pullman car travel between Chicago and New York will be cut 25 per cent during the remaining weeks of the New York World's fair, the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads announced yesterday. The new low fares will go into effect Sept. 15 and will continue to Oct. 28.

Coöperating with the railroads, the Pullman company will make reductions in the costs of Pullman accommodations during the period. There will be no change in the round trip coach fares, the roads said.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

Autumn's Signposts.

September 7, 1939.

EVERY ONE notices some of nature's subtle transitions between the seasons, but only those who live in the country or city residents who hike through fields and woods, realize how many indications of autumn one may see this month.

Typical of the bright colors that fall brings is the red that has come to thornapple or haw trees, due to ripening of their fruit. Shagbark hickories now have many dry and fading leaves. Queen Anne's lace, the troublesome flowering weed, is dying. Many greenish white flowers now look like old bird's nests. Wild asters and the silver-gray thoroughwort flowers, typical of early autumn, are appearing.

Squirrels Foretell Autumn.

Additional signposts pointing to the new season are bur and other oak trees with good crops of acorns, where the squirrels will tell you summer is about over and autumn is at hand. The squirrels reminded us of the changing season when we stood under a big bur oak tree this week. Approaching this tree we had seen no sign of them.

But there was no doubt about the squirrels being in the tree, for soon harmless acorn "bombs" began to drop near us. The squirrels were near the top of the old oak. They had worked out to the small branches and were cutting off the big acorns. When the busy squirrels failed to hold an acorn, down it came to land with a thud near us. In addition to whole acorns, we were treated to a shower of fragments while the squirrels whittled away at the nuts to get at the meat.

Need 100 Pounds of Nuts.

It is fortunate for the squirrels that the farm woods boast many big oak and hickory trees. They need far more nut trees as a source of their food supply than most of us realize.

According to one reliable study made of squirrels, it requires approximately 100 pounds of food per year to feed a mature animal. Most of the 100 pounds of food consists of acorns and nuts. However, we believe more than 100 pounds of food actually is required and handled by a single squirrel in a year, because they store so many acorns they do not find during the winter.

WAR COMMODITY BOOM SPLIT UP; TREND DIVERSE

Rubber Recedes Sharply, but Sugar Climbs.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and the Goodrich Tire and Rubber company refused to accept orders for shipment of rubber products and mechanical goods after Oct. 1. The move was made in an attempt to protect the firms against the soaring prices of raw rubber this week. Mechanical goods buyers ordinarily carry only about 30 days' requirements, it was said.

Hides recovered all of Wednesday's losses, recording closing gains of 0.21 to 0.29 cent a pound. The sale of 10,000 light native cow hides at 14 cents was reported. This was ½ cent over Wednesday's nominal quotation, and a full 3 cents higher than the last transaction, which took place before war was declared.

Copper Futures Weak.

Copper futures were weak during the entire session, and closing prices were 0.43 to 0.48 cent a pound under the previous close. Domestic refined copper was still quoted at 12 cents. Wednesday's sales were reported at 9,569 tons, bringing the total for the month to date to 122,770 tons. In the same period last month only 23,500 tons were sold. Yesterday Japan was reported to have bought American copper at 12¼ to 12½ cents.

Tin was strong, with the spot metal quoted at 62 cents a pound. The last previous quotation was 59 cents on Tuesday, and that in turn was 10 cents higher than before the war boom got under way. Tin futures were irregular, September deliveries climbing 1 cent a pound and deferred contracts losing as much as 4.05 cents.

Zinc futures closed 0.15 cent a pound higher and lead finished unchanged to 0.16 cent a pound lower. The St. Joseph Lead company, an important seller of the metal, raised its price for spot lead to 5.35 cents a pound at East St. Louis.

Silk Futures Irregular.

Silk futures at New York closed irregular and cocoa gained 0.04 to 0.11 cent a pound. The cocoa exchange will be open for business Saturday.

Dispatches from London said the British ministry of supply had fixed the price of refined copper at 52 pounds per ton, or about 10.55 cents a pound with sterling at $4.06, delivered at important consuming centers. All British copper needs will be supplied by British producers, it was said. Britain controls large copper deposits in Canada and Rhodesia, Africa.

BANK CLEARINGS SINK, BUT RUN ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Sept. 7 [Special].—Bank clearings in twenty-two leading cities totaled $4,406,340,000 in the week ended yesterday. This was a decline of $429,957,000 from the preceding week, but a 7.2 gain over a year ago.

ery of wheat, and was well within the new limits. That delivery, which had closed Wednesday at 87⅞ cents, dropped to 83 cents soon after the opening bell, then quickly rose to 90⅝ cents, the highest price quoted on any future since March, 1938. Closing prices on the May future ranged from 89¼ to 89¾ cents.

At the opening Winnipeg wheat prices advanced the permissible limit of 5 cents for that market, the October delivery selling at 84 cents, or 25 cents above the closing level of Aug. 31. A break of 9 cents from the top occurred in as many minutes, but the market rallied quickly and closed at 81¼ cents. Gains in that market were from 2¼ to 2¾ cents.

Report Britain Buying Wheat.

Reports were current that England had purchased 10 million bushels of Argentine wheat in the last few days. The Argentine government issued a decree late Wednesday eliminating its guaranteed minimum price on wheat and flaxseed to farmers.

With shipping disrupted between the United States and Mediterranean ports, no export inquiries were reported from Europe for lard or other live stock products. Lard sold at a new high price for the season on the Chicago market, and closed 22½ to 62½ cents higher. Clear bellies [salt pork] advanced the permissible maximum of $1 a hundred pounds.

Report Ocean Rates Advanced.

It was reported that ocean freight rates on wheat for shipment from New York to Rotterdam were advanced to the equivalent of 18 cents a bushel, compared with 7¼ cents in the early part of last week.

It was announced yesterday that the grain, oil, and fats markets at Rotterdam, the Netherlands, which were closed Monday, would not reopen until further notice.

THE PHILADELPHIA PLAN.

What is meant by the phrase "Philadelphia plan" in connection with railroad equipment trust certificates? —B. S.

Answer: "Philadelphia plan" is a phrase describing a method of issuing railroad equipment trust certificates. This method is almost universally used today. Under the plan the railroad leases the equipment from the trustee, which owns it. This means that holders of equipment trust certificates are actual owners of the property.

Rental payments of the railroad for the equipment are sufficient to cover interest on the certificates and also to reduce annually the total amount of certificates outstanding. When all payments have been made the road gets title to the equipment.

Equipment trust certificates, through operation of this plan, have unusual security. They normally sell at prices to return lower yields than any railroad bonds. Interest on such certificates is generally paid throughout any reorganization, even when interest on all other funded debt is in default.

LERNER STORES.

Answer: Lerner Stores, Inc., operates a chain of more than 150 stores selling popular priced woman's apparel.

Year—	Net income.	Earned.	Paid.
1935	1,787,918	8.08	$1.50
1936	1,935,567	4.56	2.50
1937	2,181,511	5.18	3.00
1938	2,003,617	4.65	2.00
1939	1,299,232	2.89	†1.50

*The 1933 earnings are for the twelve months ended Dec. 31. Earnings in 1935 are for the thirteen months ended Jan. 31. Earnings in each following year are for the twelve months ended Jan. 31. Dividends are for the calendar year given. There were no dividends in 1934. †Declared so far this year.

Net income for the six months ended July 31, 1939, was $579,459, or $1.27 a common share, against $487,292, or $1.04 a common share, in the same period last year.

There is no funded debt, although at Dec. 31, 1938, the company had outstanding $1,224,250 in mortgages and $48,224 in accounts that were not payable within one year. There were 32,000 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative $100 par preferred and 400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. Current assets were $5,692,936 and current liabilities $1,417,807.

Dividends on the preferred stock were reduced in 1932 and completely passed in 1933. All accumulations were made up in 1934 and payments have been declared regularly since that date. The preferred is considered of fair grade while the common is speculative.

COTTON

American cotton markets continued their advance yesterday and closed with gains of .43 to .57 cent a pound. The latter is equal to $2.85 a bale.

Reports that domestic consumers of cotton goods were in the market on a tremendous scale had considerable to do with creating sentiment favorable for higher prices for futures.

Sales of print cloths and gray goods in the New York market were estimated to have exceeded 100,000,000 yards. Prices were advanced ¼ to ⅜ cents a yard on some constructions. Aggregate sales on Tuesday and Wednesday were placed at 300,000,000 yards. In the last three business days, it is asserted, the sales of textiles have been equal to about eleven weeks production by mills at the current curtailed basis of production.

Liverpool cotton prices were nominally unchanged. A few sales were reported to have been made at the "pegged" prices, but there was a large and unsatisfied buying demand when the market closed.

Spot cotton closed .20 to .52 cents higher with New York, 10.00 cents; New Orleans, 10.00 cents; Galveston, 9.77 cents, and Houston at 9.50 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Other size loans for other periods of time can be had at the same low proportionate monthly payment under Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed.

This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of anual salary or income, and without established credit and employment ratings, Personal offers its "Regular" loan at 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less, and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100. Under this plan only $6.72 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 20 months.

Loans on either plan on your personal note or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are available on "Regular" plan.

Save the Difference
Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balance above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter or telephone will receive immediate attention.
